Bombings Not Resumed

Johnson Holds Hope Viet Nam War Won't Return to Ferocity

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson reportedly still retained a glimmer of hope today that the fighting in Viet Nam will not return to pre-Christmas ferocity.

The fact that the United States had not resumed bombings of North Viet Nam, even two days after the end of the cease-fire, was seen as evidence that Johnson still was seeking a peaceful settlement.

When the United States and South Viet Nam were considering last week a 30-hour Christmas cease-fire, so long as their troops were not fired upon, Johnson kept aloof from the eventual announcement and, publicly, the decision-making.

"That's a matter to be decided in Saigon," said the Texas White House.

No Comment

Johnson made no public comment on the cease-fire, even though he normally is quick to identify himself with good news.

In many quarters, his silence was interpreted as indicating reluctance to associate himself with a move that might go awry. And some observers were convinced after the cease-fire failed to hold, that this was his reasoning.

However, one source close to the President cast Johnson's aloofness in a different light by saying: "He is silent because he is listening."

In short, according to this source, Johnson said nothing because he was most interested in Hanoi's reaction. Reportedly, he did not want to cloud the atmosphere.

It was not happenstance either, it was said, that the State Department announced officially that American troops had been ordered not to fire except in self-defense, even after the and that the subsequent fighting was described as "unfortunate."

Sunday Service

The President and the First Lady attended Sunday service at the First Baptist church in Johnson City. He shook hands with everyone in sight — even one of his Secret Service bodyguards — and he signed autographs readily.

Afterwards, Johnson visited his boyhood home and, by coincidence, gave his Secret Service bodyguard a scare.

Secret Service agent Cliff Hill — remembered for climbing aboard the limousine of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas at the time of the assassination — jumped from a security car and advanced on the rifle-holder with arms outstretched.

The episode soon was forgotten when the train of coincidences were unraveled. After Johnson left the scene, the youth drove away for some hunting — just as he had intended.

GREEN BAY (AP) — A 21-year-old man drowned early today when he broke through the ice of the Fox River as he attempted to take a short cut across the stream just north of the Main Street bridge.

Police and firemen recovered the body of Kenneth Crooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crooks, but were unable to revive him.

Massive Search Fails to Turn Up Tangible Leads

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — The whereabouts of brown-haired, blue-eyed Susan Brady, 11, who disappeared Dec. 20, was a deeper mystery, if anything, today.

The only tangible clue, her gray scarf found by a mailman several blocks from home, turned out to have no bearing on her disappearance.

"I remember now that she lost that scarf two weeks ago," Mrs. Norma Brady, mother of the girl, told police.

Rabbit Hunting

"We don't know whether it's animal or human blood yet," Peterson said. He said that with rabbit season for hunters in progress, the find could mean nothing.

More than 1,000 searches, bloodhounds and airplane spotters failed during several days of search to find any traces of the youngster.

Susan's father, James Brady, 38, voiced the theory of most investigators: "I think she was taken for a ride in an automobile." He added, "I'm hoping that she will be released and returned to us unharmed."

Police of five states were asked to check on all possibilities that the girl and a kidnaper or kidnappers might have been seen.

Seek Information

Peterson urged residents of Rockford and other nearby communities to provide information concerning sudden or unexplained disappearance of neighbors on the chance there might be a connection with Susan's disappearance.

She was last seen in late afternoon after school when she left a girl classmate's home four blocks from her own, saying she had to get home for supper.

Christmas was a dreary waiting day for the Bradys. Susan's two older brothers, Michael, 16, and Timothy, 14, said they'd wait until Susan gets home to open Christmas presents. Their gifts and Susan's were put away. There are two other children, Thomas, 9, and Nancy, 5.

63 Viet Cong Killed by U. S. Marines as Truce For Christmas Is Ended

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — For the third straight day, the United States kept its planes out of North Viet Nam's skies today, but U.S. Marines killed 63 Viet Cong in ground skirmishes after a short, interrupted Christmas truce.

The Marines reported strikes against the Communists during patrols around the big U.S. air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans reported taking light casualties.

A squad of Leathernecks pounced on about 40 Viet Cong, killing 15 at a hamlet called Quang Ha No. 1.

Marines Attacked

Two hours later a Marine platoon near Quang Ha No. 2, about two miles southward, was attacked by 75 Viet Cong armed with automatic weapons.

The Americans called in artillery support, tanks and armed helicopters. When the brief encounter was over they counted the bodies of 41 Communists.

Marines, in other scattered actions against the Reds, reported killing seven Viet Cong during the day.

Air attacks were made only on suspected Viet Cong concentrations in South Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen said. Ground action also was reported in low key for the past 24 hours.

From Washington

Beyond confirming the suspension of the aerial war which steadily had been closing in on the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial belt, U.S. officials in Saigon said only that the orders came from Washington.

This raised speculation that the pause was a new invitation to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's regime to come to the peace table. U.S. officials declined to guess how long the lull would last.

In the south, U.S. casualty lists grew.

A U.S. Army truck carrying soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division hit a mine 30 miles north of Saigon. Casualties were reported heavy.

The Viet Cong detonated a mine at a government troop barracks at Sa Dec, 70 miles southwest of Saigon, just as two Vietnamese platoons were starting the work day.

"It killed or hurt a lot of soldiers," a U.S. Army officer said.

Advisers Escape

An adjacent compound for American advisers escaped the force of the explosion. A second mine was found and disarmed.

Twenty miles southwest of the barracks, a Communist mine blew up a Jeep, killing two American soldiers and an American civilian.

The Air Force raised its toll of losses to Communist missile fire over North Viet Nam to 10 planes. A spokesman said an F-4C Phantom jet downed during an assault on the Bac Cau bridge 85 miles north of Hanoi Dec. 19 had been hit by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile. The pilot was rescued.

Some military commanders were reported concerned by the pause in air attacks since they felt it gave the Communists a

N. Y. Times Man Expelled From Poland

WARSAW (AP) — Poland is expelling David Halberstam, Warsaw correspondent for the New York Times, because of what the government describes as hostility in his reporting.

Halberstam was summoned to the Foreign Ministry today and informed that the government had decided to end his accreditation as a foreign correspondent. He was given about a week to get his personal affairs in order.

The government-controlled Polish press has attacked a number of Halberstam's stories since he became Warsaw correspondent 11½ months ago. There were also press attacks directed personally against the correspondent following his engagement and marriage last spring to Elzbieta Czyzewska, a leading actress of stage and screen.

Halberstam, 31, could not say if his wife would leave Poland when he departs. She is a Polish citizen.

Arizona Flood Victims Await Federal Aid

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Residents in flood-ravaged Arizona continued to mop up today while keeping hopeful eyes on the state Capitol for possible word of federal help.

Gov. Sam Goddard made an aerial inspection of the flood area and declared most of it a disaster area. He meets with other officials today to have the state underwrite its share of any federal aid.

C. A. Pugh, assistant regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, made his own inspection of flood-damaged areas of central, eastern and southern Arizona.

Pugh said federal funds can be made available immediately if the affected regions are declared a disaster area by President Johnson. Tucson suffered an estimated $1.25 million in damage to its trunk sewer line as the raging Rillito River ripped away two miles of the line.

Christmas Traffic Toll Tops All-Time Holiday Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's three-day Christmas traffic toll broke all records for holiday fatalities on the highways.

The death toll reached 707 today as late reports were verified. The previous record traffic toll was 706 for a four-day Christmas weekend in 1956.

Before the holiday, the National Safety Council had estimated deaths would run between 560 and 660.

The toll included records in a number of individual states. In Ohio, the state safety director Warren C. Nelson, said the 49 deaths made the highest toll for any weekend in 1965 and perhaps the highest since records have been kept. Louisiana's superintendent of public safety, Thomas Burbanks, said that state's 32 was the worst toll since state police began keeping records 25 years ago.

State Toll

Eleven deaths during the Christmas holiday have raised Wisconsin's year-long traffic toll past 1,000 for the second time.

The holiday period death count exceeded the eight reported for the same span last year. The highest toll for the Christmas period in recent years was 17 in 1960 and 1961. The accidents showed the 1965 count to 1,007, compared with 1,053 on this date a year ago. The final toll for 1964 was 1,059 — the first time Wisconsin's highway fatality count had risen above 1,000.

Merlin Schulz, 30, of Watertown was injured fatally Sunday night when he was struck by a car as he was changing a rear tire on his car along Highway 33 about one mile west of Horicon.

The driver of the other car told Dodge County traffic officers that two automobiles were coming toward him and he did not see Schulz until it was too late.

Died in Hospital

In Schulz' car were his wife, three children and another couple. He died two hours later in a Beaver Dam hospital.

Norman F. Klongland, 21, Madison, was injured fatally Sunday when his car struck two cement pillars supporting the Highway 30 overpass on Highway 51 in Madison.

Bradley L. Koch Jr., 21, Milwaukee, died in a Wausau hospital Sunday after his car struck a utility pole along old Highway 51 eight miles south of Wausau.

Mark Shimek, 20, Wauwatosa, was killed Christmas afternoon when his car hit the side of a Chicago & North Western passenger train at a crossing north of Angelica in Shawano County.

The conductor leaped from the train to rescue Shimek's wife.

Vatican Working For Another Truce

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican diplomats were reported today working to encourage a possible New Year's truce for Viet Nam as a new step in the personal peace campaign of Pope Paul VI.

Vatican informants said that while the Pope was disappointed that the Christmas truce had been short-lived, he was encouraged that at least some results had been achieved in answer to his cease-fire plea.

It was said that both the Pope and his corps of diplomatic advisers felt that the resumption of fighting did not in itself rule out further progress toward the start of negotiations.

Vatican diplomats were said to have been instructed to set up secret contacts with both sides in the Viet Nam war.

First Objective

The first objective reportedly was another cease-fire — possibly for New Year's Eve and Day — that might be more effective than the Christmas truce.

The Pope was reported concerned about the renewal of fighting in Viet Nam.

"He has done everything he could," a papal aide said, "and he will continue to do everything possible to promote peace in Viet Nam."

Other aides said that Vatican diplomatic activity to foster peace in Viet Nam would continue at all levels.

His first appeal came on Dec. 19, 11 days after the Viet Cong offered a 12-hour truce to begin on Christmas Eve. The Pope again pleaded for a Christmas cease-fire last Monday, Dec. 20.

Two days later the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands ordered a 30-hour Christmas truce. The U.S. announcement at the time said the order was "in keeping with the spirit of Christmas" and consistent with a similar South Vietnamese order. The South Vietnamese

Follows First Big Snowstorm

Temperatures Drop as Season's First Cold Wave Moves Into State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The coldest weather of the season was moving into Wisconsin today.

Temperatures plummeted to 7 below zero at Superior during the night as a cold front entered the state in the wake of a Christmas snowstorm.

The entire state is expected to feel the effects of the Arctic blasts tonight.

Some other temperatures Sunday night included Eau Claire, zero; Park Falls 2 above, Wausau 3, La Crosse 8, Lone Rock 9, Madison 10, Beloit-Rockford 11, Green Bay 14, Milwaukee and Racine 21.

La Crosse recorded the state high of 34 degrees Sunday, one of the few readings above the freezing mark. Racine had 32, Eau Claire and Milwaukee 30, Lone Rock and Green Bay 29, Burlington and Wausau 28, Park Falls 27, Superior 26 and Madison and Beloit-Rockford 25.

Light Snow

Some light snow developed ahead of the cold front that moved southeastward across the state. Superior reported about one inch of new snow, Green Bay about one-half inch and lesser amounts fell at Park Falls and Eau Claire and other points.

Arctic winds swept into Wisconsin over Christmas weekend, bringing falling temperatures to day with readings plunging toward zero or below throughout the state tonight.

The first major cold wave of the winter invaded the state on the heels of the season's first major snowstorm, a deadly assault that coated highways and burdened power lines with ice. Electrical utility officials reported Sunday night that power had been restored to all but a few of the 40,000 homes blacked out by the storm in the Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Waukegan and West Bend areas.

At least four deaths were attributed to the storm, which struck Southern Wisconsin on Christmas Eve.

Utility Linemen

Hundreds of utility linemen and highway and street workers spent the night and much of Christmas Day clearing roads and patching power failures.

The Weather Bureau in Milwaukee estimated the storm dumped 10½ inches of snow on the state's largest city. Snow depths ranged around six inches elsewhere in southern sections of the state.

The power blackouts pocked the snow-buffed area, with 80 per cent of the homes darkened in one Milwaukee suburb. In another suburb, Franklin, electricity was not restored to one

Cuban Ship's Officers Get U. S. Asylum

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. government granted political asylum today to the captain and three officers of the Cuban freighter Aracelio Iglesias. They were expected to leave shortly for the United States.

The Cubans walked into the U.S. consulate-general this morning and asked for asylum. A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Tokyo said they had been issued visas and were turned over to Japanese police.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the Cubans could leave Japan as soon as it was determined that they were going voluntarily. It was believed that this procedure had been completed during the day. Japanese police told the Kyodo News Service the men were frightened because their ship had been ordered to carry weapons from Shanghai, in Communist China, to North Viet Nam.

Frozen Shoulder Can Regain Ability to Move

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a frozen shoulder and would like to know what to do for it. Nothing so far has done any good, and I have had it for a long time. — Mrs. M.C.

A "frozen" shoulder is one that is too stiff or too painful to move, but I'm afraid that too many people have the idea that nothing can be done about such a shoulder (or other joint). The longer such a joint remains "frozen," the more difficult it will be to get it moving again. Still, it often can be restored to some activity if you are willing to do the right things, or have the right things done to it, and will endure some pain.

What causes a "frozen" joint? Sometimes injury — such as a dislocation or fracture; sometimes bursitis; sometimes arthritis; sometimes the aftermath of having to keep the joint in one position, without moving, for a certain length of time, as with a broken collar bone. Or removal of a breast leaves the shoulder area very tender for some time. Such patients are warned to move the arm and shoulder, even though it hurts, to avoid a "frozen" shoulder.

The trouble actually is not so much in the joint itself as in tissues surrounding the joint. Adhesions (clinging together of tissues) from lack of movement can occur. There may be irritation from certain tendons riding over the joint.

People who are highly sensitive to pain, or who don't follow instructions after certain operations or ailments (including acute arthritis) are the most likely candidates for a "frozen" joint.

How to correct it? Physical manipulation of the joint, under anesthesia, to loosen the "frozen" tissues is one way. Application of heat, plus the patient's own efforts to move the joint gradually, is another. Sometimes surgery is required to release adhesions and free trapped tendons.

Whatever the original cause, and whatever the treatment, the patient almost always must make up his mind that it is going to be painful, especially in the beginning. The discomfort will lessen as the "frozen" joint recovers the ability to move normally. If you look for an "easy" or painless cure, there isn't much reason to expect good results. But if you make up your mind to stand some pain, the joint becomes less painful as its ability to move increases.

In cities with qualified bone specialists (orthopedists) or orthopedic clinics, highly skilled treatment can be obtained, but it still means that the patient has to do his part, and some pain is the price of getting that "frozen" joint "unfrozen."

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 54 and a recent examination showed I had large intestinal rings. One doctor advises surgery. Another says he doesn't recommend it as long as I don't do any heavy lifting. How serious is a double hernia operation? — W.P.H.

Your ears played a trick on you — it's "inguinal," not "intestinal." An "inguinal ring" is a weak spot or potential place in the groin through which a rupture or hernia can occur. These rings can be dilated without there being an actual hernia.

The advice to avoid heavy lifting is sound — perhaps we might better say avoid any excessive abdominal strain. Or ordinarily surgery is not done for dilated rings. The decision depends on the patient's work and other factors such as your general health.

Note to Mrs. B. B.: The staphylococcus germ is usually the one which causes boils. Yes, the germ can pass from one person to another, or from one part of the body to another. A boil should be treated for what it is: A local infection. Boils should be kept bandaged to prevent the germs from spreading.

"When you take a trip involving numerous overnight stops there's a way of organizing your suitcases that will save you hours of packing, unpacking, and searching for buried items," reports an oil company's women's representative. It's done with dividers, sized to fit your bags. Make them out of lightweight cardboard, flexible plastic, or extra-heavy peltol, adding end tabs that read "swim togs," "sleepwear," "lingerie," etc. These dividers let you pack your suitcases in layers, with everything in a certain category going into the same layer. Lazy Girl Needs Challenge, More Respect for Authority

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: My oldest daughter is a high school senior. She makes very good grades. I but that's because she's very smart. It definitely is not because she ever studies hard.

She was given a term paper assignment to do over the enough to think everything she does is marvelous.

"Isn't there something I can do to change this attitude she has? I hate to see her be so lazy. I know there will come a time sooner or later when she'll have to measure up to higher standards, and I want her to be able to meet the challenge. Anyhow, I don't like to see her having this attitude of contempt. MRS. G. H.

Dr. Jones

Christmas vacation, but she says it will ruin her plans to relax and just have fun over the holiday, so she isn't setting aside any time to work on it until the last day of the vacation. She says she can write something up in a hurry and still get a good grade because the teachers are always dumb

It's high time you start teaching her some respect for authority. Start right now. Tell her to write her paper tomorrow and tell her you'll judge it. If it doesn't measure up to your own expectations, insist she put in additional work on it.

Obviously, this is likely to provoke a clash, but unless you resolve to meet her head on, if necessary, and to hold your own until you win, you can't hope to set an example of authority she can have much respect for.

As soon as the vacation is over, make an appointment to discuss this problem with her advisor and classroom teachers. They can easily set higher standards for judging her performance than they use for less gifted students.

Don't go overboard on blaming your daughter for having her present attitude. Without adequate challenge and instruction, it has probably been responsible for her instruction, it has probably been hard for her to spur herself on to do her best.

Dear Dr. Jones: Tell me how to give my children money to buy Christmas presents with. I don't want a lot of high-minded talk about the spirit of Christmas or about how homemade presents are the best to give. I just want some practical advice about how to give them extra money so they can buy a "real" present for their father and for me—but I don't want to ruin the whole idea of allowances.

They get a dime and a quarter a week—they're 6 and 9 years old. So you see why they haven't been able to save anything in order to get us something at the 5 and 10 cent store. Mrs. F.S.

Tell them you have a lot of extra work to do to get ready for Christmas and you'll be willing to hire them to help you. Pay them to shine apples, test tree lights, put stamps on Christmas cards, or do other odd jobs that are connected with holiday preparations. Ask your husband to put on the same act, too. Between the two of you, you can easily unload a dollar on each child, and that's plenty for them to spend on you—don't you think?

Peerless-Uneeda Launderers & Dry Cleaners have a new manager in charge of their drycleaning department. He is a graduate of the National Institute of Drycleaning at Silver Spring, Maryland; and the Cleaning Institute of Chicago; has had fifteen years of experience in the spotting and drycleaning departments of metropolitan plants in Chicago and Miami; is a college graduate in business administration. This manager is an authority in drycleaning problems and fabrics—bring them to Peerless-Uneeda Launderers & Drycleaners!

Their plant located at 200 West Wisconsin Avenue is fully equipped to process professionally all drycleaning and alterations, and their plant at 307 East College Avenue processes all laundry with that "home touch" to detail. Two other outlets are conveniently located to serve your needs—one at Valley Fair and 518 W. College Ave.

Alterations is one of their specialties. Hand pressing in the "de luxe" manner of the professional is offered. Minor repairs are given each garment free of charge. Their finishes and sizings give your garments that bright, new hand and drape. Their sales personnel are trained, courteous and efficient—their production workers the best in the garment finishing trades.

Select Peerless-Uneeda Launderers and Drycleaners for your wardrobe that only the professional and qualified should be given. Consult their new manager with your problems the others can't process—Peerless-Uneeda Launderers and Drycleaners are the best!

Party Foods

Lillian Mackesy

For many hostesses, the New Year's Eve buffet or New Year's Day dinner is more important than the Christmas feast. That first day of Christmas has distractions . . . gift-giving, visiting, and a general hubbub which tends to minimize the holiday dinner even when it's the traditional "groaning board" from appetizers to flaming plum pudding or two kinds of pie.

The New Year holiday seems more concentrated on food. There are those who feature a buffet or hearty meal as the new year rolls in. Others prefer to have the big dinner with the family gathered round on New Year's Day itself. Then, there are those families who keep to that most pleasant tradition of an "at home" on the first day of the year with an elegant array of food and drink being served throughout the day or between set hours for callers.

The one thing nice about all of today's recipes is that each one is versatile. Each fits into the huge family or company dinner menu or adapt equally as well to the buffet and "open house" theme.

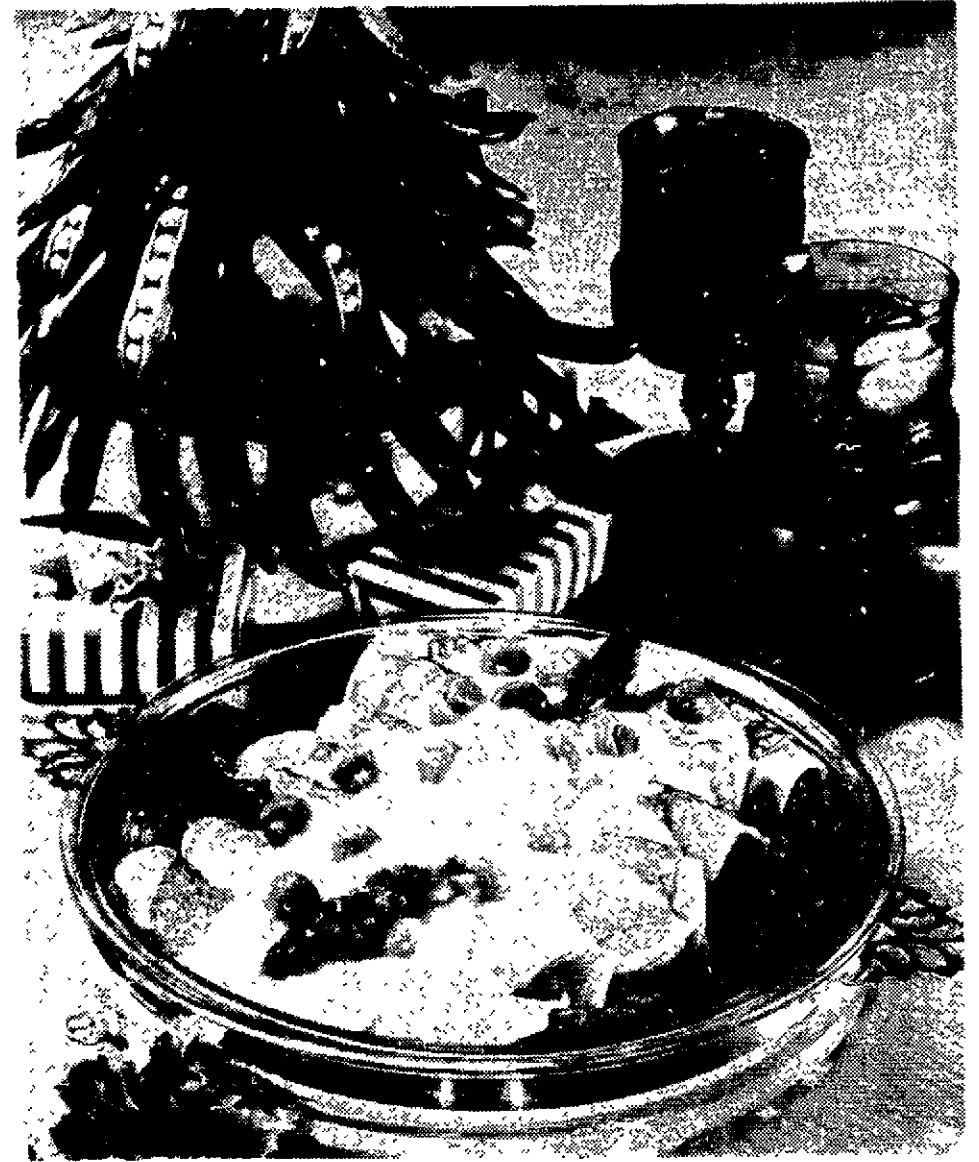

They all have another thing in common . . . they all proclaim "Happy New Year!"

BAKED HAM WITH SPICY GLAZE

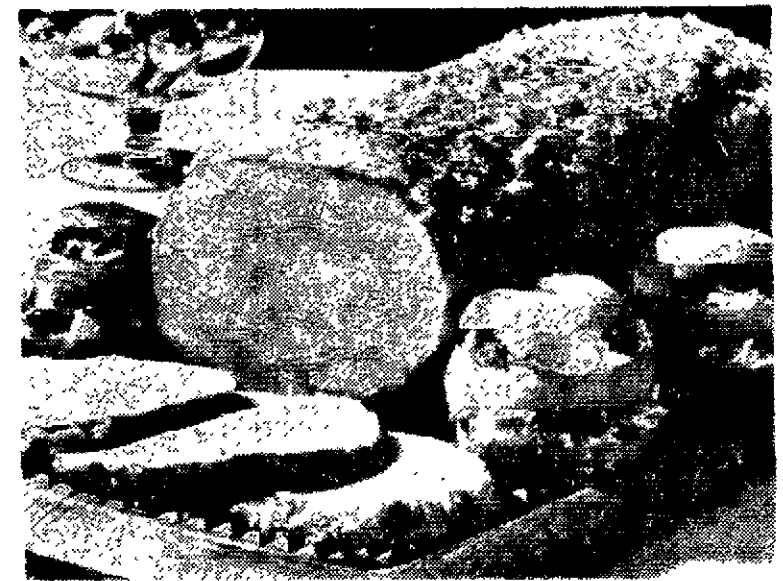

1 whole ham, fully cooked
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1 jar (10 oz.) jelly, apple, currant or plum
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons vinegar
Orange slices
Whole cloves

Above, in the French Fashion, the new year is ushered in with holiday gifts and those wonderfully thin pancakes called crepes. Below, a boneless rolled ham makes a splendid festive meal, especially when it's served with Minted Apples which doubles as a garnish and a salad.

If ham is the New Year's Day tradition, bake it with a spicy glaze and garnish it with orange slices to create the makings of a merry feast. Serve with lighted candles set in mashed sweet potato cups for a dramatic effect.

At the right is an eggnog dessert called Holiday Nesselrode Chiffon. It borrows the ingredients from the traditional Christmas eggnog and combines them with glazed fruits or fruit cocktail to make both a beautiful and delectable dessert.

Pair Repeats Vows

First English Lutheran Church was the setting at 7:30 p.m. Sunday for the wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Anne Parlin and Edward B. Paulson. The Rev. Leonard Zierner officiated at the double ring rite.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Pino, 2504 N. Union St., are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lamont O. Paulson, Madison, and the late Mr. Paulson.

Miss Kathryn Schroeder, West Union, Iowa, acted as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Pino and Miss Bardean Van Handle. Miss Rene Ziesemer was flower girl.

Attending as best man was Peter A. Zoeller, Madison. Albert Goldammer and James Reents were groomsmen. Ushering duties were fulfilled by Elwyn Parlin, Jay Pino, Sylvan Johnson and David Pino. Dennis Maves was ring bearer.

A reception took place at the church.

The newlyweds will reside at 319 Second St., Waverly, Iowa. Mrs. Paulson was graduated from Wartburg College, Waverly, and teaches in the Plainfield, Iowa, Community Schools. Her husband is a senior at Wartburg College and will attend the Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa.

Driving Precaution

"If you're a woman driving alone, your appearance is one of the most important safety precautions you can take," says an oil firm's women's representative. "Drive or travel in a conservatively-styled car, one that won't draw undue attention to yourself and the fact that you're alone. And dress accordingly," she adds. "This means a tailored dress or suit, sensible walking shoes, and no floppy hats or flashy jewelry."

Headlight Troubles

What can you do if you're driving on the highway at night and your headlights suddenly fail? "Flicking on your left-turn signal will give you enough emergency light to see the centerline and keep the car on the road until you can slow up," says an oil company's women's representative. "Then, switching to the right signal will illuminate the edge of the pavement so you can see clearly enough to pull off, park, and summon help."

Newlyweds Honeymoon In Canada

NEENAH — C. William Howorth, 917 Gay Drive, claimed Miss Janet Fox 1600 S. Connell St., Appleton, as his bride at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church Chapel. The Rev. John Bouquet officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Fox, Dodgeville, are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Howorth, Edina, Minn.

Mrs. Douglas Marnocha, a sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Miss Susan Howorth was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's father acted as best man. Douglas Marnocha ushered. Serving as ring bearer was Jeff Marnocha.

After a skiing trip to Canada, the newlyweds will reside at 917 Gay Drive.

Mrs. Howorth was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and teaches fourth grade at Coolidge School. Her husband, a University of Iowa, graduate, is with American Can Co. His fraternity is Sigma Nu.

Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite

Oshkosh — Wedding promises were exchanged by Miss Beverly L. Meyer and Richard Hegner Jr. at a 4 p.m. ceremony Dec. 19 at Immanuel Trinity Lutheran Church, Fond du Lac. The Rev. Paul Piotter officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Bloechl, 2066 Point Comfort, and the late Ervin Meyer. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hegner Sr., 2084 Point Comfort.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Raymond Triatik. Miss Karen Meyer, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, with Misses Stacey and Martha Hegner as bridesmaids. Lori Jacobs acted as flower girl.

Best man's duties were performed by David Rodat. Assisting as groomsmen were Robert Casper and Gary Triatik. Ronald Triatik was ring bearer.

Guests were ushered by Harold Jacobs and Vaughn Krumbein.

The couple will reside at 214 14th St., Fond du Lac, when they return from a honeymoon in Florida.

The bride, a teacher at Bragg School, Fond du Lac, is a graduate of Wisconsin State University, where she was affiliated with Phoenix sorority. Her husband, who served four years in the Navy, is employed in the Iowa City, graduate, is with Davis Division of Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co., Fond du Lac.

Promises Given in Ceremony

KAUKAUNA — Miss Shirley Merbach and James E. Treadway repeated wedding vows at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. Paul Eggert performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. David Prosser, Le Sueur, Minn., was her sister's matron of honor. Attending as bridesmaid was Mrs. Wilbur Ertl.

The bridegroom's brother, Richard Treadway, Berwyn, Ill., was best man. LeRoy Nelson served as groomsmen and Dennis Kral and Kenneth Toebe were ushers. Parents of the bride are Mr.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Model Life

A teen lovely asks: What do you have to do to become a teen model? Some people say you need special talent for modeling — like acting. Others think a the improvement of her posture and walk, as she must present a willowy picture to a camera or an audience. She also strives to develop individuality by learning the fashions, make-up and hair styles best suited to her. In that way she comes unique. Carbon copies are not in demand.

Her grooming, of course, is perfection. Otherwise she would never be able to give the radiant, poised performance expected of her. Plainly, modeling class for self-discipline and intelligence. Drawing on those traits makes any girl a model of loveliness, whether or not she wants to model.

Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural make-up for young adults — ages 13 to 19 — are detailed in my booklet, Model Tips for Teens. Advice covers corrective skin care; how to use make-up to accent good points and play down problems; fashion model make-up tricks. Calculate Odds, Play With Them

Other qualities wanted in a model can be acquired. To make them yours, however, you have to train like an athlete. This is the program followed by every successful model:

You must sometimes count up all the possibilities and make the play that will work in most cases. If you're practicing to win the Las Vegas Prize Tournament late in January, take a lesson from the way Ron von der Porten followed the odds as a member of the winning team in 1965.

Your Problems

Campaigner Wants Support For Pierced Noses From Ann

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It was wonderful to read in your column that pierced ears are "in" and that you heartily approve of pierced ears for girls 16 or over, provided, of course, that the procedure is performed by a physician and not "a friend with an ice-pick." The final announcement came with your own brave announcement that your ears are pierced.

I have traveled extensively, Miss Landers, and I have noticed that in some areas of Africa the women have their noses pierced. They wear a small bone through the hole. This is considered "in" provided the bone is not too large or pretentious.

For a long time I have wanted to popularize pierced noses in the United States but I have been unable to get anyone to help me. If you would lead the way — perhaps run a photograph of yourself with the bone — the young girls could say, "See mother, it's all right, Ann Landers wears one herself."

My failure to get this trend started has me so depressed that I am considering psychiatric help. What can you suggest? — Mau Mau Manny

DEAR MANNY: Why don't you put a rubber band around your head and snap out of it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are a working couple. The apartment next door was rented last September to a newly married couple. We couldn't care less about other people's business, but these two have terrible fights at least twice a week. They yell, they curse and they throw things at each other. It becomes really intolerable when he hits her and she screams for mercy. This has happened four times — three times after midnight and once when we had guests for dinner. Please tell us what to do. Talking to the people is out of the question. My husband even refuses to say "Good morning" to them. Can the landlord make these people move? Thanks for your counsel. — Thin Walls and Shattered Nerves

DEAR THIN AND SHATTERED: As tenants you are entitled to peace and quiet. Speak to the landlord at once. He may ask you to call him the next time the couple has a fight. Follow his instructions no matter what the hour and you'll probably soon be rid of this pair.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married a man whose wife died three years earlier. Their little boy Jim was just learning to walk. The two older children were six and seven.

I was thrilled to become a wife and mother all at once. I adored those children and took them to my heart as my very own. They called me Mom and I loved the sound of the word.

The two older children are married now and we have a fine relationship. It is Jim I am writing about. Last week he brought a young woman home with him from college. When he introduced me, he said, "Mary, I want you to meet my stepmother." Ann, I was so hurt I almost broke down and cried.

perature of meat reaches 130 degrees.

To make glaze: combine sugar, mustard, spices, jelly, syrup and vinegar. Mix well in saucepan; bring to boil and simmer gently one to two minutes. Brush ham with glaze three or four times during last 30 minutes of baking.

Garnish ham with orange slices, holding them in place with wooden picks. Decorate orange slices with whole cloves.

The rule-of-thumb baking schedule for a fully cooked bone-in-ham is as follows: two and one-fourth hours for 6 to 8-pound ham; two and one-half to three hours for 10 to 12 pounder; three and one-half to four hours for 15 to 18-pound ham.

HOLIDAY CREPES

1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1/4 cup all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
8 slices boiled ham
1 can (19-ounce) asparagus spears, drained
Mushroom Sauce

In small mixing bowl combine milk, egg and cooking oil. Add flour, baking powder and salt; blend well. Heat eight-inch skillet; brush lightly with shortening. Pour batter, two tablespoons at a time, into skillet. Tilt skillet to make six-inch pancake. Brown one minute; turn and brown on other side. Place ham slice and two or three asparagus spears on each crepe; roll up. Place in baking dish or pie pan. Top with mushroom sauce. Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 cup boiling water
1 jar (4 1/2-oz.) whole mushrooms, drained
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons all purpose flour
1/2 cup cream
1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

1 tablespoon chopped chives
Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Saute mushrooms in butter; blend in flour; gradually add bouillon. Then add cream, cheese and chives. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

HOLIDAY

NESSERODE CHIFFON
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar, divided
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons brandy
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup diced mixed candied fruits
Mix together gelatin, 1/4 cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and milk; stir into gelatin mixture. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring occasionally, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly.

Remove from heat; stir in brandy flavoring. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until stiff; fold in remaining sugar. Fold into dessert mixture.

Fold in heavy cream, nuts and mixed candied fruits. Turn into serving bowl; chill until firm.

Garnish with a "wreath" of additional nuts, mixed candied fruit and shaved chocolate. Recipe makes six to eight servings but can be doubled safely, if necessary.

MINTED SALAD APPLES

6 small red apples
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon green food coloring
1/2 teaspoon wintergreen extract
3 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped dates
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Pare and core apples. Combine water, sugar, food coloring and extract in large saucepan. Bring to boil; add apples. Simmer gently until apples are tinted and tender, but not too soft. Boiling may be hard on apples, so keep mixture at a gentle simmer. Drain apples and chill.

For filling: blend cream cheese, milk and lemon juice, then add crushed pineapple, dates and nuts.

Slice apples horizontally at serving time. Spoon filling between apple slices on serving plates. Apples may be frozen for easier handling. Use apples as garnish for ham platter.

Luci Promises to Finish Education

CHICAGO (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson's Christmas present to her father was a promise that she would try to finish her education after her marriage to Airman Pat Nugent, 22, of Waukegan, Ill. next summer, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The Tribune quoted the President's daughter as saying: "Right now I have every intention of getting as much education as possible. You never know what is going to happen, and I feel every woman should be prepared. Besides, I like to study and I love my school."

Luci, who is 18, showed her engagement ring Sunday as she and her fiancé left St. Bartholomew's Roman Catholic church in Waukegan after attending noon Mass.

Nursing Student
President Johnson often has expressed a desire that both of his daughters complete a college education. Luci, his younger daughter, will finish her freshman year in Georgetown University's School of Nursing before she is married.

After the church services, Luci, Nugent, and their entourage of Secret Service men left Waukegan for O'Hare International Airport to return to Texas.

Nugent is undergoing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio. The engagement announcement on Christmas Eve followed rumors that the couple wanted to become engaged, but were having trouble obtaining approval from her parents.

"But I don't know where all those rumors came from," Luci told the Tribune. "I didn't ever have to change daddy's mind."

Wyoming Friend

Her sister, Lynda Bird, flies to Wyoming today where she'll be a guest at the home of a young man she met last summer on a trailer tour of the West.

The President's older daughter, who has been spending the Christmas holidays at the family ranch in Texas, plans a few days of skiing in Wyoming. She is to stay at the home of Mrs. Arnold Eastman in Evanston, Wyo.

Mrs. Eastman is the mother of Brent Eastman, 25, a University of California medical student. He was working in Grand Teton National Park when Lynda stopped there on her tour.

Good Any Time of Year but especially appealing during the holiday season are these fancy hors d'oeuvres. They can be made ahead of time and refrigerated to pop into the oven at the last minute. A specialty cheese, American blue, is the flavor fillip of several of these tasty appetizers. Its delightful salt and pepper flavor adds to the Lobster Dainty Mornay, Sailboats and Mushrooms All Puffed-Up. Don't forget that American blue cheese is nice to have on hand to serve to Christmas callers. It keeps up to three months in the refrigerator if over-wrapped in airtight paper or foil.

Tangy Blue Cheese Accents These Appetizers, Excellent for Holidays

For a holiday party, or to welcome in the New Year, here is a selection of hot and cold appetizers to grace any buffet table beautifully.

Many of these tidbits can be made ahead of time and refrigerated, to be served as is, or to be heated at the last minute. A specialty ingredient that flavors some of the appetizers is tangy American blue cheese. This specialty cheese lends its salt and pepper flavor to the Christmas Lilies, Sailboats, Lobster Dainty Mornay and Mushrooms All Puffed-Up.

A wedge of American blue cheese will keep in the refrigerator up to three months if overwrapped in air-tight paper. It's so handy to serve with fruit and crackers to your holiday visitors.

SAILBOATS

3 ounces cream cheese
½ cup crumbled American blue cheese blue food coloring
16 midget sweet pickles
16 small triangles American cheese
16 bread rounds

Cream blue cheese and cream cheese together until completely smooth. Color half the mixture with blue food coloring. Make slit in top of pickle and insert triangle of American cheese.

Place "boats" on bread rounds. Pipe around bottom of sail with white cheese mixture. Pipe around bottom of pickle with blue cheese mixture to simulate water and to secure pickle.

Christmas Lilies

Spread square slices of thin-sliced bread with a mixture of equal portions of cream cheese and blue cheese. Tint the mixture either red, green, or yellow. Join two points of bread to form lily. Insert thin slice of American cheese into lily to simulate the stamen.

MUSHROOMS ALL PUFFED-UP

4 tablespoons butter

1 pound fresh stuffing mushrooms

¼ cup onion, chopped
salt, pepper, pinch of sugar
1 cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 8 ounces)
2 eggs, beaten
Bread rounds

Clean mushrooms and sauté caps in butter about two minutes. Cool. Chop stems and sauté with onion in butter. Add seasonings and mix well. Spread chopped mixture on bread rounds.

Mix egg with American blue cheese. Form into balls to fit inside mushroom caps. Fill caps with your favorite egg mixture.

BY MYRON MYERS

LONDON (AP) — In the hectic days leading to the outbreak of World War II, 3-year-old Valeriadorea Piercioni was swept up from her sunny Italian homeland and deposited in an unfriendly foster home in England.

For the next 26 years, Valeriadorea — now London secretary Mrs. Valerie Strupinski — searched for her past.

Her long quest Nov. 19 when Antonio Piercioni, a prosperous building contractor from Rimini, Italy, identified her from a birthmark on her left foot as his sister.

"I had the feeling that he might be the right one," Mrs. Strupinski said. "But I had been disappointed so many times, I was afraid to hope."

Meet in London

"Tony flew into London the other day, and I met him. We didn't talk about ourselves right away, just sort of chattered about the weather and things."

"He told me he had lost a sister many years ago. 'It was mainly the birthmark that made us sure. And Valeriadorea, my Christian name, is unusual even in Italy.'"

Her parents, she learned, had been so poor they sent their daughter from Rimini to a foster home in Britain where she would have a better chance with cheese balls. Place filled mushrooms on toast rounds and broil three to four inches from heat for about 10 minutes or until cheese is lightly browned and puffy.

LOBSTER DAINY MORNAY
Boil small lobster tails until done. Remove meat and chop in large pieces. Fold meat into thick white sauce. Stir in ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese for each cup of white sauce. Fill lobster shells with lobster mornay filling. Dot mixture with crumbles of American blue cheese. Broil just until cheese begins to melt. You should have twice as much meat as you have sauce.

DEVILED EGG BASKETS
Cut hard cooked eggs crosswise instead of lengthwise. Stuff inside mushroom caps. Fill caps with your favorite egg mixture.

Wiring Blamed in Fire at Kaukauna

Christmas Tree, Children's Toys, Furniture Destroyed in Home

KAUKAUNA — Extensive damage was caused to a home occupied by Joseph Arnoldus, 317 Depot St., about 8:50 a.m. today from a fire believed to have resulted from faulty wiring in Christmas tree lights.

The fire, which flashed through the Christmas tree, burned a sofa, chair, ottoman, carpeting and children's toys under the tree.

Curtains and shades were burned, front room walls charred, paint blistered and other walls in the home streaked with soot.

Plug in Lights
Firemen reported extensive smoke damage. The fire started as one of the children attempted to plug in the tree lights.

The mother and youngsters ran to a neighbor and called the fire department.

Firemen had the blaze under control within a few minutes after arriving and carried burning furniture outside.

At 9:25 a.m. today firemen were called to stand by while excess oil burned from a flooded heater at Peter's Tavern, 704 Dodge St.

A short circuit in an electric stove burned the wiring of the stove at 12:45 p.m. Sunday at the Otto Frederickson residence, 821 1/2 Lawe St.

W.D. Kaulum Dies at 67 at Rhinelander

Appleton Man Was Co-Owner of Area Campbell Stores

Wesley D. Kaulum, 67, 629 N. Leminwah St., a co-owner of the Campbell Store since 1944, died Sunday in Rhinelander after a three-month illness.

Kaulum, born in Anderson, Iowa, came to Appleton in 1939 and was affiliated with Montgomery Ward & Co. until 1944, when he became associated with Campbell Stores.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church; Riverview Country Club; Butte des Morts Golf Club; the Kiwanis Club; United Commercial Travelers; Tripoli Temple, Milwaukee; Waverly Lodge No. 51, Free and Accepted Masons, Appleton; Shrine Club; Appleton Commandry No. 29 Knights Templar; Elks Club, and the Chamber of Commerce. Kaulum served in World War I.

He is survived by a son, one brother, and two sisters.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Wichmann Funeral Home. Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Vandals Damage Six Autos

Appleton police are continuing their investigation into five incidents of seat cushion slappings that occurred late Saturday or early Sunday in a one-block area on the northeast side.

A sixth car owner reported that the side of his vehicle was scraped with a sharp instrument.

William Campbell, 1720 E. Marquette St., told police early Sunday that two cars at his home were damaged.

In each, several slashes were made on front and back seats with what police said appeared to be a knife.

Others reporting damage included Thomas Randles, 1814 E. Marquette St., Ronald McInay, 1819 E. Marquette St., Gerald Rink, 1831 E. Frances St., and Clarence Liebscher, 1830 E. Frances St.

Charles Boedecker, Milwaukee, said paint was scraped on his car while it was parked near the Liebscher home.

Authorities Check Reports Of Fox Cities Crime Target

Law Enforcement Agencies Keep Watchful Eye on Activities

State and local authorities are checking persistent reports the Fox Cities region is a potential target for organized gambling and prostitution.

The Post-Crescent has learned in recent weeks that law enforcement agencies have been in contact with each other and obtaining information on so-called "undesirable characters" from Milwaukee and Chicago.

They reportedly have been in and out of the Appleton area over a period of months.

The arrival of female entertainers from some of the larger cities, and reportedly from Hurley where federal agents recently moved in on organized vice, have state and local police officials asking questions.

Attorney General's Office
It is known the Appleton Police Department and Wisconsin Attorney General's office have made contact, and although authorities would not confirm or deny reports, this area is under surveillance.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said today his department has no knowledge of organized gambling or prostitution operating in Appleton or the other Fox Cities.

However, Wolff did indicate some checks were being made on a few individuals but would not elaborate.

Authorities have indicated they are also inquisitive as to the sudden heavy influx of female entertainers in the Fox Cities from other parts of the country.

However, they have said there has been no evidence of wrongdoing to date.

Gambling Arrests
About two years ago, state and federal authorities moved into the Fox Valley and made arrests at Oshkosh and Appleton of men who were engaged in operating football cards and taking bets at a profit.

Gambling is prohibited in Wisconsin under the Thomson Anti-Gambling Law. And under federal law anyone who does gamble must obtain a permit.

Federal and state authorities also previously focused attention on Fond du Lac when the late John V. DiBella, Italian cheese company president was living at a hotel there.

DiBella was known to associate with crime syndicate characters, including Joseph (Joe Banannas) Bonanno, reported Mafia chieftan from New York.

Lack of Envelopes Halts Mailing of Tax Bills to Grand Chute Residents

Tax bills for property owners in the Town of Grand Chute have been prepared but lack the necessary envelopes to put them in the mail, Peter L. Berg, town treasurer, said today.

Berg usually gets the bills in the mail early in the last week of the year so persons wishing to pay taxes before the end of the year for income tax credit may do so. The envelopes for the 3,500 tax bills have not arrived at the county treasurer's office.

Berg usually gets the bills in the mail by the end of the week. Persons desiring to pay taxes now may contact him at his residence, 3221 N. Ballard Road.

Power Company Linemen Called to Aid Milwaukee

Forty-two Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. employees did not spend Christmas with their families.

Roused out of bed at 3 a.m. Christmas Day, 41 linemen and one supervisor were called to assist in the City of Milwaukee, where hundreds of homes were blacked out by a power failure Friday night due to a storm.

The storm, which hit the Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Waukesha and West Bend areas, blacked out a total of 40,000 homes. A total of 10 1/2 inches of snow was dumped on Milwaukee.

John McLean, an assistant vice president of the firm, said a wet snow and strong wind made work difficult for the crews, as the utility poles and lines were covered with ice. He said the crews "found it hard to climb the poles."

The crews began returning to Appleton at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, with the remaining trucks arriving at 7:30 p.m.

McLean said no problems were encountered in the Appleton area, as the weather was mild compared to the Milwaukee area.

Plan Group to Study Federal Unit's Ruling

Short in Electric Blanket May Have Caused Blaze

DE PERE (AP)—A one-year-old boy died early today in a bedroom fire which authorities said might have been started by a short in an electric blanket in the child's crib.

The infant's mother and a neighbor were driven back by the flames and smoke as they tried to rescue the boy.

Another child who normally slept in the bedroom had been in another room with his mother because he was suffering a cold.

The victim was Brad Gregory Lasee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lasee Jr.

Checked Son
Mrs. Lasee said she had checked on her son an hour before midnight and found nothing wrong.

The fire was confined to the children's bedroom in the frame two-story house.

Another son, Frank, 4, was sleeping downstairs with his mother when the fire broke out.

The father, former all-conference high school football player at De Pere and a varsity player at St. Norbert College, was at work at the time.

Thomas Edwards, acting Brown County coroner, said there were indications the fire was triggered by the electric blanket.

He said further investigation was planned today.

Death was attributed to asphyxiation.

The neighbor, who was not identified, was treated for smoke inhalation suffered in his unsuccessful rescue attempt after he heard Mrs. Lasee's cries for help.

Judge Orders $500 Bond for New London Man in Traffic Counts

Bonds totaling $500 were ordered this morning for Ray Heinke, 27, route 3, New London, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on charges of speeding and operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set Jan. 12 at trial date for Heinke who pleaded innocent.

The New London man was arrested shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday by a state highway patrolman who said Heinke was speed 110 miles an hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone. The arrest was made on U.S. 45 in the Town of Horton.

Auto Strikes Parked Vehicle, Driver Hurt

LITTLE CHUTE — Thomas VanLieshout, 18, 514 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, suffered a bump on the head and laceration of the tongue when the car he was driving east on Main Street about 7:15 p.m. Sunday struck a parked vehicle owned by Merle Wagner, 25, route 1, Seymour.

VanLieshout told police an unknown auto forced him into the right hand lane and prevented him from pulling out in time to avoid striking the parked vehicle.

Damage to the cars was estimated at $800.

Members of Valley Regional Unit Hesitant to Comment; Foresee No Withdrawals

Officials of municipalities belonging to the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission have been reluctant to take a definite stand on the federal government's advice that the commission should reorganize under the state regional planning law.

The commission learned a week ago that the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development feels the commission should be created according to an enabling act which contains a provision specifically authorizing the commission to borrow and use federal funds.

The commission was created under State Statute 66.30, which provides for local cooperation between municipalities for the joint exercise of their individual powers in planning projects.

Borrowing Power
In the federal agency's opinion, State Statute 66.30, the state regional planning law, contains the necessary provision authorizing the commission to borrow and use federal funds.

Municipal officials were reluctant to comment on the situation prior to the commission's policy committee meeting Tuesday and the executive committee meeting Jan. 6.

"I don't think the matter should be discussed until the policy committee meeting," said Clarence Mitchell, Appleton mayor.

Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Bayoragon did not want to comment until the federal agency's advisory letter had been clarified and discussed thoroughly by the executive committee.

See No Withdrawals
Neither Mitchell or Bayoragon felt any municipality would take this as an opportunity to withdraw from the commission.

"I don't see any reason for a municipality pulling out now for all the good the commission has done," Bayoragon commented.

Mitchell said the commission "may even broaden. I think the municipalities are in to stay."

There have been indications that the Town of Greenville is interested in joining the commission. Several months ago it asked the commission for advice in preparing a development plan for the area near the new Outagamie County airport.

Needs Discussion
Joseph DeBruin, Buchanan town chairman, said the group's bylaws "are going to have to be changed, probably to make it a legally airtight organization."

He said it would be up to the townspeople to decide if the town should stay in if the plan unit reorganized.

DeBruin doesn't think "anyone actually wants to pull out. They all know the area needs the planning commission."

John P. Laux

Funeral Service Tuesday for John P. Laux, 90

John P. Laux, 90, 521 N. Meade St., founder of the Laux Fuel and Supply Co. in 1922, died at 8:30 p.m. Saturday after a short illness. He had been active in the firm until his death.

Born April 5, 1875 in Menasha, he had been an Appleton resident almost his entire life. He was a member of the Lions Club and the Holy Name Society of St. Therese Catholic Church.

Survivors are two daughters, four sons, one brother and two sisters.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Therese Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. Friends may call at the Ellenbecker Funeral Home after 2 p.m. today.

Two Youths Admit $500 Summer Damage To Appleton Residence

Two youths, 16 and 17 years old, have been referred to juvenile authorities after they admitted to Appleton detectives that they broke into a northeast side home and caused about $500 damage July 18.

The vandalism occurred at the Lloyd Siewers home, 1413 E. Pershing St., while the Siewers were out of town.

Damage was in nearly every room in the home, with most of the vandalism occurring in the living room where liquid floor wax and spices were poured over the keys of a new piano.

Other major damage included the slashing of sofa cushions and the breaking of a wall clock.

The youths, who entered the home through a basement window, told detectives they took about $1.20 in change from the home.

Church Elects New Officers Of Council

English Lutheran Plans Installation Ceremony Sunday

New officers have been elected at First English Lutheran Church.

Kenneth Theis was elected president and also will serve as chairman of the church council.

Other officers include Hollis Whitman, vice president; Allen Bubolz, secretary; Robert Maves, treasurer, and Harold Bartell, assistant treasurer.

New elders are Dr. James Veum, Richard Pike and Erwin Gauerke. The group is headed by Henry Niederkorn, chairman and Wayne Witt, secretary.

Deacons include Ralph Melby, chairman; John Belling, head usher, and LeRoy Ziesemer, secretary. Also elected were Martin Gilbertson, Allen Mulder and Reinhard Wichman.

Gilbertson, Gauerke, Melby, Mulder, Pike Dr. Veum and Witt are beginning the first of three-year terms on the church council. Wesley Ring was elected to fill an unexpired one-year term.

New officers will be installed at the 10:45 a.m. service next Sunday.

Resident Opinion on CATV Being Surveyed in Fox Cities

Unidentified Firm Conducts Poll; Report Support for Proposal

A survey is being conducted of Fox Cities residents to determine whether they would be receptive to community antenna television (CATV), it was learned today.

Five corporations have filed applications for the community franchise in Appleton and other communities in the Fox Cities complex have been approached by one or more operators seeking cable rights.

While the firm was not identified, it was learned it has been obtaining cross-section opinion of residents on the question of CATV and there reportedly is heavy support for the system being proposed.

Once an operator is granted a franchise, he erects a community antenna and through the use of cables can hook homes onto the system. Subscribers usually pay an installation charge and then a $4 or $5 monthly fee for the service.

More TV
With CATV, the viewer reportedly can pick up signals of more television stations and thus get broader programming.

City councils in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna are studying requests for franchises received to date and obtaining all information possible on CATV.

Village boards in the area are doing likewise, many of them deferring action for an indefinite period on franchise requests.

The firm that operates the CATV system pays the municipality granting the franchise a percentage of the revenue. Subscription to the service is voluntary.

Injures Neck in Auto Mishap

Two persons received minor injuries in separate accidents Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph A. Williams, 1630 N. Rankin St., told Appleton police she received a neck injury when a car driven by her husband was struck by a car driven by Mary Jane Hennessy, 1025 N. Leminwah St. The accident occurred in the 1300 block of N. Meade St.

The Williams car was parked when it was struck by the Hennessy vehicle which was making a right turn off Randall onto N. Meade.

Dennis Glass, 9, 1219 W. Glendale St., received a cut chin about 12:15 p.m. Sunday when the car his mother was driving ran into the rear of a car driven by Emil J. Petersen, 75, 902 N. Durkee St., on Franklin Street near State Street.

The boy was treated at Appleton Memorial Hospital where he was taken by police squad car.

Petersen's car was halted at the intersection when it was struck from behind by the Glass car, police said.

Instrument Society Sets Dinner Meeting

A dinner and meeting are scheduled by the Fox River Valley Section Instrument Society of America beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Alex's Manor House.

George T. Cook, of Brooks Instrument Division, Emerson Electric Co., will give a slide lecture on "Rotameter Selection and Application."

Hortonville Marine Recalls Heat, Mud, Rice Paddies of Viet Nam

While snow covers the ground and frost nips the air, Cpl. Robert K. Lemke remembers Viet Nam and "rice paddies upon rice paddies, mud, ants, mosquitoes and hot weather."

The 24-year-old Marine is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemke, route 1, Hortonville, during the holidays after eight months filled with combat duty in Viet Nam.

He participated in the battle of Da Nang, one of the most important and bloodiest battles in the conflict so far, but feels that his country's involvement in the struggle is "something that has to be."

United States troops are in Viet Nam to do a job, Lemke emphasizes, and that job is to "try to abolish Communism."

Shocked at Demonstrations
Because the men realize this, morale is good, he indicated. Soldiers grumble and moan at times, he said, but added that "they really take it good."

When Lemke heard overseas of the anti-war demonstrations and draft card burning incidents in the U.S. he was shocked. "At first I couldn't believe it," he recalled. "It shouldn't have happened."

The Fox Cities man spent a good share of his time in Viet Nam in the jungle on patrols and fighting the Viet Cong.

Lines were moved twice a day to deceive the enemy, and in the fighting his section leader was killed and some of his men wounded.

Lemke operated a machine gun, and knows that he killed some Viet Cong. "The war is necessary and should be fought," he said.

The Hortonville man enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1962, but at the time didn't expect to be fighting during his tour of duty.

After training in guerrilla warfare at Camp Pendleton, Calif., his unit boarded a troop ship destined for the Philippine Islands.

Destination Changed
Near the end of the trip Lemke and his fellow Marines were told the destination had been changed to Viet Nam, where they landed the next day.

He didn't tell his parents about the change in locale for a month, and said there was no adverse reaction.

While Lemke was in Viet Nam he served at Quang Nai in addition to the action at Da Nang. He reports for stateside duty in South Carolina Jan. 23.

Lemke remembers the Viet Nam people as being very poor, with some of them not knowing exactly what was going on.

The corporal was not as indefinite about the war, however. He approves of the stepup in U.S. military might in the southeast Asian country, and adds if the U.S. was more aggressive, the war would be over sooner.

Sgt. I.C. Norman E. Whitney, right, of Appleton was congratulated by Brig. Gen. Robert P. Schulz, commander of Wisconsin's 84th Army Reserve Division, upon his retirement after 20 years in the army. Whitney served in Korea and three tours of duty in Europe. Since 1963 he has been enlisted adviser for the 84th Division.

State Agency Warning

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Insurance Department today warned that automobile insurance rates will inevitably continue to rise unless the state finds a way of reducing the toll of deaths, injuries and property damage on the highways.

"Only when traffic accidents are reduced and claim costs go down, will automobile rates be lowered," said William Halfman of the auto casualty division of the state agency in a review of the causes of higher premiums, more selective underwriting policies and other current developments in the troubled industry.

Adequate Rates
He said the state agency will support adequate rates to prevent failures of underwriting companies, and noted that "the rates in many jurisdictions are still inadequate because the increases, when approved, frequently lag at least a whole year behind claims levels and necessitate the next year's increases."

The annual report of the regulatory department showed gross automobile insurance premiums in Wisconsin last year paid $148,280,000, a rise of nearly 8 per cent from the previous year, with a loss ratio of slightly more than 67 per cent.

The department officer said Wisconsin insurance rates are highly competitive, but he said "the motoring public must be made to realize that auto rates are keyed to the accidents and claims for which the public itself is responsible."

Halfman said that with increasing rate and classification competition a more strict underwriting policy has developed among the standard auto insurance companies.

Wisconsin carriers have developed what is known as the assigned risk plan for the underwriting of sub-standard applicants. The rates for such insurance have been rising, although the loss ratio continues to be high. During 1964 the number of contracts handled through that cooperative system was about 17,400.

Marine Sons Missed at Menasha Family's Christmas Celebration

BY JOHN TORINUS JR.
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — Two of the five Arnoldussen brothers were absent when the family got together to trim the Christmas tree.

The third oldest, Marshall, 18, was a half a world away celebrating a "foxhole Christmas." The family doesn't know exactly where in Viet Nam he is, but they think he is stationed somewhere near Da Nang Air Force base, one of the hottest spots in the Asian war.

The family, minus the two brothers, got together for Christmas eve. John's wife, Patricia, came from Appleton, bringing their three-month-old daughter, Charlene, with her.

The family doesn't know exactly where the oldest brother, John, 21, is either. He has written that he is aboard ship headed for Viet Nam via the Philippines.

Both are privates first class in the Marine Corps. John, who has been in three years, joined right after graduation from Menasha High School. Marty dropped out to enlist.

Christmas for them, judging by their recent letters, was something to endure and to forget.

Mrs. John Arnoldussen Jr., Appleton, and daughter Charlene spent Christmas Day with the Arnoldussen family in Menasha while her husband was on his way to Viet Nam. John's younger brother, Marshall, also in the Marine Corps, is thought to be somewhere near Da Nang Air Force Base. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Changes in Treatment

Surprises Due for Hospital Patients

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of four articles detailing treatment patients receive at Winnebago State Hospital. Dr. Thomas J. Kelley, clinical director, tells about today's treatment.)

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WINNEBAGO — If your family physician diagnoses you as mentally ill today, recommends treatment at Winnebago State Hospital (WSH) and the necessary legal papers for your admission are complete — you are due for some surprises.

First, you will be surprised by the physical surroundings. You will walk into an environment you never expected. While there you will share a semiprivate room, have complete freedom in the small ward rooms, eat in a small dining room and wear your own clothes. You will be free to go to the canteen, bowl, play baseball, go swimming, dancing and on picnics. On your unit you will have use of the radio, record player and television.

Who will take care of you? If you are admitted during the regular hospital hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., you will see the doctor who will handle your treatment throughout your hospital stay. Your psychiatrist heads up the treatment and will prescribe your medication and schedule your activity therapy.

Treatment Team
Other members of the treatment team include a social worker, nurses, aides, occupational therapist, recreation therapist, industrial therapist, clergy, rehabilitation counselors, teachers (if you are of school age) and possibly a psychologist.

During the first week you will have a thorough physical examination and special laboratory studies will be made. The social worker will interview your family and you and later on will assist in the plans for your release from the hospital.

"Your release day has been a part of your admission procedure," Dr. Kelley says assuringly. "You can expect to be out in approximately three months. Modern drugs have speeded the treatment of mental illnesses and the long term hospitalization is almost a thing of the past."

Maintain Awareness
There is a full complement of medical specialists on the WSH staff—heart, bone, brain, gynecologist and pediatrician. The hospital is certified through the same set of rules set for general hospitals throughout the country which are known for their high quality of care. Student registered nurses and practical nurses, as well as social workers train at WSH, which is another endorsement of its high caliber of treatment and care.

"The majesty of mentally ill patients, regardless of how sick they are, still maintain a great deal of awareness of what is going on around them," says Dr. Kelley. For this reason, if not other, surroundings and active treatment are of prime importance.

This is why there is dramatic reassurance when a mentally ill patient learns that he or she are treated at WSH on an individual basis. The era of mass treatment of the mentally ill passed out at WSH with the advent of today's new drugs.

"To treat each person individually, the hospital must be generously staffed," says Dr. Kelley. "Here at Winnebago State we are generously staffed so we are able to diagnose and treat each patient without loss of time and according to his or her need. We specialize in mental illness and our clinical program has an on-going daily evaluation."

Per Diem Cost
The third big surprise comes when you learn that you are paying your way at WSH. It is a popular misconception that the state hospital treats only those patients who cannot afford, for one reason or another, to get private care. While you are a patient there it will cost you $17 a day (and the per diem cost is expected to rise in 1966.)

For this $17 per day you will receive the finest clinical and professional care available. The latest research in drugs and techniques are put to use by the WSH staff and minute studies are made. Research carried on at the hospital show the effectiveness of the new drugs.

Primary Role
It is the primary role of the hospital to treat you during the most acute stage of your illness. Beyond that it collaborates with the various resources in your community to shape plans for your total rehabilitation.

The best ever!

Commodity Cutback To Affect Winnebago

WINNEBAGO — The food budget allowance will be altered at Winnebago State Hospital as a result of the withdrawal of butter from the federal surplus commodities program during January, February and March, Dr. Darrold Treffert, superintendent, disclosed today.

Menus will be reshuffled at the state hospital to provide the same balanced diet for the patients. Approximately $10,000 is provided in the 1966 budget for the purchase of surplus commodities from the federal government. This includes principally butter, cheese, rice, and "When we have government surplus foods there is a tendency to use more and this may affect somewhat our relaxed use of butter, for example, during the next three months. Here at Winnebago State Hospital we have our own creamery and produce butter, skim milk and cheese to meet most of our own needs. Any surplus products produced are sold to the Boys School at Kettle Moraine and Winnebago County Hospital."

Dollar Differences
Whole milk for the creamery operation is purchased from the prison farm system. Any added

Technically the federal surplus commodities program is intended to provide surplus food in addition to the amounts of these foods normally consumed. "What they mean is that we should butter both sides of the bread," said David Schirle, purchasing officer for the division of hospital management, department of public welfare, Madison.

Budget Impact
"There is no cheap way out of this, and in reality there will be a budget impact as a result of withdrawing butter and the other surplus commodities," Schirle continued. "The last time the commodities were withdrawn for six months (1963) the approximate cost to our

Suspect Arson In Boxcar Fire Sunday

MENASHA — While fighting a boxcar fire Sunday, firemen found the cap to a flare, leading them to believe the blaze may have been started by an arsonist.

The boxcar, loaded with about 75 bales of paper belonging to department was about $36,000. More exact figures will be available within a few weeks. A dollar value was placed on surplus commodities by the department of public welfare when the program began. This value is used by state institutions in estimated food budgets each year.

Menasha Mill Supply Co., was parked on a spur of the Soo Line between Racine and Appleton streets when smoke was noticed about 4 p.m. by a passing motorist.

The fire department sent out two rigs and fought the fire in the 1,000-pound bales for almost three hours.

Flames had eaten through the floor of the boxcar and burning paper was falling on the tracks. The car was moved away from nearby warehouses to another spur by a switching engine to avoid possibilities of spreading, Capt. William Akstulewicz said.

Knowles Names Advisory Group For UW Project

Pick Menasha Man; Council to Help in Community Program

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin will administer and coordinate the state's Community Service Program which will operate under the federal Higher Education Act of 1965, Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced today.

Knowles named an advisory council to work with the university. H. Albertson, president of Stevens Point State University, will serve as council chairman.

Named to the council was G. Kenneth Crowell, Menasha, a member of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and an executive vice president of Kimberly-Clark Corp.

Education Resources

The act provides for use of higher education resources, both public and private, to aid in solution of community problems, including housing, poverty, recreation, health, land use, transportation, employment of opportunities for youth. The act also furnishes matching money for purchase of equipment and remodeling of facilities.

The State Commission for Higher Educational Aids will draw up the state plan for use of the funds.

Council Members

Also appointed were UW president Fred Harvey Harrington; J. Martin Klotz, chancellor, UW-Milwaukee; Eugene Kleinpell, president of River Falls State University; George A. Parkinson, director of the Milwaukee School of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education; Norman Mitby, director of the Madison School of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education; Father John Raynor, president of Marquette University; Richard Bailey, president of Northland College, and John Nash of Manitowoc, a member of the Commission for Educational Aids.

Chute town chairman, said he wanted to discuss the matter with Eugene Franchett, the commission's director, and other officials before forming a definite opinion.

He said "it sounds like the group should reorganize, but I want to discuss it with Franchett first." Thorson "hopes no one withdraws from the group. It has very worthwhile benefits and is needed to help promote orderly development in the area."

Carl E. Loehning, Neenah mayor, said he is "not going to throw any cold water on it until I find out what it's about."

Loehning indicated he "will most likely go along with Franchett's suggestions, since he knows more about the situation than most of the executive committee members."

'Work Together'

Loehning didn't think any municipality will withdraw, commenting that "municipalities have to work together for general development."

John Klein, Menasha mayor, regarded the situation as "one of those quirks in the law we

Three Supervisors File For Outagamie Posts

Weyenberg, Verfurth, Spreeman to Bid For Re-Election in 1966 Spring Balloting

Three incumbent Outagamie County Board supervisors, including two from Kaukauna, have filed for re-election.

They are J. W. Weyenberg, 115 Sarah St., Kaukauna (Kaukauna 2); Matt J. Verfurth, 310 W. Sixth St., Kaukauna (Kaukauna 3), and Rudolph Spreeman, route 1, Appleton, (Town of Greenville.)

Spreeman, who will seek election from Supervisory District 39, which includes the towns of Greenville and Dale, probably will be opposed by Stanley Perkins, Medina, who serves as Town of Dale supervisor. Perkins has taken but not filed papers for District 39.

Town Board Member

Spreeman, a town board member since 1955, has been on the county board since 1958. He is vice chairman of the public property and insurance committee.

A farmer for the last 30 years, Spreeman was on the Sunnyview School Board for 18 years before the district was consolidated.

Verfurth, the only one to take out papers for District 24, City of Kaukauna, is one of the oldest members of the board in terms of years of service, having been elected in 1944. He has been re-elected every term since.

Verfurth, a native of Kaukauna, and his son operate Verfurth and Son Shoe Store.

He served with the 82nd Division in France during World War I.

He said it would be "very poor for anyone to pull out of the commission just as we are starting to see the fruits of its labor."

Roland Kampe, Menasha town chairman, said he wanted to "check out all the details" before commenting and also would have to talk with the town board members. He "doesn't know if anyone would pull out."

The commission's policy committee is scheduled to meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the planning commission office to discuss what action the commission should take. There has been some indication the commission will ask for clarification from Washington.

State Allocated $1.7 Million For Recreation

Local Projects To Get 40 Per Cent Of Federal Money

MADISON (AP) — Federal funds totaling $1,770,000 for Wisconsin's outdoor recreation program have been approved by the Department of Interior, L. P. Voigt, State Conservation Department director, reported today.

Forty per cent of the total will be available for counties, towns and municipalities for local projects, Voigt said. He predicted a steady flow of applications for the funds, noting that more than 200 inquiries have been received.

A citizens advisory committee has established guidelines for using the money and standards emphasizing projects close to large populations to serve the greatest number of recreation seekers.

The money, coming from the land and water conservation fund, a new federal program, will be matched by states or local units of government. Allocations range from $114,000 in Milwaukee County to a few thousand dollars in thinly populated northern counties.

Marshall Makes Report

No Indication of Arson By Syndicate in State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The professional arsonist whose activities have troubled law enforcement agencies in other parts of the country has thus far by-passed Wisconsin, the state fire marshal's office has reported. There is no evidence of "syndicate" influence in the problem of arson in the state, W. D. Rossiter, head of the state fire investigation unit, said in his annual report filed with the commissioner of insurance.

"The absence of insurance fraud fire is one of the factors making it possible for the citizens of Wisconsin to enjoy one of the lowest fire insurance rates in the nation," he commented.

Incendiary fires involving fraud have been increasing in the country as a whole, but in Wisconsin there has been no significant change in incendiary fires, the official reported. Rossiter noted the existence of professional arson organizations in some sections of the country which offer their services to distressed businesses and others, getting a fee in return for helping the proprietors to file fraudulent indemnity claims.

But in Wisconsin the 1964 investigative results showed that the arson incidents were "do it yourself" instances. No State Legislation

Rossiter noted that state and local authorities investigated a number of cases of dynamiting and were handicapped because there are now no state laws governing the buying and selling of explosives, fuses or blasting caps.

"It seems ironic that while there are laws prohibiting the sale of firecrackers, there is nothing to prevent any individual from buying a case of dynamite, nor is it required to keep any record of the transaction," he wrote. He said he will ask for such legislation when the legislature reconvenes.

Rossiter said there were 35,458 known fires in the state last year, involving nearly $28,000,000 in damage, on which insurance of nearly $25,000,000 was paid.

Packers Win Western Title on Chandler Overtime Field Goal

Bratkowski Replaces Injured Bart Starr, Completes 22 Passes

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Incredible! That describes the team and the game . . . the Green Bay Packers of 1965 and the fantastic sudden-death playoff in Lambeau Field Sunday afternoon.

The big clock over the south scoreboard read 4:02 p.m. when Don Chandler kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Packers a 13-10 victory over the Colts and the Western Division championship.

The end came 13 minutes and 39 seconds into a raging "fifth quarter" . . . and this surely was the most amazing game ever played in Green Bay — a furious, nail chewer that left the crowd of 50,484 limp and delirious.

The triumph climaxed 15 weeks of tears, cheers and plenty of prayers as the Packers carved out 11 victories, three losses and one tie. They finished the regulation season in a 10-3-1 deadlock with the Colts, and they were still tied at the official close of game 15, 10-10.

This forced the first sudden death in a division playoff and the longest in league history. The only other sudden-death was in 1958 when these Colts beat the Giants in 8 minutes, 15 seconds of a fifth quarter for the world title.

And now the big prize is at stake — the world championship against the Cleveland Browns, the Eastern and world titlists, at Lambeau Field next Sunday. The Packers were favored Sunday, but the Colts were the country's sentimental favorites due to the loss of John Unitas and Gary Cuzzo, their two quarterbacks.

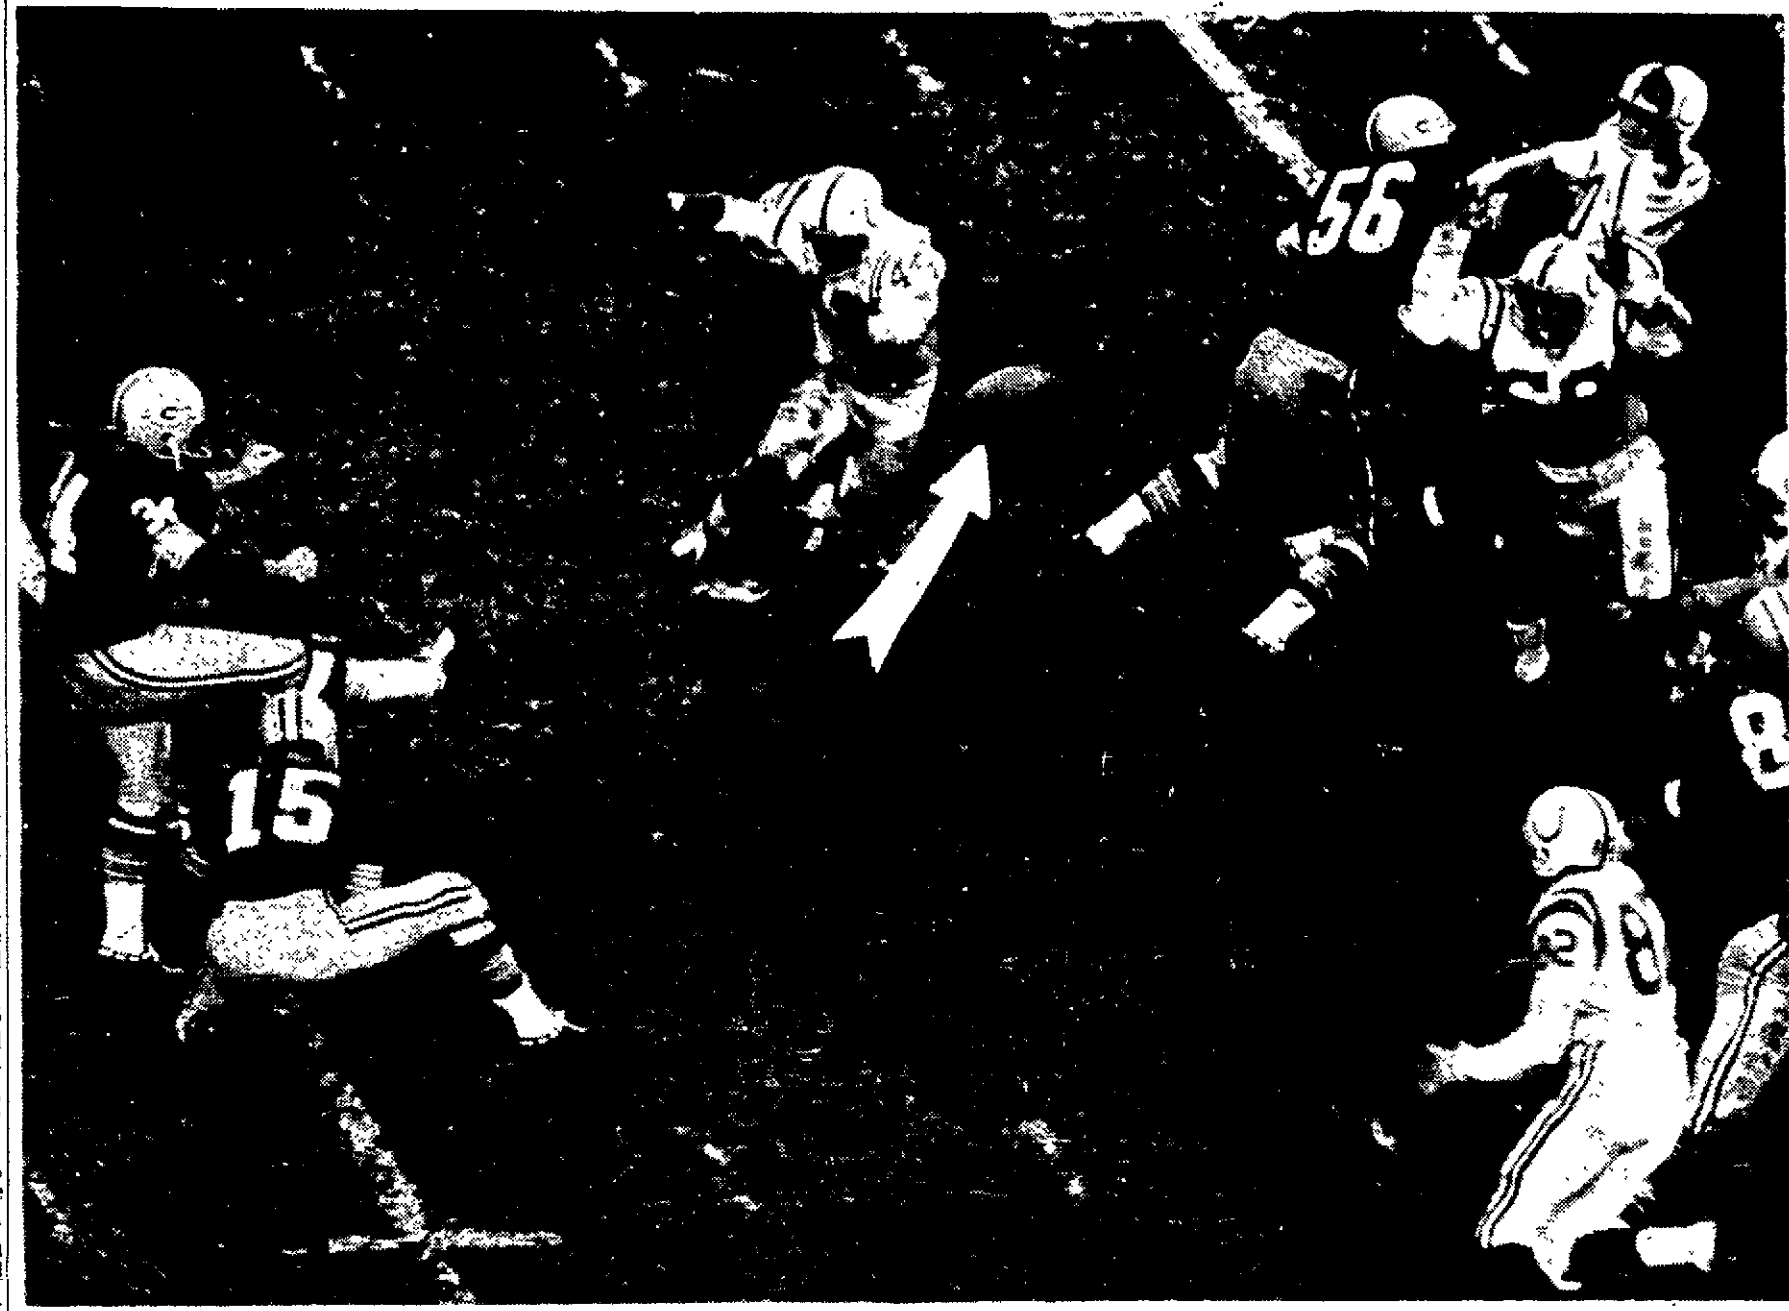

But somehow fate took an early hand and evened things off. On the first play of the game, the Packers' Unitas, Bart Starr, went out for the day with a rib injury. And the Colts got a touchdown in the bargain, Don Shinnick picking up a fumble by Billy Anderson, who had caught Starr's only pass, and running it for a TD.

The Packers never went ahead until the 73rd minute — on Chandler's boot — a piece of work that put each Packer in line for upwards of $8,000 next Sunday.

4 Key Figures
The Packers drove 62 yards in 10 plays for the payoff . . . and there were four key figures, all obtained by Coach Vince Lombardi in trades — three this season, Zeke Bratkowski (ex-Rams), Carroll Dale (Redskins), Anderson (Redskins) and Chandler (Giants).

Bratkowski threw to Anderson for 18 yards on the second play of the drive and to Dale for 18 on the sixth play. Jim Taylor, the ferocious bull, and Elijah Pitts, the third halfback who replaced the injured Paul Hornung and Tom Moore, did the mopping up, with 26 yards in eight rushes.

And a rookie even had a hand in the biggest play of the year. Snapping the ball back perfectly to holder Starr was center Bill

The Decisive Field Goal of Green Bay's Don Chandler that rocketed the Packers into the NFL championship showdown and earned the Western Division title is shown here. Chandler's smooth-swinging right foot sends the ball toward the center of the uprights 13 minutes and 39 seconds into the first sudden death overtime period Sunday in Green Bay's Lambeau Field. The successful boot gave the Packers a 13-10 triumph over Baltimore's Colts. Bart Starr (15) is shown holding on the kick, while teammate Tommy Crutcher (56) holds off Colt defenders. Baltimore's Lenny Lyles (43) and Raymond Berry (82) came the closest to blocking the kick, while Don Shinnick (66) lunges through a hole in the Packer line in an attempt to stop the try. Bills Receive $5,189 Each for AFL Title Game

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Each Buffalo Bill player earned $5,189.92 for winning the American Football League championship — more than double the amount they received in 1964.

The San Diego Chargers, who lost to the Bills, 23-0, Sunday, will receive $3,447.85 checks — almost triple what they received a year ago.

Last year Buffalo players earned $2,668.60 for defeating the Chargers for the title. San Diego players took home $1,738.63 each.

National television added to the players' pool this year. The game was attended by 30,361 persons.

'Followed Game Plan,' Says Zeke, After Replacing Injured Bart Starr

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Balding, soft-spoken Don Chandler was "shaking like a leaf" Sunday afternoon—but not, curiously enough, until some time after his climactic field goal cemented the Packers' sudden death playoff victory over Baltimore's incredibly competitive Colts.

Pausing for a sip of soft drink during a brief respite from a whirlwind round of interviews and blistering TV lights in a bulging Packer dressing room, the amiable Oklahoman confessed with a rueful smile, "I'm shaking like a leaf. I still can't relax good."

There had been, surprisingly, no attack of nerves when he lined up for that fateful kick in the 14th minute of the overtime, he said.

"I was just thinking about taking my steps, keeping my head down and hitting it good," Chandler revealed. "I was just thinking about hitting it right. I figured the rest will take care of itself."

The 31-year-old veteran exhibited a puckish grin and volunteered, "If I'd missed it, I think I would have had to go home."

Paying heartfelt tribute to his teammates, he added, "we've got a courageous bunch of fellows, I'll tell you. They get behind 10-0 and come back like a bunch of tigers."

Chandler also expressed compassion for his Baltimore opposite number, Lou Michaels. "Michaels is an excellent kicker," he said. "It looked to me like there was something wrong with the center (on the Colts 47-yard field goal attempt late in the fourth quarter and that might have thrown the kick off."

Teammate Zeke Bratkowski, hastily summoned to combat when quarterback Bart Starr was injured on the first play of the afternoon, explained, "I didn't know how bad Bart was hurt, but when I saw he couldn't go into the second series, I went to Coach Lombardi and said, 'what do you want me to do?' After that, we just followed the same game plan we had before."

In the overtime, the Coach told me to try to avoid mistakes and interceptions that would let them get in for a short field goal. We tried to get the ball into position for a field goal or a touchdown, either one."

Bratkowski, who himself had completed 22 of 39 passes for 248 yards in a rare route-going performance, complimented the Colts and his quarterback opponent, Colts' Tom Matte. "They should be given tremendous credit for the way they played," he said, "and Matte did a great job under tremendous pressure."

The ex-University of Georgia star was hazy about the fourth quarter play on which the Colts' Billy Ray Smith drew a 15-yard penalty for striking Bratkowski, a development which led to the Packers' tying field goal in the fourth quarter.

"I don't know what happened on it," he said. "I couldn't tell you—I got knocked a little woozy. I don't know what

Aussies Lead Davis Cup Test

Stolle Rallies to Edge Santana, Easy Victory for Emerson

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Roy Emerson, flashing the form that made him the most feared amateur in the tennis world, disposed of Spain's young Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 Monday, and sent Australia to a 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Lanky Fred Stolle rallied for a 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5 victory over Spain's best, veteran Manuel Santana, in the first match on the lightning fast, grass center court at White City Stadium. The match lasted two hours, 57 minutes.

The twin triumph made the Australians overwhelming favorites to take the best-of-five series, perhaps even clinch it in Tuesday's doubles.

There, Santana and Luis Arilla are scheduled to oppose an Australian team yet to be named.

Emerson and Stolle are the likely choice if Captain Harry Hopman wants to wrap it up in a hurry. They already own the U.S. National doubles title and rank as one of the best amateur teams in the world.

Herb Adderley Can't Watch Field Goal Try, Buries Head in Hands

GREEN BAY (AP) — Millions of people watched the thrilling finish of Sunday's Western Division, National Football League, playoff game between the Packers and Baltimore on television, and more than 50,000 were in the stands as Don Chandler lined up his winning boot, but one Packer sat on the bench and buried his head in his hands.

All-NFL defensive cornerback Herb Adderley said simply, "I couldn't watch it. I kept my head down and listened to what was happening on radio."

The 25-yard field goal was good and the Packers, won, 13-10.

Byrd's Punt Return, Buffalo Defense Highlights of Game

By RON ROACH

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—San Diego Charger coach Sid Gillman once remarked: "We can't win with Jack Kemp."

Apparently Gillman's Chargers can't win against him, either.

Kemp led the Buffalo Bills to the American Football League championship for the second straight year Sunday, embarrassing his former mates with a 23-0 shutout. He did it last year, 20-7.

Three years ago, Kemp incurred a sprained finger on his throwing hand and the Chargers wanted to put him on the injured list. But the Bills executed the coup of AFL history, picking up Kemp for the $100 waiver price.

Touchy Subject
The Kemp deal must be a touchy subject with Gillman, who doesn't like to talk about it. Sportswriters selected Kemp the game's most valuable player, a role for which Jack was chosen by the Associated Press for his play all year.

The scrappy Bills weren't supposed to win, rated as one-touchdown underdogs. They weren't last year, either.

They probably wouldn't have won if: Buffalo's defense didn't act like a concrete wall; Butch Byrd didn't return punts; Pete Gogolak didn't know how to kick and Kemp wasn't the best $100 quarterback in football.

Kemp got all the points he needed in the first quarter by firing an 18 - yard touchdown strike to end Ernie Warlick.

Byrd Delivers
Moments later, Byrd delivered the conquering blow by racing 74 yards down the sideline to score on a punt return. Gogolak managed to enter the defensive stalemate long enough

Vince Says Bays Were Superb, Also Praises Baltimore

Declares Special Teams Did Great Job in Stopping Alvin Haymond

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Although he is customarily a straight man, Vincent Thomas Lombardi couldn't resist a quip.

Outwardly composed minutes after his Packers' historic 13-10 sudden death victory over the Baltimore Colts in the first Western Division playoff ever staged on Green Bay soil Sunday afternoon, he smiled as newsmen clustered about him in his dressing room office and facetiously began, "Well, gentlemen, you can't say we don't give the world a thrill."

He sobered slightly when asked what he had been thinking when the Colts' Lou Michaels was poised for a field goal attempt from the Packer 47-yard line with the score tied 10-all in the final minutes of the fourth quarter, but the reply came with alacrity.

"I thought we had played a good enough ball game up to that point," Lombardi said, "that it would have been no disgrace to lose."

Admiration For Shula

Almost in the same breath, he volunteered, "I have a great deal of admiration for Shula (Don, Baltimore head coach) and all the Colts. I thought they were excellent without a regular quarterback."

"Of course, we lost our quarterback (Bart Starr, who did not return to action) on our first play, too."

Lombardi, assured of a fourth National Football League championship playoff berth in seven years as the Packers' resident genius, also applauded his own athletes.

"I thought our team was superb under adverse conditions," he said. "We gave 'em a touchdown quickly (Don Shinnick's 25-yard run with a Bill Anderson fumble that staked the Hossees to a 7-0 lead on the first play of the game), but we stayed right in there."

Had he considered ordering a field goal attempt when the Packers were fourth-and-1 on the Baltimore 1-yard-line (the play on which fullback Jim Taylor was held for no gain) shortly before the half?

"No, I did not," Lombardi shot back.

Stopped Their Running

"I thought we stopped their running game pretty well, although I don't know what the figures were," he said in reply to another question, an observation which triggered a query seeking his assessment of Colt quarterback, Tom Matte.

"He's a fine athlete," the Packer major-domo declared. "That's the main thing."

His own quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski, had been "very good" in relief of the injured Starr, Lombardi also opined. "Of course, Zeke has played quite a bit for us. I think this was the fourth game he has won for us. So I have a lot of confidence in Zeke, and there is no question he did a fine job."

Noting "it's obvious that our defense did a fine job," Vince also observed, "our special teams did a great job in containing what's his name, Haymond (Alvin, the Colts' punt and kickoff return ace)."

Confirming that this had been his second sudden-death playoff (his first such experience had come as offense coach of the New York Giants in a 23-17 loss to Baltimore in the 1958 title game), Lombardi flashed a broad smile and added, "It's also the fifth championship (division)."

And the fourth in six years with the Packers, a scribe interjected. "That's right," Lombardi said, "the fourth in six years."

"Let me go see my team, will you," he appended, then stepped into the boisterous dressing room to individually felicitate his champions.

Although openly unhappy, a somber Shula had no fault to find with his hosses.

"I told them to hold their heads up, that I was proud of them," he said. "They're just a helluva bunch of guys . . . they counted us out last week and we stayed in there—and we did again today. We gave it our best shot. We gave it everything we had."

At the same time, Shula

Top Scientists Clash Over Civil Defense System Value

Botanist Sees More Risk Than Safety in Elaborate Shelter Setup

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Two prominent scientists clashed today over the value — or danger — of proposals to spend billions on antimissile systems and fallout shelters.

"Reliance upon a defense system of such extraordinary complexity may bring more risk than safety," said Dr. Barry Commoner, head of the Department of Botany at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Edward Teller, University of California physicist and one of the inventors of the atomic bomb, countered: "A strong civil defense is our best hope of preventing nuclear attack."

The two were scheduled speakers in a symposium on civil defense at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science — the largest scientific convention of the year, attended by more than 6,000.

Early Briefing

The difference of opinion came at a briefing prior to the symposium.

Commoner, an authority on the effects of radiation on man's environment, accused Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara of giving a "woefully inadequate" picture of the immediate and eventual damage from nuclear war.

He predicted "epidemics of human and animal diseases, crop destruction by radiation, erosion and sterilization of the land resulting from massive destruction of vegetation, and the triggering of possibly catastrophic climatic changes."

Civilization Lost

These, as well as immediate destruction from blast heat and radiation, he said, "lead me to conclude that this nation, its population, its economic wealth, its social fabric — all that we speak of as our civilization — would be irrevocably lost following a major nuclear war."

He conceded that some scientists would disagree with him but insisted "there can be no disagreement that it is absolutely impossible to be certain of our own survival."

Teller said strong civil defense measures are vital as a deterrent.

"The Russians characteristically avoid taking risks," Teller said. "If we have no shelters or antimissile systems they may feel they can defeat us. But if we put up a strong civil defense I believe we will prevent attack."

Not Mad

"The Russians and the Chinese are not mad, as Hitler was. It is fortunate that we are now faced by reasonable opponents. I don't think they will want to start a war unless they are sure they can defeat us, and they can't be sure if we have a strong civil defense."

Commoner pointed out that the Johnson administration is considering a combined antimissile-shelter system, expected to cost several billions.

He said he believed the money a strong civil defense system would cost might be better spent on a research and education to prevent war but that in any case no decision should be made without informing the public of potential dangers.

Teller said he was convinced that adequate civil defense measures would at last decrease the number of casualties and that their very existence would make potential aggressors hesitate.

Freed Soldiers Charged With Aiding Enemy

GIs Had Been Held Prisoner 2 Years by North Vietnamese

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — The U.S. Army said today it has charged two GIs with aiding the enemy during two years of Viet Cong imprisonment and is investigating to determine whether they will be put on trial.

The two soldiers are Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., and Spec. 4 Claude McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., who were released by the Viet Cong last month. They will remain on Okinawa until a final decision on their cases, the spokesman said.

After an extensive investigation, he said, they were charged with preparing, furnishing and delivering to the Viet Cong certain documents, statements and writings inimical to the interest of the United States.

Special Forces Men

The spokesman said the two Special Forces men have been provided defense attorneys. In accordance with U.S. military procedure, their cases now are being studied to determine if they will face a trial by court-martial.

Smith, 27, and McClure, 25, were captured in November 1963 when guerrillas overran the Hiep Hoa camp northeast of Saigon.

They were released last Nov. 27 at the Cambodian border during a period of demonstrations in the United States against the Viet Nam war. After a week in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, the two were flown to Bangkok and then to Okinawa.

Rejoins Campaign

They denied to American television newsmen that they had told a news conference in Cambodia they would return to the United States and join the campaign against the war in Viet Nam.

The two claimed their statements had been misinterpreted. CBS correspondent Murray Fromson quoted Smith as saying, "I did not use the word 'campaign.' What I said was that I would like to see strong efforts made to end the war in Viet Nam."

NBC newsmen Jack Perkins said Smith told him he was subjected to "a poor man's brainwashing," Perkins reported.

Fire Chief Manuel Souza, left, carries Steven Smith, 9, as fireman Stanley Moore helps Cathy Koch, 11, to an ambulance after their rescue from a gas-filled house in Watsonville, Calif., over the weekend. Their plight was discovered when their mother, Mrs. Gracie

Smith, hand to head in background, phoned from work to check on the youngsters. Steven cried "help me. Mommy, please help," and she raced home and got the children out of the house. Two older children were with them. All were given oxygen. (AP Wirephoto)

Purple Anecdotes Fill Air

Transistorized Walkie-Talkies For Kiddies Jam Citizens' Band

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Transistorized walkie-talkies — the Christmas gift for the kid who has everything — are creating a traffic jam on the airwaves.

The Federal Communications Commission doesn't like some of the juvenile patter its monitors are picking up. The FBI is also listening with interest.

Some children with walkie-talkies and a high-powered vocabulary are butting into the citizens radio band network with purple anecdotes and suggestions. The chatter is burning the ears of licensed radio operators tuned in on the same frequency.

Most Legitimate

Most of the walkie-talkie conversations are perfectly legitimate messages between pals with a new toy. As long as the talk is clean and no conscious attempt is made to interfere with regular traffic, the FCC has no objections.

"Walkie-talkie chatter is expected every Christmas," said Homer Thompson, chief engineer at the FCC's central monitoring station in Broward County.

He explained that the battery-powered sets are preregulated by the manufacturers to operate on one-tenth watt power over class D citizens band channels. Their range over land is one to three miles.

Not Licensed

"Actually, the kids who are abusing the use of the airwaves don't come under our jurisdiction since they are not licensed operators," Thompson said.

"But we do cooperate with the FBI when federal statutes involving profane and indecent language is involved."

Of more serious concern are the false emergency messages being heard on some sets. One boy on Christmas Day had several radio operators worried when he broadcast an SOS — pleading that he was in a sinking boat. His alarm turned out to be false.

The citizens band is designed for both business and personal use — for delivery trucks and sportsmen, for example. It is also the frequency for other radio use, such as signals from electronic heating machines and hospital heat-treatment equipment.

Senate Fiscal Expert Retires After Spending $2 Trillion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate fiscal expert who has handled federal government appropriations totaling more than $2 trillion retires Thursday after 53 years of service at the Capitol.

Everard H. Smith, 75, is stepping down as chief clerk of the Senate Appropriations Committee, from what he calls "the most wonderful" job in the world.

"You couldn't find a university any place where you could hear as many top people on as many different subjects as come before our committee every year," he said.

Smith went to work for the Senate committee April 1, 1913, at the outset of the Woodrow Wilson administration.

First Appropriation

That first year the congressional appropriations to run the government totaled $1,098,000,000 (B). In the 1965 session which ended in October the total was $119.3 billion, second highest in history. Only 1942, a World War II year, had a higher figure — $147 billion.

Over the 53 years of Smith's work with the committee, the appropriations totaled $2,191,000,000,000.

In his early years on the group, Smith was one of the three full time committee employees and he worked on all of the bills.

Committee Employee

Now, with the federal government far greater in size and much more complex, the committee has 35 staff members including one or more experts for each of the separate departmental bills.

But Smith, as chief clerk since 1938, has kept his finger on all of the measures.

Smith was brought to the Capitol by Sen. Thomas S. Martin of Virginia who was chairman of the Appropriations Committee at the time.

He was hired partly because of his knowledge of shorthand and was told only, "We want you to do some little odds and ends around the office."

Great Strain

World War I, World War II and the Korean War put the greatest strain on the Appropriations Committee during Smith's career.

He recalls that he stayed at the Capitol until 2 or 3 a.m. many nights during World War II to get emergency money bills ready for quick action by senators on the committee the next morning.

In recent years he has been slowed by failing eyesight and a hip ailment. But, even as retirement nears, he's in his office every working day.

Does he expect to enjoy retirement?

"I hope so," Smith said. "But I don't know. Sometimes on the weekends, I used to get jumpy because I didn't have anything to do."

Humphrey Begins Jaunt to Far East

Viet Nam to be Major Topic on Vice President's Overseas Trip

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey wings toward the Far East today on his first major overseas trip as vice president.

The week-long Asian journey to the Philippines, Japan, South Korea and Nationalist China may be largely ceremonial. But the war in Viet Nam, Humphrey says, will be a prime topic in his private talks with leaders of the four friendly governments.

The foreign travel may also help strengthen Humphrey's image at home, as it did for Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Although Johnson traveled to 28 countries when he was vice president, Humphrey's most talked-about trip was the one he didn't make — when Johnson sent Chief Justice Earl Warren instead of the vice president to represent the United States at Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Generally, Humphrey has been kept on a short tether, laboring as liaison between the White House and Congress and giving speeches within the United States.

Coincidentally or otherwise, the White House announced the plans for Humphrey's Asian trip after a public opinion poll whose findings apparently surprised Humphrey's staff. Johnson said he had selected Humphrey as his No. 2 man because he was equipped to be a good president. But the recent poll showed that the majority of people sampled was not as sold on Humphrey as Johnson said he was.

To accompany Humphrey to the Far East, Johnson is sending one of his own closest advisers, presidential aide Jack Valenti.

Not Front Role

Humphrey said Sunday on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters' Round-Up" that "as a vice president, you are not supposed to be at the front of the stage. I consider my role to be one of working with the President, working within the government and then to take the policies of the government out to the people to explain as best I can, as to how this government is attempting to fulfill its responsibilities on the world scene."

Humphrey will return to Washington, Jan. 2, eight days before Congress returns to work.

The Humphrey party, including Mrs. Humphrey and the vice president's youngest son, Douglas, 18, leave Andrews Air Force Base at midafternoon, stop off at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska, to refuel, and then head straight out across the Pacific for Tokyo.

Stop in Tokyo

Humphrey arrives in Tokyo Tuesday night, has a luncheon meeting with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, and then leaves in the afternoon to fly to Manila for Thursday's inauguration of Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

Humphrey leaves Manila Saturday, New Year's Day, for a stop at Formosa and a luncheon meeting with Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek. He leaves Formosa that afternoon to fly on to Korea where he will have conferences Sunday in Seoul with President Chung Hee Park before heading for home Sunday night.

Pilot Lands Failing Craft On Bridge

NEW YORK (AP)—Woodrow Leone, 47, driving his truck across the George Washington Bridge, looked in the mirror and saw an airplane.

A moment later the wingtip of the small plane, carrying two men, nicked Leone's truck and landed in the middle of the bridge. The two occupants of the plane walked away with minor injuries. Leone, from Guttenberg, N.J., was unhurt.

The pilot, Phillip Ippolito, 19, of the Bronx, told police he was going to land the single-engine plane in the Hudson River after the engine failed. But his passenger, Joseph Brennan, 39, of Hackensack, N.J., told Ippolito he couldn't swim.

The damaged plane veered off the truck and came to rest in the two center lanes of the giant bridge, which connects New York City with New Jersey. The lanes were not being used because of the light Sunday morning traffic.

'Zeony' Is Born, 'Zeonky' Awaited

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — There's a new addition to the Earl Stuber ranch just west of Phoenix. It's a zeony, a cross between a zebra and a pony.

"Stripes," a filly, was born last week. It has a zebra-shaped head, zebra stripes and a reddish brown baby fur.

"Punch," the zebra, also has been bred with a donkey, but the donkey foal won't be born for another month or so.

Then Stuber will have a zeony to go along with his zeony.

Parted Twins Have Good Chance to Live

Infants Separated 6 Hours After Birth On Christmas Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Siamese twin girls, separated in three-hour surgery shortly after birth, have a better than even chance of living, their attending pediatrician says.

The mother of the infants, when told of the emergency operation, took the news well.

The babies were born Christmas Day with a common bladder and intestines.

Sunday, as Mrs. Robin Mantonya passed her 20th birthday at one hospital, daughters Lisa Marie and Sheila Norine appeared to be holding their own at another.

Said their pediatrician 36 hours after surgery: "They're both still moving around, which is the most important sign to us. Everything is functioning, and their color is good."

Still Uncertain

The doctor added, however, "There is no way to tell what the end result will be."

The twins, together weighing 12 pounds, were born by Caesarean section at Holy Cross Hospital in suburban San Fernando, then rushed to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where a team of 18 doctors, nurses and technicians performed the surgery.

Dr. Stephen L. Gans, who assembled the team which separated the girls, said neither breathed for several minutes after birth, until mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was applied.

Dr. Gans said the babies were joined in the lower abdomen by a bridge of tissue six inches in diameter which contained a common bladder and a thin, membranous sac around intestines of both babies.

He said that the sac broke, either during or before delivery, leaving the intestines exposed to the air and hazards of bacteria. "This forced surgery immediately," he said.

The father is Gerald Mantonya, 20, a film laboratory technician.

Racial Conciliation Agency

New Community Relations Director Backs Shift to Justice Department

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The young man chosen by President Johnson to direct the Community Relations Service fully endorses its impending shift to the Justice Department.

Roger W. Wilkins, 33, discounts reports the change lowered morale in the government's racial conciliation agency. It has been in the Commerce Department since its creation by the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

He vows to bring his own "great sense of personal anguish" to bear on the plight of minority group citizens in the slums of America's big cities.

It was widely reported that acting director Calvin Kytile's resignation two weeks ago was prompted by his opposition to the impending move to Justice — which will occur automatically unless Congress objects within 60 days of submission of the reorganization plan in January.

"I've never opposed this move," the lean, intense Wilkins said in an interview. "It made a lot of sense to me in a lot of ways before the President announced it. And these reports of low morale are highly exaggerated. Sure, there was some uncertainty about the future in some people's minds. But we've only had two resignations (aside from Kytile's), and they've both been because better jobs were offered."

Wilkins, who has been community planning director in the service since October 1964, said he has been working closely with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and other top Justice officials since his nomination 10 days ago.

"I can say unequivocally that their attitude toward the service, their intentions, their support, has been total," the young lawyer said. "It's really been wonderful."

Wilkins is the nephew of Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The younger Wilkins feels President Johnson's choice of a Negro to head the 67-man agency, which Katzenbach hopes to boost near 100, "shows a lot about the President's instincts and ideals on civil rights. He showed he means business. Quite a few people thought the time wasn't ripe for having a Negro in this job."

Wilkins feels his service's task is to speed up the process of racial integration toward the ultimate goal of full and equal opportunity.

"We can bring a little different angle of vision, some technical expertise, experience from other towns. We can bring the word that it's going to happen, that that's the way the country is heading, and that it works. We've been successful in a number of places, but we've had our failures, too," he said.

Wilkins emphasized, "We don't 'fix towns.' We're dealing with a deep-seated social problem. So far, our work has been pioneering. We attracted some good professional people and went to work, with no precedent to guide us, just trying with all the energy, spirit and intelligence we had. We're gaining experience, and we've done a good many things I'm proud of."

He sought to discount speculation by some that the appointment of a Northern Negro as director means a new shift in emphasis from South to North.

"We've already been active in the North," he said, "and in 30 states, for that matter. I think our chief task is to focus on all the problems of our big cities — and the most heartrending one is the plight of minority groups in those cities. I mean Negroes, Mexican-Americans, Puerto Ricans, Indians."

Bomb Threat Delays Flight

DETROIT (AP) — An American Airlines DC6 with 61 persons aboard was delayed two hours at Metropolitan Airport Sunday night by a telephoned bomb threat.

Sheriff's Sgt. Casimer Kurek said deputies who searched the plane found a box in one piece of luggage. It contained wires and transistors, but no explosive, he said.

happened—I just know I got hit."

Smith, who termed it "the worst call I've seen in my eight years in the league," insisted he had gone by Bratkowski and merely reached back in attempt to make the tackle.

Bratkowski was sure, however, about one thing. "This has to be my biggest game, the ex-bear and ex-Ram informed, 'because I've never been in a playoff before. I've been in the league 10 years and finished second five times.'"

Reporting on his early disaster, Starr explained, "I went over to try to make the tackle on Shinnick (touchdown-bound with a Bill Anderson fumble on that ill-fated opening play.) But Shinnick had a couple of guys in front of him and I knew I wouldn't be able to make the tackle, so I tried to knock one of his blockers down, hoping somebody behind me would get him... While I was doing that, somebody caught me in the ribs. So I couldn't throw after that—it pulled along my rib cage."

Starr and Bratkowski were not the only Packers damaged in the bone-jarring imbroglio. Tight end Bill Anderson, who led all receivers with eight catches (including a 19-yard grab on the drive to that winning field goal) groggily confessed, "I don't remember much about it, but I think I almost fouled it up."

At this point, backfield coach John (Red) Cochran stopped by to congratulate him, asserting, "You did a great job today."

"I slept through it," Anderson replied with a grin, shaking his head as if to clear the cobwebs and adding, "the bell rang somewhere, I got hit in the head somewhere and everything is kind of fuzzy. But I'm all right now, but I'll have to look at the films to see what happened."

A spokesman for the defense, alternate captain Willie Davis revealed he had effected an adjustment that may have swung the balance in the overtime.

"I took the liberty myself of changing the defense," the All-Pro end said. "What I did was play head on against the tackle and let Ray Nitschke (middle linebacker) take the outside."

Davis said he made the change when Matte began to pile up yardage inside. "We were able to stack up those running plays after that," the bull-shouldered Grambling alumnus pointed out."

Balding Henry Jordan, the Packers' premier comedian, drolly summed up with, "that's about the toughest I've ever been in. I lost the rest of my hair in that one. And the worst part of it was, you never could relax."

He rose from his chair, stretched luxuriously and concluded, "great, now I can pay all my Christmas bills."

In the funeral Baltimore quarters, Billy Ray Smith was vocally bitter over that fourth quarter unsportsmanlike conduct levy against him.

"I said to the official, 'what are you calling?' Smith reported. "and he said, 'you hit the man on the head with your fist.' Those were his exact words."

Smith snorted and added, "I was running by the guy and I just reached back to try to make the tackle—the only thing I could reach was his head. The official said, 'you can't close your hand' and I said, 'how can you close your hand when you've got all that tape on it?'"

"You see that kind of thing called when a passer gets the ball off, but he (Bratkowski) had the ball. The official blew his call—it cost us the ball game. It's the worst call I've seen in my eight years in the league."

Across the room, a scribe jesting to Matte, "I suppose you'll be happy to get back to halfback?" Matte replied, "That's for darned sure. I'd rather be on the receiving end rather than the throwing end of those passes."

Asked if he hadn't been running "Woody Hayes stuff" (Matte is a former pupil of Hayes at Ohio State), Tom observed, "I don't know if it's Woody Hayes stuff or not—it's football. We called what we thought would go.... maybe we should have passed more."

Revealing that Don (Shula) had called "about 90 per cent of the plays," Matte opined, "There were some hairy calls out there today, at least I thought they were. But maybe they (the Packers) think there was some hairy calls made, too."

Hadn't it been a lonely feeling, facing this assignment with very little experience? "It's not lonely when you know the guys are behind you," he said, unhesitatingly. "And they were behind me 100 per cent.... and our coach has been behind us 1,000 per cent. He's

Detroit Nips Montreal, 1-0; Chicago Ties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four teams are fighting for first place in the tight National Hockey League race. The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are just fighting.

The Detroit Red Wings closed ground in the point race by nipping league-leading Montreal 1-0 Sunday night on Alex Delvecchio's last-minute goal, and the Toronto Maple Leafs stayed within range of the lead by playing second-place Chicago to a 1-1 standoff.

Chico Maki's power play goal midway in the last period knotted the score at Chicago checking the Maple Leafs' five-game winning streak. Toronto, slipped one point behind Detroit in the standings but remained only four short of the Hawks and five off Montreal's pace.

The Rangers and Bruins, meanwhile, staged their second straight basement battle royal.

the greatest coach I've ever been with. He's done a great job keeping us in there the last couple of weeks."

Had the Packers attempted to needle him? "No, not at all," Matte replied. "In fact, Robinson (Dave) came up and apologized after the game. He said he didn't mean to knee me when they got a 15-yard penalty on one play."

"They're good sports and a great football team," he said. "I just hope they beat Cleveland and keep it in the Western Division."

They'll Do It Every Time

'Wasn't a Fluke Last Year'

We Had to Prove We're Really Champs, Jack Kemp, of Bills, Says

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — ers, 23-0, for a second straight American Football League year.

"Last year they said we were lucky," said Buffalo quarterback Jack Kemp. "We had to prove we're really the champs."

That summed up, the locker room attitude of the Bills, who defeated the San Diego Chargers, the way we've done all year."

The play that decided it was a brilliant 74-yard touchdown on a punt return by Butch Byrd in the first quarter, moments after Kemp had thrown an 18-yard scoring pass to Ernie Warlick. "Our blocks cleared out ev-everybody near me so I headed up the sideline," said Byrd. "I was real surprised when I didn't see any Charger jerseys as I headed down the sideline."

Buffalo coach Lou Saban agreed that Byrd's run was "the play of the day."

Going to Be Tough

"I knew it was going to be tough," said Saban. "It was that kind of game."

Saban lauded the play of his linemen, saying, "We beat them in the trenches."

The front four of Tom Sestak, Ron McDole, Tom Day and Jim Dunaway contained the Chargers' top-ranked offense.

Over in the Charger dressing room, Coach Sid Gillman said: "We just got beat. We lost to a fine football team. The Bills have a real fine team. There wasn't any one factor, we just got beat."

Lance Alworth, the Charger flanker, was rubbing his rib which he believed might have been broken late in the game.

"We didn't play the way we're capable of playing for some reason," Alworth said. "They really got ready; they were fired up. We thought we were, but evidently we weren't."

Quarterback John Hadl: "We were outplayed; they kicked the hell out of us. We keep trying—what else can you do?"

Halfback Paul Lowe: "We just couldn't get the ball rolling."

Vanderbilt and Syracuse Meet In LA Tourney

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vanderbilt and Syracuse, two unbeaten teams with national championship aspirations, clash in one of the top games this week in college basketball.

By the luck of the draw the Commodores from the Southeastern Conference and the Orangemen, a leading Eastern independent, are pitted against each other Tuesday night in the completion of the first round of the Los Angeles Classic, one of the numerous holiday tournaments scheduled throughout the nation this week in every section.

The Vandy-Orange meeting also brings together two of the season's outstanding players, Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt and Dave Bing of Syracuse.

na, Wake Forest, Army, Western Kentucky, UCLA, Santa Barbara, and Northwestern.

Bing has sparked the Orange to seven in a row with conquests of Buffalo State, Buffalo U., Cornell, Kent State, Bowling Green, Penn State and Connecticut.

Suffer First Losses

Vandy's victory over Western Kentucky knocked the Hilltoppers out of the unbeaten. Syracuse's triumph over Penn State similarly toppled the Nittany Lions from the perfect group.

The Los Angeles Classic actually gets underway tonight with St. John's of New York meeting Purdue and UCLA, the national champions who have fallen out of The Associated Press Top Ten with a 4-3 record, pitted against Louisiana State. Northwestern plays Southern California in the final first round game Tuesday following the Vanderbilt-Syracuse clash.

Nine other major holiday tournaments start today. By the end of the week 23 major college affairs and numerous non-tournament games will have been decided.

Included in the latter category are the two games involving the Duke Blue Devils, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll. The Blue Devils, 7-1 to date, meet Notre Dame at Greensboro, N.C., Friday night and Wake Forest at Greensboro Saturday night.

Renting Ski Equipment Is Economical & Sensible For Beginners or Occasional Skiers!

"I've Tried Skiing and I Like It!"

How Much Will I Need to Spend for Equipment?"

That's a question we're asked hundreds of times a year. Most beginners rent equipment a time or two, until they know they want to continue. Then, it is obviously less expensive to buy equipment of your own... and far easier to progress with skis, boots and poles suited to your individual requirements. Because it is a major investment, we have thought hard about what we can do to help the novice skier get off to a happy start... at a minimum expense consistent with what we feel is important. We will never advise equipment we believe inferior... Inexpensive, yes!... but representing solid value for whatever you pay. Thus, adequate becomes the key word. We want you to have equipment that will be an advantage to you, that will give you reasonable service, and not be sheer waste. For the 2nd year, we have planned a complete basic unit for the beginning skier. Once again, we strongly feel that we have been able to make it an even better value than our previous tremendously successful units. Skis, boots, poles and release bindings... carefully chosen... and at a combined price that you won't find bettered, for equipment of equal value.

Vince Lauds Packers for 'Superb' Effort

dourly noted. "You don't belong in this league if you play a team three times and can't even beat them once."

Attempting to analyze what has transpired, the Colts' young head man emphasized that no single Baltimore play had precipitated the defeat. "You can't go into a game like this without a Johnny Unitas or a Gary Cuozzo," he pointed out, "and expect to do the same things offensively that you've been doing all season long."

Praise Matte

In this connection, he had high praise for their replacement, asserting, "I can't say enough about Matte. He's had two weeks at quarterback, and I don't think he had a fumbled exchange all day."

"We felt if we could control the ball a little, we would rely on our defense to avoid mistakes and contain the Packers. Just as we did in Los Angeles last week. That's what we tried to do."

Asked if the Colts' emphasis on the blitz might not have been costly, Shula bristled slightly before retorting, "Sure, we blitzed quite a bit, but we mixed it up a little. I thought it was very effective. They only had seven points up on the board, aside from those two field goals, didn't they?"

Shula admitted a poor pass from center in the third quarter, which forced punter Tom Gilburg into a 5-yard loss and triggered the Packers' touchdown from the Baltimore 35, "sure didn't help any," but added, "I would never pin the fact that we lost on one play."

"Some things are outstanding in a ball game and some aren't," he added, "but they mean just as much. There were some plays we could have made and we didn't make them. You look at it the other way, and they had the same situation earlier."

Although relatively calm, Shula flared up at one point—when a reporter asked him, "what program are you planning for the playoff bowl game with Dallas Jan. 9 in Miami?"

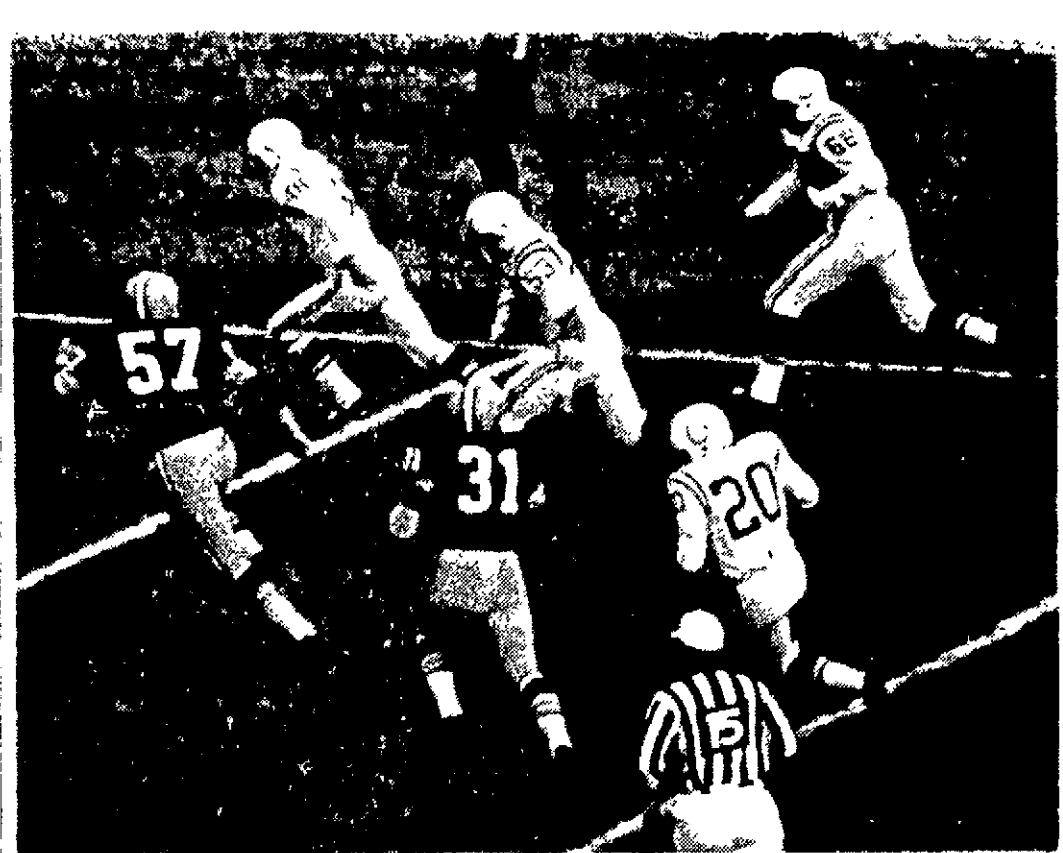

He shot back, "I was thinking about that all afternoon during the game."

When the reporter persisted, Shula growled, "forget it, will you?"

Bulgaria Announces Cure for Smokers

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Communist Bulgaria has come up with "a very efficient cure for tobacco smoking," the news agency BTA said.

Called Tabex, the new drug is taken in a three-week treatment of gradually diminishing doses. The drug helps "restore nervous balance" and makes the smoker give up his reflex of groping for his pack of cigarettes, BTA said.

Baltimore Colt Linebacker Don Shinnick (66) rambles toward touchdown territory on the first play from scrimmage in Sunday's NFL playoff game in Green Bay. Shinnick recovered a fumble by the Packers' Bill Anderson on the Bays' 25-yard line and, with the covey of blockers, raced into the end zone.

Leading Shinnick are teammates Jim Welch (46), Dennis Gaubatz (53) and Jerry Logan (20). Packers in pursuit of Shinnick are Ken Bowman (57) and Jim Taylor (31). Green Bay rallied to win in a sudden-death overtime, 13-10. (Post-Crescent News Service Photo)

Last Drive Was 'Just Great'

Game Must Have Had Tremendous Impact Across Nation, Rozelle Says

BY LEN WAGNER

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle agreed with the hard to debate consensus that it was a "great game" and appended, with perhaps a dollar sign or two blinking in the back of his mind, "particularly since it was on national television. It must have had a tremendous impact across the country."

The youthful and debonair commissioner, who watched the proceedings from a cramped corner of the crowded first level of the press box, noted, "on that last drive the Packers deserved to win. That drive was just great."

Hovering anxiously just outside the steel fence blocking the fans from the immediate area of the dressing rooms after the game was Mrs. Bart Starr, waiting with commendable patience for word of the extent of her wounded husband's injury.

"I have to admit I had mixed emotions today," Cherry smiled after being informed that Bart, although his ribs were heavily bandaged, appeared to be well in the dressing room.

"I'm just awfully happy that we won but I worried about Bart and I wish he had been able to contribute more," she said. "You know, just yesterday he was saying it seemed like the Lord was giving him a second chance. He still feels bad about the interception that let the Colts beat us last year."

Baltimore beat the Packers, 21-20, here last year when Don Shinnick intercepted a Starr pass in the final minute to preserve a 21-20 decision.

"But Zeke did just a great job today," the beauteous Cherry Starr continued, "and I'm happy for him. We're very good friends with the Bratkowski's you know."

As a matter of fact, the Bratkowski's were the Starr's guests Christmas day.

Green Bay Mayor Don Tilleman, a hatless spectator in the freezing temperatures, refrained from calling the game by the expected "great," performing instead to call it "a beauty."

The smiling first citizen of titletown, in a merry mood after the victory, confessed, "I think I prayed harder and longer out here this afternoon than I did in church this morning."

It comes as no surprise to see unrelenting campaigner Senator Bill Proxmire hand shaking outside the stadium ... also among the spectators was Gov. Warren Knowles ... the press box was jammed with 65 writers representing 15 cities, primarily Cleveland, New York, Chicago and Minneapolis in addition to the principals ... among the "press" observers was former Green Bay sportscaster Bill Howard, now of Salt Lake City, Utah, who detoured from a basketball trip with the University of Utah to take in the playoff.

... Another easily recognizable spectator was the legendary Johnny Blood ... The most popular wearing apparel, outside of long underwear, must have been the green and gold "Packer" stocking caps seen all over the stadium. The stadium area temperature, 32 degrees at the kickoff, dropped to 28 by the time the second half started and was 26 at the end of the game ... the Packers received one of the biggest ovations of the season when they broke from the tunnel ... and Paul Hornung, taking a lonesome sprint down the sidelines in a final warmup effort just before the kickoff, was given a rousing hand ... so was Bob Long when he entered the game for the first time ... the crowd was about 400 under capacity and it included about 7,500 Milwaukee-game season ticket holders.

about the interception that let the Colts beat us last year.

Prospects of a cooling off of hostilities in Viet Nam led to selling of defense issues last week. They recovered briskly. Boeing was up nearly 4, Douglas and McDonnell Aircraft 3 or better, General Dynamics about 2.

Growth of Paper Trade To Continue

NEW YORK (AP)—John R. Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah, Wis., predicts that the paper and paperboard industry will continue to grow with the economy in 1966 and post a 4 per cent increase in the first half.

"Every indication is that the vitality of 1965, in both the general economy and the paper industry, will carry forward into the first six months of 1966," Kimberly said.

He forecast that Americans would use 50 million tons of paper and products next year, compared with 48 million tons in 1965.

Chamberlain Leads 76ers to 121-107 Win Over Warriors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers are getting much needed help from their newest playmaker — Wilt Chamberlain.

Chamberlain, who has been displaying his versatility by moving into the No. 10 spot among the National Basketball Association's assists leaders this season, continued in his new role Sunday night as he led the 76ers to a 121-107 victory over San Francisco.

Chamberlain scored 33 points, pulled down 17 rebounds, blocked 16 shots and officially received credit for eight assists.

The victory kept the third-place 76ers one-half game behind Cincinnati in the Eastern Division race.

One-Man Gang

The Royals downed St. Louis 117-115 on Oscar Robertson's last-second shot. First-place Boston rode Sam Jones' hot-shooting to a 120-99 victory over Baltimore in the only other game scheduled.

Chamberlain, a virtual one-man gang, got just enough assistance from Chel Walker and Bill Cunningham. Walker scored 13 points in the first quarter and Cunningham, who wound up with 19, led the 76ers in the third period when San Francisco threatened.

Guy Rodgers was high man for the Warriors with 31 points. Robertson missed a shot with five seconds left against the Hawks, then got the ball back after Jerry Lucas' tip-in failed and sank the winning basket.

Robertson finished with 37 points, and Lucas scored 24. Bill Bridges topped St. Louis with 21.

Jones scored 12 points in the last five minutes of the second period as the Celtics built a 63-56 halftime lead, then came off the bench and hit two free throws and a basket in the fourth period after the Bullets had closed to within 90-88.

Jones scored a game high 34 points. Bailey Howell and Johnny Green shared honors for Baltimore with 18 each.

Defense Issues Lead Market

Other Shares Are Irregularly Traded In Early Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense issues snapped back as the Viet Nam cease-fire fizzled out while the rest of the stock market pursued an irregular course early this afternoon.

Airlines, which underwent some severe profit taking last week, also came back strongly.

A number of other stocks which slipped away some of their big gains of the past few months hit the comeback trail. The market as a whole, however, was a very spotty affair.

Weakness in a number of blue chips tugged at the averages. Steels were uneven despite forecasts of booming steel production in 1966.

Coppers and other nonferrous metals advanced moderately. Copper commodity futures were strong.

AP Average

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1 at 357.6 with industrials up .2, rails unchanged and utilities off .7.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 967.09.

American Telephone sank more than a point amid published discussion of the federal investigation of its rate structure. Du Pont also lost a point. These blue chips weigh heavily in averages. They were countered partially by Jersey Standard's 1-point gain and a snap back of about 2½ by United Aircraft, a pivotal stock in market indicators.

Chamberlain Leads 76ers to 121-107 Win Over Warriors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers are getting much needed help from their newest playmaker — Wilt Chamberlain.

Chamberlain, who has been displaying his versatility by moving into the No. 10 spot among the National Basketball Association's assists leaders this season, continued in his new role Sunday night as he led the 76ers to a 121-107 victory over San Francisco.

Chamberlain scored 33 points, pulled down 17 rebounds, blocked 16 shots and officially received credit for eight assists.

The victory kept the third-place 76ers one-half game behind Cincinnati in the Eastern Division race.

One-Man Gang

The Royals downed St. Louis 117-115 on Oscar Robertson's last-second shot. First-place Boston rode Sam Jones' hot-shooting to a 120-99 victory over Baltimore in the only other game scheduled.

Chamberlain, a virtual one-man gang, got just enough assistance from Chel Walker and Bill Cunningham. Walker scored 13 points in the first quarter and Cunningham, who wound up with 19, led the 76ers in the third period when San Francisco threatened.

Guy Rodgers was high man for the Warriors with 31 points. Robertson missed a shot with five seconds left against the Hawks, then got the ball back after Jerry Lucas' tip-in failed and sank the winning basket.

Robertson finished with 37 points, and Lucas scored 24. Bill Bridges topped St. Louis with 21.

Jones scored 12 points in the last five minutes of the second period as the Celtics built a 63-56 halftime lead, then came off the bench and hit two free throws and a basket in the fourth period after the Bullets had closed to within 90-88.

Jones scored a game high 34 points. Bailey Howell and Johnny Green shared honors for Baltimore with 18 each.

Your Money's Worth

High Employment Brings New Problems

BY SYLVIA PORTER

For almost 10 years, we have been striving to achieve today's "problems": an over-all unemployment rate down to around 4 per cent, with unemployment among married men down to a virtual minimum; an economy booming along at close to full capacity, with businessmen investing record amounts to modernize and add to productive capacity.

Porter

Throughout this entire upturn of 1961-66, these two "problems" have been the basic objectives of administration and congressional economy policy actions. The goal of fiscal policy has been multi-billion dollar tax reduction in the face of persistent budget deficits. The goal of monetary policy has been ample supply of credit at comparatively inexpensive interest rates to encourage business and consumer borrowing. At the same time Congress has passed unprecedented laws to educate, train and retrain workers, to rehabilitate distressed areas, to spur business investments in plants and equipment.

We're Worried

The list of actions is extraordinarily varied, long and impressive — and the actions have worked. Today, as we approach the 59th month of uninterrupted business upturn, we finally are achieving our employment and production goals. But instead of reveling in our good fortune, we are worrying that our economy may become too buoyant and that high employment and production will bring back inflation. Because of these dangers the economic policy "mix" which has propelled us toward our goals is being drastically changed.

Had it not been for the sharp buildup in Viet Nam spending, the odds are we would not be so concerned about inflation now. It isn't necessary to get into the guessing game about the precise size of the administrative budget. For almost 10 years, we have been striving to achieve today's "problems": an over-all unemployment rate down to around 4 per cent, with unemployment among married men down to a virtual minimum; an economy booming along at close to full capacity, with businessmen investing record amounts to modernize and add to productive capacity.

So the fiscal policies which have fueled our upturn for so long are being drastically changed.

'Guns and Butter'

For the first time in many years, a choice between "guns and butter" is being seriously debated. Should some Great Society programs be shelved and others cut back to offset the rise in military spending? Or should income taxes be hiked to cover the higher military spending? My preference is for cutbacks in programs that are not urgently needed in an economy operating at a boom level and it would be comforting to have projects on the shelf for immediate use if and when the economy slows. There also is the danger that we might slam on the brakes too hard if higher federal income taxes are imposed while Social Security taxes are rising steeply and state and local taxes are zooming. But the decisions are still to be made in Washington.

Meanwhile, the monetary policies which have fueled our upturn for so long are being drastically changed as well.

Interest Rates Higher

The availability of credit has been reduced in the face of skyrocketing demands for credit. Interest rates have been boosted to historically high marks. The aim of monetary policy is to discourage some borrowing in this period.

In addition, it's a certainty that the President's economic messages next month will emphasize to a new degree the imperative need for restraint in price and wage increases.

The diplomatic, political, emotional agonies of Viet Nam need no explanation — and now the war is also taking much of the "economic joy" out of our prosperity. It's irony indeed that, because of this war, the achievements of prosperity are turning out to be the problems of prosperity.

At Least 54 Fleers Killed

Gunplay Earnest Since Wall Built Across Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Year after year Germans have been shooting Germans along the borders of their former capital and at the wall that cuts it in two.

The gunplay has been in deadly earnest ever since the East German Communists more than four years ago built the wall to stop a flow of refugees that was bleeding their Soviet-backed state of badly needed manpower.

The four-year toll at the 10-mile wall and along 90 miles of fence separating West Berlin from East Germany is 54 officially confirmed deaths.

"We know the death toll to be at least three times that figure," Ernst Lemmer, former minister for refugee affairs, has said. Many more have been injured.

Do As Ordered

Some say it is the nature of the German to do blindly what he is ordered to do and thus keep up this kind of killing.

West Berlin police, however, say the East Germans do much more shooting to the side or in the air than shooting to kill.

Capt. Heinz Hackbarth, a political specialist for the West Berlin police, comments: "If the East German border guards always aimed to kill or maim every time they see, hear or suspect a refugee, there would be a bloodbath far worse than we have had."

Since August 1961, when the wall was built, about 3,500 persons have managed to make it across into West Berlin. Some have spectacular escape adventures, but most of the estimated 6 to 15 who daily attempt to have come across take advantage as best they can of darkness, fog or what little natural cover the Reds have left standing.

Many never make it past the 300-yard "death strip" that the Communists have thrown around West Berlin.

West Berlin police list more than 2,000 persons known to have been arrested on the Communist side of the wall and 1,000 more captured along the East German zonal frontier. Those caught average a year in jail.

Many others simply turned back to forget it or maybe try again another day.

To stop escapes the East Germans have three Volksguard (People's Army) brigades around West Berlin. These total 14,000 men, with 3,600 always on guard.

They have 197 watch towers to aid them, plus spotlights, floodlights, flares and 211 dog stations. There are three companies of boat troops equipped with fast patrol craft.

According to West Berlin police, light machine guns mounted in the towers are intended to cover lateral gaps between the towers. For close work near the boundary itself, foot patrols have shorter-range submachine guns, tear gas grenades and antitank bazookas.

They are backed by motorcycle and truck patrols behind the "death strip." In some critical areas armored cars are brought up, especially at night.

Despite all Communist precautions, at least 435 uniformed guards have taken advantage of their posts near West Berlin to cross over.

Hackbarth says the Reds try to make sure their men do not defect — and that they shoot when they are supposed to.

"At least 80 per cent of the guards are married or have other people in East Germany who depend on them," he said. "Most of them, usually draftees serving 18 months in the army, are not Berliners."

Change Partners

"They are always paired and whenever possible never in the same pairs two days in a row so they do not become friendly."

"Then there is fear of punishment and betrayal through a network of secret police agents within their ranks."

About 400 West Berlin police are posted along the border each day. They, too, are armed with submachine guns and have tear gas grenades.

There have been 13 occasions when West Berlin police opened fire to cover a refugee in danger of getting killed. One East German guard was killed in such an exchange and three others are known to have been killed by fire from their own comrades.

Probably the saddest effect of the prolonged situation is the attitudes of the children who live directly along the border. Children play at what they see, and in Berlin they have added some original games to that of cowboys and Indians.

Wandering in and out among armed police and soldiers, border small fry, carrying toy "West Berliner-East Berliner" or "Vopo-Fluech" (Communist guard-refugee).

Christmas Traffic Toll Tops All-Time Holiday Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's three-day Christmas traffic death toll broke all records for holiday fatalities on the highways.

The death toll reached 707 today as late reports were verified. The previous record traffic toll was 706 for a four-day Christmas weekend in 1956.

Before the holiday, the National Safety Council had estimated

deaths would run between 560 and 660.

The toll included records in a number of individual states. In Ohio, the state safety director, Warren C. Nelson, said the 49 deaths made the highest toll for any weekend in 1965 and perhaps the highest since records have been kept. Louisiana's superintendent of public safety, Thomas Burbanks, said that state's 32 was the worst toll since state police began keeping records 25 years ago.

State Toll

Eleven deaths during the Christmas holiday have raised Wisconsin's year-long traffic toll past 1,000 for the second time. The holiday period death count exceeded the eight reported for the same span last year. The highest toll for the Christmas period in recent years was 17 in 1960 and 1961. The accidents showed the 1965 count to 1,007, compared with 1,053 on this date a year ago. The final toll for 1964 was 1,059 — the first time Wisconsin's highway fatality count had risen above 1,000.

Merlin Schulz, 30, of Watertown was injured fatally Sunday night when he was struck by a car as he was changing a rear tire on his car along Highway 33 about one mile west of Horicon.

The driver of the other car told Dodge County traffic officers that two automobiles were coming toward him and he did not see Schulz until it was too late.

Died in Hospital

In Schulz' car were his wife, three children and another couple. He died two hours later in a Beaver Dam hospital.

Bradley L. Koch Jr., 21, Milwaukee, died in a Wausau hospital Sunday after his car struck a utility pole along old Highway 51 eight miles south of Wausau.

Mark Shimek, 20, Wauwatosa, was killed Christmas afternoon when his car hit the side of a Chicago & North Western passenger train at a crossing north of Angelica in Shawano County. The conductor leaped from the train to rescue Shimek's wife.

New Year's Cease-Fire

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican diplomats were reported today working to encourage a possible New Year's truce for Viet Nam as a new step in the personal peace campaign of Pope Paul VI.

Vatican informants said that while the Pope was disappointed that the Christmas truce had been short-lived, he was encouraged that at least some results had been achieved in answer to his cease-fire plea.

It was said that both the Pope and his corps of diplomatic advisers felt that the resumption of fighting did not in itself rule out further progress toward the start of negotiations.

Vatican diplomats were said to have been instructed to set up secret contacts with both sides in the Viet Nam war.

First Objective

The first objective reportedly was another cease-fire — possibly for New Year's Eve and Day — that might be more effective than the Christmas truce.

The Pope was reported concerned about the renewal of fighting in Viet Nam.

"He has done everything he could," a papal aide said, "and he will continue to do everything possible to promote peace in Viet Nam."

Other aides said that Vatican diplomatic activity to foster peace in Viet Nam would continue at all levels.

His first appeal came on Dec. 19, 11 days after the Viet Cong offered a 12-hour truce to begin on Christmas Eve. The Pope again pleaded for a Christmas cease-fire last Monday, Dec. 20.

Two days later the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands ordered a 30-hour Christmas truce. The U.S. announcement at the time said the order was "in keeping with the spirit of Christmas" and consistent with a similar South Vietnamese order. The South Vietnam-

The coldest weather of the season was moving into Wisconsin today.

The entire state is expected to feel the effects of the Arctic blasts tonight.

Some other temperatures Sunday night included Eau Claire, zero; Park Falls 2 above; Wausau 3, La Crosse 8, Lone Rock 9, Madison 10, Beloit-Rockford 11, Green Bay 14, Milwaukee and Racine 21.

La Crosse recorded the state high of 34 degrees Sunday, one of the few readings above the freezing mark. Racine had 32, Eau Claire and Milwaukee 30, Lone Rock and Green Bay 29, Burlington and Wausau 28, Park Falls 27, Superior 26 and Madison and Beloit-Rockford 25.

Light Snow

Some light snow developed ahead of the cold front that moved southeastward across the state. Superior reported about one inch of new snow, Green Bay about one-half inch and lesser amounts fell at Park Falls and Eau Claire and other points.

day with readings plunging toward zero or below throughout the state tonight.

The first major cold wave of the winter invaded the state on the heels of the season's first major snowstorm, a deadly assault that coated highways and burdened power lines with ice.

Electrical utility officials reported Sunday night that power had been restored to all but a few of the 40,000 homes blacked out by the storm in the Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Waukesha and West Bend areas.

At least four deaths were attributed to the storm, which struck Southern Wisconsin on Christmas Eve.

Utility Linemen

Hundreds of utility linemen and highway and street workers spent the night and much of Christmas Day clearing roads and patching power failures.

The Weather Bureau in Milwaukee estimated the storm dumped 10½ inches of snow on the state's largest city. Snow depths ranged around six inches elsewhere in southern sections of the state.

The power blackouts pocked the snow-buffed area, with 80 per cent of the homes darkened in one Milwaukee suburb. In another suburb, Franklin, electricity was not restored to one

Bombings Not Resumed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson reportedly still retained a glimmer of hope to find that the fighting in Viet Nam will not return to pre-Christmas ferocity.

The fact that the United States had not resumed bombings of North Viet Nam, even two days after the end of the cease-fire, was seen as evidence that Johnson still was seeking a peaceful settlement.

When the United States and South Viet Nam were considering last week a 30-hour Christmas cease-fire, so long as their troops were not fired upon, Johnson kept aloof from the eventual announcement and, publicly, the decision-making.

"That's a matter to be decided in Saigon," said the Texas White House.

No Comment

Johnson made no public comment on the cease-fire, even though he normally is quick to identify himself with good news.

In many quarters, his silence was interpreted as indicating reluctance to associate himself with a move that might go awry. And some observers were convinced after the cease-fire failed to hold, that this was his reasoning.

However, one source close to the President cast Johnson's aloofness in a different light by saying: "He is silent because he is listening."

In short, according to this source, Johnson said nothing because he was most interested in Hanoi's reaction. Reportedly, he did not want to cloud the atmosphere.

It was not happenstance either, it was said, that the State Department announced officially that American troops had been ordered not to fire except in self-defense, even after the and that the subsequent fighting was described as "unfortunate."

Sunday Service

Secret Service agent Cliff Hill — remembered for climbing aboard the limousine of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas at the time of the assassination — jumped from a security car and advanced on the rifle-holder with arms outstretched.

GREEN BAY (AP) — A 21-year-old man drowned early today when he broke through the ice of the Fox River as he attempted to take a short cut, across the stream just north of the Main Street bridge.

Police and firemen recovered the body of Kenneth Crooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crooks, who were unable to revive him.

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — The whereabouts of brown-haired, blue-eyed Susan Brady, 11, who disappeared Dec. 20, was a deeper mystery, if anything, today.

The only tangible clue, her gray scarf found by a mailman several blocks from home, turned out to have no bearing on her disappearance.

"I remember now that she lost that scarf two weeks ago," Mrs. Norma Brady, mother of the girl, told police.

Rabbit Hunting

"We don't know whether it's animal or human blood yet," Peterson said. He said that with rabbit season for hunters in progress, the find could mean nothing.

More than 1,000 searchers, bloodhounds and airplane spotters failed during several days of search to find any traces of the youngster.

Susan's father, James Brady, 38, voiced the theory of most investigators: "I think she was taken for a ride in an automobile." He added, "I'm hoping that she will be released and returned to us unharmed."

Police of five states were asked to check on all possibilities that the girl and a kidnaper or kidnapers might have been seen.

Seek Information

Peterson urged residents of Rockford and other nearby communities to provide information concerning sudden or unexplained disappearance of neighbors on the chance there might be a connection with Susan's disappearance.

She was last seen in late afternoon after school when she left a girl classmate's home four blocks from her own, saying she had to get home for supper.

Christmas was a dreary waiting day for the Bradys. Susan's two older brothers, Michael, 16, and Timothy, 14, said they'd wait until Susan gets home to open Christmas presents. Their gifts and Susan's were put away. There are two other children, Thomas, 9, and Nancy, 5.

63 Viet Cong Killed by U. S. Marines as Truce For Christmas Is Ended

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — For the third straight day, the United States kept its planes out of North Viet Nam's skies today, but U.S. Marines killed 63 Viet Cong in ground skirmishes after a short, interrupted Christmas truce.

The Marines reported strikes against the Communists during patrols around the big U.S. air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans reported taking light casualties.

A squad of Leathernecks pounced on about 40 Viet Cong, killing 15 at a hamlet called Quang Ha No. 1.

Marines Attacked

Two hours later a Marine platoon near Quang Ha No. 2, about two miles southward, was attacked by 75 Viet Cong armed with automatic weapons.

The Americans called in artillery support, tanks and armed helicopters. When the brief encounter was over they counted the bodies of 41 Communists.

Marines, in other scattered actions against the Reds, reported killing seven Viet Cong during the day.

Air attacks were made only on suspected Viet Cong concentrations in South Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen said. Ground action also was reported in low key for the past 24 hours.

From Washington

Beyond confirming the suspension of the aerial war which steadily had been closing in on the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial belt, U.S. officials in Saigon said only that the orders came from Washington.

This raised speculation that the pause was a new invitation to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's regime to come to the peace table. U.S. officials declined to guess how long the lull would last.

In the south, U.S. casualty lists grew.

A U.S. Army truck carrying soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division hit a mine 30 miles north of Saigon. Casualties were reported heavy.

The Viet Cong detonated a mine at a government troop barracks at Sa Dec, 70 miles southwest of Saigon, just as two Vietnamese platoons were starting the work day.

"It killed or hurt a lot of soldiers," a U.S. Army officer said.

Advisers Escape

An adjacent compound for American advisers escaped the force of the explosion. A second mine was found and disarmed.

Twenty miles southwest of the barracks, a Communist mine blew up a Jeep, killing two American soldiers and an American civilian.

The Air Force raised its toll of losses to Communist missile fire over North Viet Nam to 10 planes. A spokesman said an F4-C Phantom jet downed during an assault on the Bac Cau bridge 85 miles north of Hanoi Dec. 19 had been hit by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile. The pilot was rescued.

Some military commanders were reported concerned by the pause in air attacks since they felt it gave the Communists a

N. Y. Times Man Expelled From Poland

WARSAW (AP) — Poland is expelling David Halberstam, Warsaw correspondent for the New York Times, because of what the government describes as hostility in his reporting.

Halberstam was summoned to the Foreign Ministry today and informed that the government had decided to end his accreditation as a foreign correspondent. He was given about a week to get his personal affairs in order.

The government-controlled Polish press has attacked a number of Halberstam's stories since he became Warsaw correspondent 1½ months ago. There were also press attacks directed personally against the correspondent following his engagement and marriage last spring to Elzbieta Czerwiska, a leading actress of stage and screen.

Halberstam, 31, could not say if his wife would leave Poland when he departs. She is a Polish citizen.

Arizona Flood Victims Await Federal Aid

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Residents in flood-ravaged Arizona continued to mop up today while keeping hopeful eyes on the state Capitol for possible word of federal help.

Gov. Sam Goddard made an aerial inspection of the flood area and declared most of it a disaster area. He meets with other officials today to have the state underwrite its share of any federal aid.

C. A. Pugh, assistant regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, made his own inspection of flood-damaged areas of central, eastern and southern Arizona.

Pugh said federal funds can be made available immediately if the affected regions are declared a disaster area by President Johnson. Tucson suffered an estimated $1.25 million in damage to its trunk sewer line as the raging Rillito River ripped away two miles of the line.

Survey Shows Employment Up 6 Per Cent

Rate Rises in Outagamie County During 12 Months

Overall employment in Outagamie County, according to the Wisconsin State Employment Service, showed a gain of 6 per cent from mid-November in 1964 to mid-November in 1965.

The 57 establishments that voluntarily participate in the state's labor market program report an increase from 13,295 to 14,120 in the one-year period. A significant gain of 7 per cent occurred in employment at manufacturing establishments, with machinery manufacturing firms leading on a net gain of almost 13 per cent.

In non-manufacturing groups, retail trade, due mostly to increased business flow and the opening of several new retail centers, enjoyed a substantial increase of 19 per cent over mid-November of 1964. The gains more than offset season declines in paper, textiles and public employment.

Seasonal Decline
The WSES predicted that total employment in the Appleton labor market area is expected to have a seasonal decline. The decline is expected to come in textiles and in the retail trades, primarily because of the post-holiday adjustment. These declines are expected to be offset to some extent by gains in the machinery manufacturing category.

In general, the WSES reports, the demand for workers, even in the present tight labor market, will tend to cover required replacements only. The demand for skilled workers remains much greater than the available supply.

As for unemployment, 606 persons were registered as job seekers, a drop from 854, or 29 per cent, under the number registered in mid-November of 1964.

"Some relaxation of hiring specifications," the WSES says, "will greatly aid in using the current supply to meet required demands."

Authorities Solve Theft, Break-ins in Outagamie Area

A burglary and theft at the old Outagamie County airport and several break-ins at two cottages have been solved by Outagamie County sheriff's investigators.

Two youths, 16 and 17, have admitted taking about $50 from an office drawer in the old airport last Jan. 7. They entered the building through an unlocked door, authorities said.

Three Appleton youths have admitted entering two cottages on the Fox River a mile east of Appleton during August and October. A fourth youth is being questioned in connection with the burglaries.

The cottages are owned by Lawrence University and Karl A. Schuetter. Several items, including antiques and liquor, were taken from the cottages. Most of the items have been recovered, authorities said.

Weekly Paper, The Nation, Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — The 100-year-old weekly magazine, The Nation, has been bought by James J. Storrow Jr.

Storrow, in announcing Sunday that he had paid an undisclosed price for the magazine to publisher George C. Kirstein, said he planned no changes in editorial policy or the staff headed by Carey McWilliams.

The Nation's circulation is listed as 28,231. The magazine was started in September 1856. Kirstein has been publisher since 1955.

Storrow is the head of Trident Films Inc., film producers, and several manufacturing concerns.

'Wilmer' Will Stand Watch In Wolf River Ice Out Contest

FREMONT — "Wilmer the Wolf Watcher" will stand vigil again this year as the Wolf River American Legion Post sponsors another "ice out" contest here.

Wilmer, a dummy, will be seated in a boat just upstream from the Fremont bridge. When the ice breaks up in spring he will pull the plug of an electric clock as he is pushed downstream by the water and ice flows.

The stopped clock determines the ice out time.

Designing and setting up Wilmer, erecting the clock and supervising the contest will be Levern Michels, chairman, assisted by Robert Gorges, Kenneth Abraham, James Boyson, Vernon Oehlke and Milton Hagedorn.

$100 First Prize
Membership tickets will be available at the business places of the area. The three closest estimates of the ice out time will be awarded prizes of $100 for first place, $50 for second and $25 for third.

The earliest ice out date was March 14, 1964 and the latest

Battle Wounds Forgotten as Marine Arrives Home for Family Christmas

BY PETER GENIESSE Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — A youthful uniformed Marine climbed out of the green station wagon, grabbed his crutches, and with the help of a life-long buddy, hobbled up to the side of his beaming mother.

Corp. William Kilishek, 21, a combat veteran who was left for dead with nine gunshot wounds by his Viet Cong attackers seven weeks ago, was home for Christmas.

When he and William Rohloff, 22, left Menasha to join the Marines almost three years ago, there was little fanfare. Few people were worried about that far-distant country called Viet Nam. The American soldiers stationed on that divided Asian peninsula were only there in an advisory capacity.

Form Escort
But the very-real war now going on in Viet Nam was brought home to Town of Menasha residents. Sirens wailed as the town's fire truck, the constable's and other town officials' cars formed an escort for Bill Kilishek and his buddy, Bill Rohloff.

Members of Menasha High School's class of 1963, the year Kilishek would have graduated if he hadn't dropped out of school to follow in his brothers' footsteps in the Marines, remembered their former classroom companion by presenting him an engraved watch.

Mrs. Dorothy Kilishek, the mother of four sons who have all served in the Armed Forces, cried with happiness as she hugged her youngest son. Bill was shaking and speechless. He thanked everyone gathered in a side room of the Wheel Inn, a bar owned by his mother at 1113 Appleton Road, and managed to wave his bandaged left hand and sighed "It's great to be home."

Lucky to Be Home
He also was lucky to be home. Last Oct. 30, Bill was manning a machine gun emplacement in a night skirmish with the Viet Cong near Da Nang, Viet Nam. The enemy attacked his sector and bursts of bullets from automatic weapons killed two of his companions. Kilishek was struck with nine bullets, three in the right shoulder, in both arms and hands and left leg. Kilishek managed to kill his attacker and take his automatic weapon before the enemy overran his position. The V-C kicked him to see if he was alive and then left him for dead.

Before his unit could drive the Viet Cong back, some 30 Marines were killed or wounded. Kilishek then crawled to the center of the defense perimeter to the aid station. Hours later he was flown to a military hospital in the Philippines and transferred the following day to a hospital at Travis AFB, Calif. Two days later he was taken to the Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Chicago.

Founder of Fuel, Supply Company Dies

Funeral Service Tuesday for John P. Laux, 90

John P. Laux, 90, 521 N. Meade St., founder of the Laux Fuel and Supply Co. in 1922, died at 8:30 p.m. Saturday after a short illness. He had been active in the firm until his death.

Born April 5, 1875 in Menasha, he had been an Appleton resident almost his entire life. He was a member of the Lions Club and the Holy Name Society of St. Therese Catholic Church.

Survivors are two daughters, four sons, one brother and two sisters.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Therese Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Joseph Cemetery. Friends may call at the Ellenbecker Funeral Home after 2 p.m. today.

Auto Strikes Parked Vehicle, Driver Hurt

LITTLE CHUTE — Thomas VanLieshout, 18, 514 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, suffered a bump on the head and laceration of the tongue when the car he was driving east on Main Street about 7:15 p.m. Sunday struck a parked vehicle owned by Merle Wagner, 25, route 1, Seymour.

VanLieshout told police an unknown auto forced him into the right hand lane and prevented him from pulling out in time to avoid striking the parked vehicle.

Damage to the cars was estimated at $800.

Icy Highways Factor In Calumet Accidents

4 Minor Mishaps Recorded in County During Heavy Snow, No One Injured

CHILTON — Slippery road conditions were listed as prime contributing factors in four minor Calumet County accidents Friday, but no one was injured.

Involved in a mishap 1 1/2 miles southeast of Chilton on State 57 at 3:40 p.m., vehicles driven by John Stechner, 33, route 1, and Robert A. Cullen, 19, route 2.

Stechner told police that a bus passed him and then the Cullen vehicle, which was moving very slowly. Stechner said he tried to stop, but skidded into the Cullen car.

Cullen reported that he started from a side road and could not get moving very well because of the slippery road. He said the bus had passed him on the right to avoid hitting him, and then the rear end of his car was hit by the Stechner vehicle.

The Stechner car was damaged in the front end and right fender, while the Cullen auto sustained damage in the front and back.

Marvin Meyer, 22, route 2, damaged the undercarriage and right side of a pickup truck he was driving when he ran off the road and landed in the ditch at 12:15 p.m. one mile south of Chilton on County Trunk G.

The front of a car driven by James B. Loehr, 17, route 2, Hilbert, was damaged at 10:45 a.m. when the vehicle left the road and struck a power pole and a mail box.

Loehr told authorities the car started to swerve in the slush six miles east of Menasha on State 114, and he lost control, with the car going off the right side of the road.

Carlos Demerath, 25, route 1, West DePere, was driving a car that hit a sign one-half mile north of Potter on State 114 and County Trunk JJ at 4:15 a.m.

Demerath said his brakes failed, the car slid across the roadway, and then hit the sign. The car was damaged on its front and underside.

Trooper Gets Deer But He Can't Keep It

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — State Trooper John T. Heffron bagged a deer four days after the season closed and couldn't claim it. A four-point buck leaped from the roadside into the hood of his cruiser while Heffron was patrolling, shattering the windshield. Private drivers who kill a deer in a collision may keep the animal, but the trooper, riding in a public vehicle, was not allowed to.

Infant Dies in Rural DePere Bedroom Fire

Short in Electric Blanket May Have Caused Blaze

DE PERE (AP) — A one-year-old boy died early today in a bedroom fire which authorities said might have been started by a short in an electric blanket in the child's crib.

The infant's mother and a neighbor were driven back by the flames and smoke as they tried to rescue the boy.

The victim was Brad Gregory Lasee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lasee Jr.

Checked Son
Mrs. Lasee said she had checked on her son an hour before midnight and found nothing wrong.

The fire was confined to the children's bedroom in the frame two-story house.

Another son, Frank, 4, was sleeping downstairs with his mother when the fire broke out.

The father, former all-conference high school football player at De Pere and a varsity player at St. Norbert College, was at work at the time.

Thomas Edwards, acting Brown County coroner, said there were indications the fire was triggered by the electric blanket.

He said further investigation was planned today.

Death was attributed to asphyxiation.

The neighbor, who was not identified, was treated for smoke inhalation suffered in his unsuccessful rescue attempt after he heard Mrs. Lasee's cries for help.

Find Death in Crash Due to Broken Neck

Dr. Oliver H. Bauman, 70, Wabeno, whose car was involved in a head-on crash a mile north of Black Creek about 5 p.m. Wednesday, died of a broken neck, a pathological examination has revealed.

Findings of Thursday's examination were announced Friday by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, who ordered the test to determine if the Wabeno dentist died of a heart attack or crash injuries.

A witness told Outagamie County traffic police that Bauman's car went onto the right shoulder of State 47, then swerved to the left into the path of a pickup truck driven by Wayne Allen, 35, route 1, Black Creek.

Also killed in the accident was Robert Dey, 33, route 1, Black Creek, a passenger in the pickup truck. He died of carbon monoxide poisoning in a fire that followed the collision.

With the official ruling on Bauman's death, the Outagamie County traffic toll now stands at 26, one short of the all-time high set in 1952 and the same number as the final 1964 count.

Embankments Being Levelled in Advance of PSC Approval for Job

NEW LONDON — It will take about 150 working days to complete the project of razing High Bridge and establishing a new grade and crossing, officials said today.

Public Service Commission approval must be given before the bridge can be razed or a new crossing established, but the city street department will cut the number of days required for the complete program by advance work to level vision areas along High and Montgomery streets.

Work on cutting down embankments along the railway right-of-way started a week ago.

About 21,000 cubic yards of earth will have to be moved by the state department, Ray Pelshek, public works director, said.

Advance Meeting
A meeting of the city and Chicago and North Western Railway Co. to discuss arrangements between the two parties on financing and legal technicalities before a joint petition of the PSC for a hearing was made. It was agreed that it would be about two weeks before any action would be taken.

The city has not heard from the railway since.

L. G. Tieman, division engineer, said he would have to take city proposals to the board of directors of the company before a petition can be made.

The only roadblock to petition at this time is railroad approval of financing and other matters asked by the city.

Joint Petition
A joint petition is not necessary, but the city and Tieman thought it would be more expedient to make a joint petition stating both positions before holding a hearing.

The entire project's estimated cost is $26,000. Figures presented at the Dec. 9 meeting are $20,000 for the city and $6,000 for the railway.

Easements have been obtained from abutting property owners clearing the way for the project. Construction costs are estimated at $17,266 and easements at $2,796.

Traffic Count Proposed in Fatal Crash

Coroner, Attorney Suggest Action in Vander Loop Death

A charge of failing to yield the right of way has been recommended against Robert McHugh, 28, route 1, Hortonville, in connection with a traffic accident Dec. 11 that resulted in the death of Todd Michael Vander Loop, 3, route 3, Kaukauna.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps today announced the findings of a coroner's inquest held Thursday. The findings were made by Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer after study of testimony.

McHugh was driver of a car that pulled onto County Trunk OO from Ballard Road and was involved in an accident with a car driven by Paul Vander Loop, 29, father of the dead boy. Vander Loop was westbound on OO.

McHugh testified Thursday that he waited at the stop sign on Ballard Road until two eastbound cars passed before he turned west onto OO. He and a passenger in his car, Miss Marilee Goffin, 1712 Melrose St., said the Vander Loop car was "two blocks away" when they pulled out.

Vander Loop and a passenger in his car, David Thiel, 24, route 11, Fremont, testified that McHugh car pulled onto OO about "75 to 100 feet ahead."

Paper Firms Sponsor Program for Students

Paper companies today issued a last call for "Operation Look Homeward," the Christmastime open-house program for vacationing college students.

Advance registrations indicated there would be a large turnout for the event, which begins at 10 a.m., Tuesday, at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, 1043 E. South River St.

"Operation Look Homeward" is being sponsored locally by seven paper manufacturing firms and the Institute. Companies participating are American Can Co., Marathon Paper Products Group of American Can Co., Appleton Coated Paper Co., Bergstrom Paper Co., Fox River Paper Corp., Kimberly-Clark Corp., Riverside Paper Corp. and Thimnany Pulp and Paper Co.

Statewide, the project is sponsored by the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, a Neenah-based association of major paper manufacturers.

Purpose is to acquaint students with papermaking career possibilities in their home communities.

The opening program Tuesday morning will include talks by D. W. Bergstrom, executive vice president of Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah, and general chairman of the Information Service; David Wiggins of the State Department of Resource Development, and Dr. Arild Miller and Arnold Grummer of the institute staff.

Students desiring to attend were urged to contact the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, 104 N. Commercial St., Neenah. However, executives said students who will not have had the opportunity to register by Tuesday morning would be welcomed also.

Winners Announced

Best Outdoor Displays Judged at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. Clifford Rafoth, 65 Brent St., won first place winner in the annual outdoor Christmas home decorations contest sponsored by the Clintonville Water and Electric utility.

Judging was done Wednesday night. Her theme, "Twelve Days of Christmas," received the prize for continuity and originality of theme and music.

Second prize winner was LeRoy Faehling, 42 S. Park St. The judges noted that the display showed good use of hand made properties with overall coverage on all aspects of Christmas.

Jim Huffman, Riverside

Drive, received third prize with the decorations displayed by his son, John. The judges said it was an original approach to mechanical cutouts with pleasant lighting, arrangements and musical continuity.

Cash prizes of $25, $15 and $10, respectively, were awarded to the winners.

Teachers Are Judges
Judges were Don Doney, Gordon Olson and Allen Mattson, all Clintonville school district teachers. They gave a special award to Harold Bruemmer, 31 Park St., for the excellent use of lighting arrangement.

They ruled Bruemmer could not receive a cash award this year as he was a third place winner in 1964.

Other honorable mention displays were those of Robert Hanson, 20th Street; Bernard Hogan, 212 Modoc St.; David Fuge, 167 N. Clinton Ave., and Fred Pandrey, 79 Hughes St.

Brillion Lions To Judge Home Decorations

BRILLION — Judging for the Lions Club sponsored holiday decorating contest will be from 7-9 p.m. today according to chairman Harrison Weaver.

City and rural homes will be judged on originality and beauty depicting the meaning of Christmas.

The 13 cash prizes to be awarded are $15, first place; $10, second place; $5, third place and 10 $2 prizes for honorable mention.

Assisting Weaver will be Wilmer Struebing, Henry Horn and Rudy Bessert.

Blacks Win 3rd Tilt in Waupaca Curling Action

WAUPACA — Skip John Hart's Blacks continued their winning ways in the high school curling league as they defeated Rick Johnson's Blues Tuesday.

The Blacks now have a 3-0 record. Rex Pop's Greens, who are also undefeated, defeated the Purples, who are skipped by Jay Kiley. The Greens now are 2-0.

Dave Holmes skipped the Whites to a 9-2 victory over the Browns, who were skipped by Lonnie Sherman.

Next action in the loop will be Jan. 3 and 4 when two rounds of games will be played.

Computer Schedules West German Trains

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A computerized train schedule brain has made its debut at Frankfurt's main railway station at a cost of $30,000 on a three-months trial basis to determine whether it can replace human information clerks.

From a list of 4,765 train connections to nearly 300 destinations in Germany and abroad, a traveler dials his destination number and presses a button for approximate departure time. In 30 seconds a sheet pops out with the essential information. There's no charge.

The Law and You

Insurance Companies Must Defend Only Covered Risks

Have you ever wondered what your insurance company must do if you are in an automobile accident and are sued? What are your responsibilities to your insurance company? What happens if you or your insurance company fails to perform these responsibilities?

The duties of you and your insurance company are controlled by the insurance policy which you buy. This insurance policy is a contract which binds both you and the insurance company to do certain things.

Let us assume that you have had an accident on the way home from work. One of the persons in the other car was injured and is now suing you. What must you do? Under the terms of most insurance policies you must notify your insurance company immediately. Upon such notification the insurance company will then take over the law suit and defend it. The company does this because under the terms of the policy it has obligated itself to do so.

The insurance company will defend the suit and if you should lose, it will pay the judgment up to the amount provided for in the policy. If the judgment is more than this, you will have to pay the difference.

The insurance company may take steps to settle the suit out of court. If it can work out a settlement, this is perfectly permissible.

At all times the company must protect your interests as well as its own. If for some reason it fails to fulfill this obligation, it may be held liable to you for your damages; but, if you fail to fulfill your duties under the contract, such as not notifying the insurance company that you were in an accident, the insurance company may not be obligated to defend your suit.

It is wise that you check your insurance policy to see what you must do when you have an accident and what the insurance must do. Also, you should know what risks are covered under the policy, since it is only those risks which are covered that the insurance policy to see what fend.

$2 million figure. The current figure of $1,564,000 will be increased $438,000 to $2,002,000.

Payments, Earnings Higher

Locally, per capita payments to the pension fund have been larger than in many parts of the country because earnings have been higher.

Data supplied by the Internal Revenue Service and the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that $16.7 billion in taxes were collected for the Social Security fund last year from the nation's working people and their employers.

Nationally, about $4.7 billion will be removed from general circulation next year as a result of the tax hike. As an offset, however, a big increase in federal spending is anticipated.

Porter also served a term as a member of the board of regents.

State Institutes Law on Theft of Trade Secrets

New Statute Imposes $5,000 Fine or Three-Year Sentence

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The employee who is tempted to purloin trade secrets such as formulas or technical processes developed in the shop or laboratory of his employer should beware.

The growing problem of theft of trade secrets has led the state to enact a new law declaring such activities criminal offenses and imposing stern penalties. The new statute is now effective.

Fine, Imprisonment

Penalties provided for such an unlawful act range from fines up to $5,000, or imprisonment up to three years, or both.

In contemporary industry, with its rapidly changing technology, security against the theft and sale of trade secrets has become a more difficult problem for corporations and proprietors.

The new statute defines a trade secret in this way:

Definition of Secret

"The whole or any portion or phase of any scientific, technical, laboratory, experimental development or manufacturing information, equipment, tooling, machinery, design, process, procedure, formula or improvement, or any business information used or for use in the

Peking Convinced U.S. Likely to Attack China

Editor's Note — U.S. reporters are barred from Red China. The writer of this dispatch, a Briton who lives in Palo Alto, Calif., has been there four times and has made films and written two books favorable to the country. This dispatch is presented to show the situation in China as he observed it on his latest trip.

By FELIX GREENE

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON (AP) — The government in Peking is convinced that a U.S. attack on China has become highly probable.

I was not told this by Mao Tse-tung or Chou En-lai, but after five weeks of recent travel through Communist China, I find this conclusion inescapable.

There is evidence that the people are being prepared for a major confrontation.

Chen-yi, the foreign minister, declared last September: "It is up to the U.S. President and the Pentagon to decide whether the United States wants a big war with China."

If the United States is determined to launch a war, he said, "they are welcome to come sooner — to come as early as tomorrow."

'We're Waiting

Empty bombast?

I don't think so. Behind this "Come on, we're waiting for you," challenge is the belief that the United States if it faces an impasse in Viet Nam and is unready to concede defeat — may, against its better military judgment, attempt to find a solution by widening the area of conflict.

Chen-yi's challenge also springs from a supreme confidence in China's defensive capacity.

Wherever I went in China I saw young people drilling and taking target practice. The civilian militiaman has been reactivated and extended so that almost everyone 18-40, women as well as men, is in training.

Every commune, every village I visited had its civilian defense unit — sturdy young peasant girls and boys becoming proficient with rifles and bayonet.

Defense in Depth

As a result, China today can mount the greatest defense-in-depth that the world has ever seen.

She could mobilize, I was told (and after what I saw I could believe it), a civilian defense army of 100 million in a matter of hours.

Britain's Field Marshal Lord Montgomery was in China in 1960. After seeing the country's

Shoplifter Gets Refunds for Loot

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Authorities say Faye Ellen Panetti, 31, of rural Silver Bay not only shoplifted merchandise this week but returned the stolen goods for a $41 refund a few hours later and then went back again to do some more shoplifting.

Store employees recognized her, however. She pleaded guilty in municipal court to a theft charge and was fined $30 by Judge Donald E. Anderson.

The civilian militia he laid down a cardinal rule of war — never commit an army to fight on the mainland of China.

The civilian militia has since been greatly extended.

But, I asked one military commander in the country, what use is all this defense manpower against bombing attacks on the cities?

His reply ran something like this: "Bombing cities cannot alone win a war. It is, of course, humanly destructive and damaging, but it cannot seriously diminish our resistance capacities."

"In Korea, the U.S. bombing had virtually no effect on the capacity of North Korea to continue the fight."

(Looking this up afterward I found that the official history of the U.S. Air Force appears to corroborate this. "In little more than a month," says this history, "U.S. bombers had neutralized all but one strategic bombing objective contributing support to the North Korea people's army" — but the war went on for another three years.)

$500 damage July 18. The vandalism occurred at the Lloyd Siewers home, 1413 E. Pershing St., while the Siewers were out of town. Damage was in nearly every room in the home, with most of the vandalism occurring in the living room where liquid floor wax and spices were poured over the keys of a new piano. Other major damage included the slashing of sofa cushions and the breaking of a wall clock. The youths, who entered the home through a basement window, told detectives they took about $1.20 in change from the home.

State Agency Warning

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Insurance Department today warned that automobile insurance rates will inevitably continue to rise unless the state finds a way of reducing the toll of deaths, injuries and property damage on the highways.

"Only when traffic accidents are reduced and claim costs go down, will automobile rates be lowered," said William Halfman of the auto casualty division of the state agency in a review of the causes of higher premiums, more selective underwriting policies and other current developments in the troubled industry.

Adequate Rates
He said the state agency will support adequate rates to prevent failures of underwriting companies, and noted that "the rates in many jurisdictions are still inadequate because the increases, when approved, frequently lag at least a whole year behind claims levels and necessitate the next year's increases."

regulatory department showed gross automobile insurance premiums in Wisconsin last year paid $148,280,000, a rise of nearly 8 per cent from the previous year, with a loss ratio of slightly more than 67 per cent.

The department officer said Wisconsin insurance rates are highly competitive, but he said "the motoring public must be made to realize that auto rates are keyed to the accidents and claims for which the public itself is responsible."

Strict Underwriting
Halfman said that with increasing rate and classification competition a more strict underwriting policy has developed among the standard auto insurance companies.

Wisconsin carriers have developed what is known as the assigned risk plan for the underwriting of sub-standard automobile insurance applicants. The rates for such insurance have been rising, although the loss ratio continues to be high. During 1964 the number of contracts handled through that cooperative system was about 17,400.

State Allocated $1.7 Million For Recreation

Local Projects To Get 40 Per Cent Of Federal Money

MADISON (AP) — Federal funds totaling $1,770,000 for Wisconsin's outdoor recreation program have been approved by the Department of Interior, L. P. Voigt, State Conservation Department director, reported today.

Forty per cent of the total will be available for counties, towns and municipalities for local projects, Voigt said. He predicted a steady flow of applications for the funds, noting that more than 200 inquiries have been received.

A citizens advisory committee has established guidelines for using the money and standards emphasizing projects close to large populations to serve the greatest number of recreation seekers.

The money, coming from the land and water conservation fund, a new federal program, will be matched by states or local units of government. Allocations range from $114,000 in Milwaukee County to a few thousand dollars in thinly populated northern counties.

Gilbertson, Gauerke, Melby, Mulder, Pike Dr. Veum and Witt are beginning the first of three-year terms on the church council. Wesley Ring was elected to fill an unexpired one-year term.

New officers will be installed at the 10:45 a.m. service next Sunday.

Knowles Names Advisory Group For UW Project

Pick Menasha Man; Council To Help in Community Program

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin will administer and coordinate the state's Community Service Program which will operate under the federal Higher Education Act of 1965, Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced today.

Knowles named an advisory council to work with the university. James H. Albertson, president of Stevens Point State University, will serve as council chairman.

Named to the council was G. Kenneth Crowell, Menasha, a member of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education and an executive vice president of Kimberly-Clark Corp.

Education Resources
The act provides for use of higher education resources, both public and private, to aid in solution of community problems, including housing, poverty, recreation, health, land use, transportation, employment of opportunities for youth. The act also furnishes matching money for purchase of equipment and remodeling of facilities.

The State Commission for Higher Educational Aids will draw up the state plan for use of the funds.

Council Members

Also appointed were UW president Fred Harvey Harrington; J. Martin Klotsche, chancellor, UW-Milwaukee; Eugene Klempell, president of River Falls State University; George A. Parkinson, director of the Milwaukee School of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education; Norman Mithy, director of the Madison School of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education; Father John Raynor, president of Marquette University; Richard Bailey, president of Northland College, and John Nash of Manitowoc, a member of the Commission for Educational Aids.

Judge Orders $500 Bond for New London Man in Traffic Courts

Bonds totaling $500 were ordered this morning for Ray Heinke, 27, route 3, New London, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on charges of speeding and operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set Jan. 12 at trial date for Heinke who pleaded innocent.

The New London man was arrested shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday by a state highway patrolman who said Heinke was speed 110 miles an hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone. The arrest was made on U.S. 45 in the Town of Horton.

Students to Get Gifts From Congress, State

Various Scholarships, Loan Programs, To be Initiated to Finance Education

Gift packages from the state legislature and the U. S. Congress are on the way to Wisconsin high school seniors and to Wisconsin college and university students. But no one will know exactly what is in the packages for several weeks.

That is the best answer, the Wisconsin State University system office in Madison reports, to questions being asked by students, parents and high school and college counselors about the new state and federal grants, scholarships, loans and part time job programs.

Students Fortunate
Financial aids directors from Wisconsin colleges and universities met recently in Madison with state and federal officials to compare notes and discuss the new programs. They returned to their campuses with this summary of the situation:

Wisconsin students are among the most fortunate in the nation, because they will benefit from new and expanded state aid programs in addition to the new federal grant, loan and job programs.

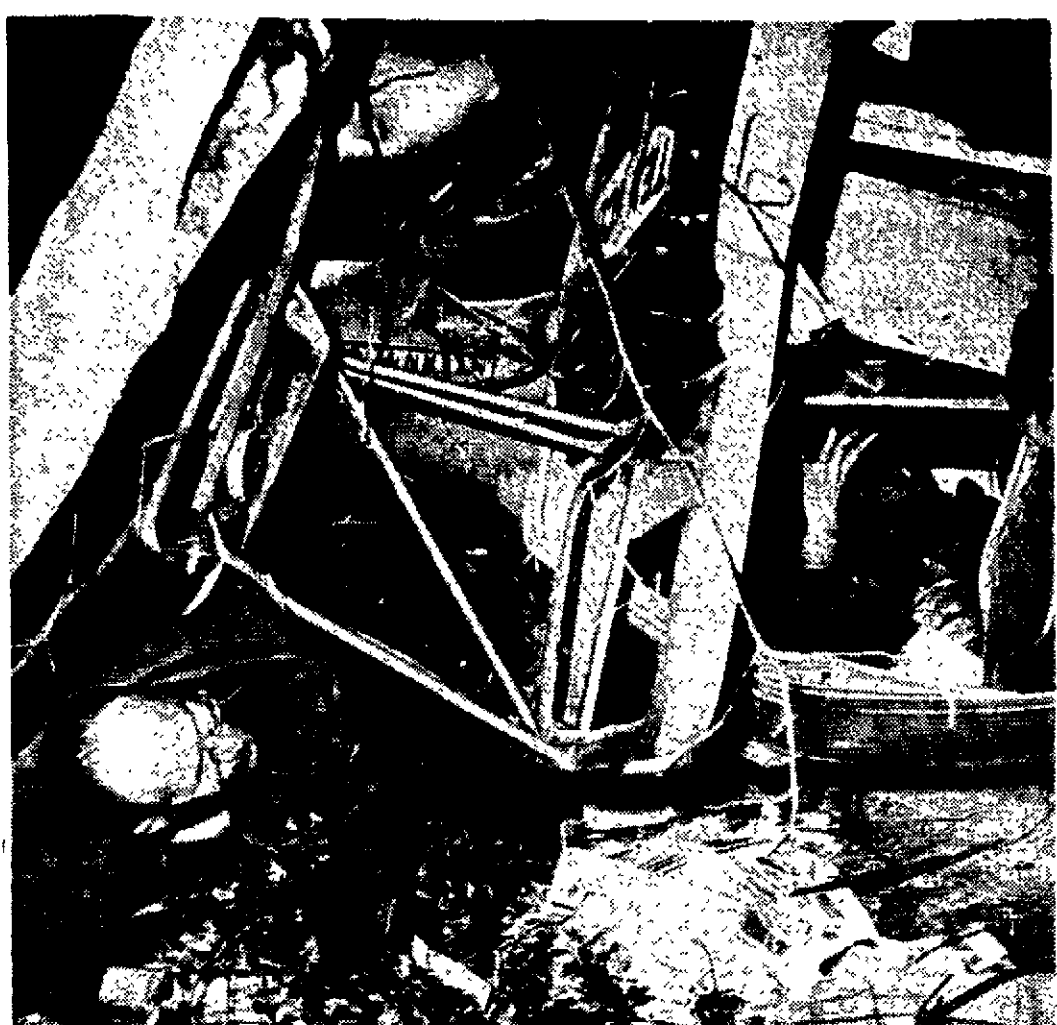

Freshmen at private colleges and universities are eligible for grants of $100 to $500 this school year, depending upon the "effective income" of their families. The program will extend to sophomores next year and to juniors, seniors and graduate students in succeeding years. Application forms have been sent to private colleges and universities by the State Higher Education Aids Commission and the first grants will be made after the end of the first semester, to cover the 1965-66 school year. Application forms for 1966-67 grants probably will go to high schools and colleges in March.

Two, four or six high school seniors in the top 10 per cent of Wisconsin public and private high school classes will receive cash scholarships of $100 to $800, depending upon their family resources and the size of the schools, to attend any approved public or private university, college, vocational school or nursing school in the state. The bill was signed Dec. 14 and an advisory committee must be named to establish ground rules for awarding the scholarships. Information will be sent to schools by the end of January. Cash scholarships to cover up to 67 per cent of a student's

Italy's Foreign Minister Quits After Criticism of Peace Try

ROME (AP)—Aminore Fanfani, president of the U.N. General Assembly, resigned today as Italy's foreign minister after a storm of criticism over his role in handling a purported North Viet Nam peace feeler which Hanoi disavowed.

The resignation of the fiery little foreign minister came only a week before a special session of the Foreign Affairs Commission of the Chamber of Deputies called to question his part as middleman in the purported peace maneuver.

Fanfani made it clear he still wants to face the commission and answer its questions.

Before Critics
He asked that his resignation become effective Jan. 6, one day after the extraordinary commission hearing, so that he can appear before his critics while still foreign minister.

Some here expressed the opinion that Premier Aldo Moro would refuse to accept the resignation as a sign of solidarity.

State Student Dies In Puerto Rico Crash

TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP)—John E. Jones, 19, of Tomahawk was killed Monday in a highway accident near San Juan, Puerto Rico, his parents were informed.

San Juan authorities said Jones, a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, was riding a motor scooter which was struck by a car while spending a holiday vacation with a friend.

Sabotage Government

Indian Reds Start Food Whisper Drive

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—Indian Communists are trying to sabotage a government plan to ease critical food shortages in eastern sections of the nation. The Reds apparently fear government success would destroy two themes they have used for years to stir agitation—food shortages and farmer grievances.

Whisper Campaign
The government plan calls for direct government purchase of rice from farmers and distribution through government-controlled ration shops.

The plan is aimed at distributing India's food shortages more evenly throughout its 480 million population, preventing isolated with Fanfani, who is of his same Christian Democrat Party but who often has been his political opponent.

In his letter of resignation Fanfani indicated that he still was convinced of the good faith of former Florence Mayor Giorgio La Pira who passed on to him the purported Hanoi peace feeler which Fanfani passed to President Johnson.

Over the past weekend a far-right magazine, Borghese, published what it called an interview with La Pira, quoting him as criticizing Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Moro, and saying communism no longer exists and Red China has only eight million bicycles. That was a reference to the late Italian dictator Benito Mussolini's brag that he had eight million bayonets.

Raised Criticism
The purported interview raised a storm of criticism. La Pira said he had been quoted out of context on remarks he made half in jest and half in paradox at a private party.

Borghese said that party was held in Fanfani's home. Fanfani said in his letter of resignation that he did not agree with the criticism of La Pira. He said, however, he felt it necessary to eliminate any doubts as to the sincerity of Italy's actions on an international level.

The wording of his letter confirmed what many who knew him had believed all along: that the veteran political gladiator had no intention whatsoever of backing down on his action in passing the peace feeler along to Johnson.

A spokesman at the United Nations in New York said Fanfani's resignation would have no effect on his position as president of the 20th session of the General Assembly, since Fanfani's official duties as president ended with the close of the session last Wednesday.

The broadcast did not mention U.S. and other foreign forces fighting alongside the South Vietnamese. But conceivably it could apply to them since their military actions are coordinated with those of the Vietnamese troops even when they are not joint operations.

There was no immediate reaction from American or Vietnamese officials to the Viet Cong broadcast.

There also was no indication how long the American air pause would last or whether the Viet Cong announcement signified a peace reaction to the American moratorium. The guerrillas have suspended hostilities in the past during the Tet celebration.

The Saigon government in the past has dismissed Communist offers of a truce for Tet as propaganda. Nevertheless, a lull has usually developed on both sides during the holiday.

Enjoy Festival
The Viet Cong broadcast said the offer would allow their "compatriots" to enjoy the Tet festival, and allow "military men and personnel of the puppet government to return to their villages, worship their ancestors and visit their family tombs."

The broadcast added an unexpected qualification to the offer. It said that "soldiers, officers and personnel of the puppet government who return to their villages must comply with the practical regulations set forth by the Liberation Front military command."

These "practical regulations" were noted detailed. When they offered a 12-hour Christmas truce, the Viet Cong said "enemy" troops must not carry weapons and must refrain from any spying.

Peace Offensive
In what appeared to be an escalation of the U.S. peace offensive, a U.S. spokesman said the United States also had suspended B52 raids on suspected Viet Cong strongholds in South Viet Nam and cut off air reconnaissance.

Traffic Toll Hits 720 for Christmas

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents killed 720 persons over the three-day Christmas weekend, the highest number ever counted for any holiday period.

The National Safety Council termed the toll a national disaster. The figure smashed the record of 706 for a 102-hour, four-day holiday weekend that had stood for nine years. The previous record also was for a Christmas observance—in 1956.

The council had estimated a death toll of between 560 and 660.

The record for a three-day holiday was 609 during the 1955 Christmas period.

Christmas 1964, also a three-day observance, brought 578 traffic deaths.

The Associated Press made a survey of traffic fatalities in a non-holiday weekend for comparison purposes. From 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, through midnight Sunday, Dec. 12, 420 traffic deaths were counted.

Cigarette Packs With Warnings In Production

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Cigarette packs bearing health warnings are rolling off production lines at some major North Carolina tobacco companies in advance of the Jan. 1 deadline required by federal law.

New packs of L&M's displaying the warnings appeared in the Raleigh area Monday. L&M's are manufactured by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. at a plant in nearby Durham.

The warning on the side panel says: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Federal legislation enacted this year requires the warning on all cigarette packs sold in the United States after Saturday.

Tokyo Stop Is First For Humphrey

Vice President Appeals for Help, Advice in 'Common Endeavors'

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Tokyo tonight on the first leg of a brief Asian tour and appealed to Japan for help and advice in "our common endeavors."

Humphrey planned an 18-hour stopover, en route to the inauguration of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos. During his Asian swing he will talk to leaders about Viet Nam but won't go there.

Met by Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima, the vice president delivered an arrival statement which appeared to anticipate Japanese calls for no-holds-barred discussions of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, a touchy subject in Japan.

Frank Consultation

"The brevity of my stay should not obscure the importance we in the United States attach to frequent and frank consultation with your leaders," he said.

"Our goals and aspirations are much the same. We share the same deep commitments to peace, liberty and the prosperity of all peoples. We value your friendship, we look for your advice, we need your help in our common endeavors."

The last sentence could have been a veiled reference to the fact that the Japanese, though still pro-American, a reluctant allies where Viet Nam is concerned.

The Japanese Communists announced plans to mobilize 10,000 persons to march in front of the U.S. Embassy in protest against Humphrey's visit. Police ruled out any demonstrations at the airport.

Humphrey is the first vice president to visit Japan since 1958, when Richard M. Nixon came here.

Nixon Visited

Humphrey will be received by Emperor Hirohito and will have a two-hour talk with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

Humphrey goes to Manila Wednesday to represent the United States at the inauguration Thursday of Philippine President-elect Ferdinand E. Marcos.

The U.S. vice president also is scheduled to meet with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea in Seoul and with President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China on Formosa. He returns to Washington Jan. 2.

Before taking off from Andrews Air Force Base Monday night, Humphrey said he hopes the talks will be both "cordial and mutually beneficial."

Prospects for War

On his first major trip since becoming vice president, Humphrey is expected to explore with the Asian leaders the future prospects for the Viet Nam war.

Humphrey and Marcos are also expected to discuss the agreement giving the United States bases in the Philippines. Several modifications of the agreement are under negotiation.

Humphrey carried with him a message from President Johnson assuring continuance of firm, strong and reliable relations with the Philippines.

Before leaving Washington, Humphrey also had a working lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk who briefed him on the situation in Northeast Asia.

Official Party

Traveling with the vice president and his wife were Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore, editor-publisher Norman Cousins of New York, presidential adviser Jack Valenti and State Department chief of protocol Lloyd Hand. All were accompanied by their wives.

Two of Japan's leading newspapers, Asahi and Yomiuri, urged Humphrey and Sato to exchange frank views on Viet Nam.

The Japanese government officially supports American action in Viet Nam but the press is almost totally against it as are many left-wing intellectuals, students and the big labor federation Sohyo.

Yomiuri urged "in strongest terms" that the United States halt raids on North Viet Nam, "search out formulas for a real truce, and through the cooperation of influential third nations create conditions for fruitful negotiations."

Asahi welcomed the vice president as "a sincere and progressive statesman" but interpreted the abrupt decision to include Japan on his itinerary as an indication that the war may be escalated further in "the near future."

Home of Kenosha Newsman Damaged In Explosion, Fire

KENOSHA (AP)—An explosion and fire damaged the home of James Barnhill, managing editor of the Kenosha News, Monday night.

Fire Chief Jerome Gumbinger, who estimated damage at $35,000, said the explosion was caused by a leak from a gas heater.

There were no injuries although Barnhill and several other people were in the house at the time of the blast.

On Sunday, Barnhill refereed the American Football League championship game in San Diego between the San Diego Chargers and the Buffalo Bills.

Vice President and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey are greeted on their arrival in Tokyo today by Japanese Prime Minister and Mrs. Eisaku Sato. Humphrey's Tokyo visit is the first leg of a brief Asian tour. He also will visit the Philippines, his next stop, Nationalist China and South Korea. (AP Wirephoto)

Severe Cold From Lakes to Maine, Rain Pounds Pacific Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds, heavy rain and snow pounded broad sections of the Pacific Northwest today.

Gale warnings were posted by the U.S. Weather Bureau from Northern California north to the Puget Sound.

Heavy rain, with winds of 50 m.p.h. and higher swept coastal sections, with biggest amounts in Northern California and southern Oregon which were hit by the damaging floods last December.

In other parts of the nation, severe cold stung wide areas from Colorado and Montana to the Great Lakes region and in northern Maine.

6 Inches Rain

Nearly six inches of rain splashed Cape Blanco, Ore., and more than three inches fell in a six-hour period in Brookings, Ore., Monday night. The Weather Bureau said heavy rain was expected to continue in northeastern California through Wednesday.

Two large barges, with no one aboard, were torn from a tug and wallowed in stormy seas 30 to 40 miles off the central Oregon coast. An oil company's drilling platform, 200 feet square, rode out 45-foot waves 25 miles off the northern Oregon coast. Some 40 men were on the barge-like platform. Winds at the time were reported to be 105 m.p.h.

A blizzard struck in the Blue Mountains of northeastern Oregon and blizzards closed Interstate 5 in southern Oregon and U.S. 97 in Northern California. Dust storms at Baker and La Grande, in eastern Oregon, changed into snow storms.

Heavy Snow

Wet, heavy snow fell in western Washington and there was much drifting in some areas. More than a foot of snow covered areas in central and northeastern Washington. Power was restored in largely rural Mason County Monday afternoon, ending a 13-hour county-wide black-

Volcano Seems Dying in Hawaii

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—Hawaii's remote Kilauea volcano still rumbles and fumes but it appears that the sudden eruption which began Christmas Eve is subsiding.

Residents of the island, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, felt slight tremors Monday — three days after bright orange and red lava fountains burst out of the volcano's Aloi crater.

But scientists said there appeared to be no further movements of lava underground.

Experts at the Hawaii Volcano Observatory are trying to determine why Kilauea erupted without apparent warning.

The Aloi crater last erupted in 1962. It is in an unpopulated area about 30 miles southwest of Hilo.

Year's Celebration Planned for Premier Church of England

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II placed a bouquet of red roses on a small altar in Westminster Abbey today to inaugurate the year-long celebration of the 900th anniversary of Britain's premier church.

The abbey was consecrated on Dec. 28, 1065, Holy Innocents Day. Edward the Confessor, who had ordered it built, died soon after without seeing the completed structure.

Since its consecration as a Benedictine monastery, the abbey has been the coronation church of all of England's monarchs but two. Elizabeth was married there in 1947 and crowned there in 1953. Thirteen British kings and five queens are buried there.

It was to honor the abbey's builder that the queen took the roses today from a cushion carried by the abbey's senior chorister and laid them on the altar near the marble tomb of King Edward.

Special Prelude

As the queen arrived with her husband, Prince Philip, her sister, Princess Margaret, and other members of the royal family, a ceremonial prelude was played on the great abbey organ. It was composed for the occasion by Sir Arthur Bliss, master of the queen's music.

Resplendently garbed officials took part in the stately ceremonial. The Archbishops of Canterbury, York, Wales and Dublin were on hand with the Primus of Scotland and representatives of other churches in Britain and overseas.

Also attending were the speaker of the House of Commons, the Lord Chancellor, members of the government and of both houses of Parliament, the lord mayor of London, diplomats and Commonwealth high commissioners.

For the anniversary, workmen gave the abbey its first real face lift in its 900 years.

Defectors Reveal Operation After Leaving Castro Merchant Marine

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four Cuban defectors, all merchant marine officers, gave U.S. agents their account today of how their nation's ships carry Red Chinese arms to North Viet Nam.

The four put on business attire, walked ashore from the 7,900-ton freighter Aracelio Iglesias Monday in Osaka, Japan, and went to the U.S. consulate where they quickly were given visas to the United States.

After a brief visit with Japanese police to show the defection was voluntary, the men issued a statement. They were then flown to Tokyo and on to San Francisco where two Defense Department men took them in tow after a short news conference.

All Ships Carry Arms

"We decided to defect because we refuse to ship military equipment," their statement read. "All Cuban-registered ships now are instructed by the Cuban government to ship military equipment to North Viet Nam."

The three junior officers stood near their captain at San Francisco Airport as Francisco Cobas Oses, 46, reiterated the earlier statement at the news conference.

"We are all married and have many children," said Oses in English. "We want them to come to the States as quickly as possible."

Oses said his ship had yet to make an arms run from China to North Viet Nam, but had received such orders while in Osaka for repairs. The next port of call was Shanghai.

Called Traitors

The Cuban Embassy in Tokyo denied the mariners' stories and called them traitors.

Standing around Oses inside the customs area at the airport were Chief Mate Antonio Ruise y Arias, 31; Chief Engineer Martin Julio Perezgiron y Zalderes, 35, and Purser Humberto Rey Fernandez y Quintano, 37.

In response to a question, Oses said they feared for their families' lives and believed the Cuban government would make life "impossible" for their relatives.

"Every Cuban knows the American people are willing to help them if they come to the States," Oses said. "I suppose other crewmen will take this step but I don't know if they would be able to do it."

"I don't know what we'll do in the States. We're just sailors."

Pieces of 8 Coins Readied By Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Spanish mint is preparing to produce a modern version of the famed old Spanish "pieces of eight" silver coins as soon as the legislature gives a go-ahead, mint officials say.

The new silver coin will have a value of 100 pesetas, or $1.66. The antique Spanish "duro" or "Spanish dollar" as it was known internationally, created by the Roman Catholic kings of Spain, was valued at five pesetas or one "duro," and was used throughout the world for trading.

Spain now has nickel coins of five, 25, and 50 pesetas, but no silver coins. Current exchange rate is approximately 60 pesetas to one U.S. dollar.

Collective Farms Get Bank Credit

MOSCOW (AP) — In the latest of its capitalist-style economic moves, the Soviet government has decided to extend direct bank credit to collective farms.

The new system, aimed at helping the farms finance operations and meet their payrolls, will start in 1966 and will be fully introduced over the next few years, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced. Up to now, the farms could not go to banks for credit and had to rely on their own resources.

Universal Language Used in Mexican Mass

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first Roman Catholic Mass ever to be officiated in Esperanto, the so-called universal language, was said at St. Hipolito temple here.

Father Jose Concepcion Lopez and two professional singers who chanted the Mass in the same language, officiated.

The Mass marked the opening of the fourth national Esperantist congress here, which was attended by some 200 delegates, most of whom were present at the Mass Sunday.

Christmas Blessings — Communist Version

The Christmas truce didn't last very long in Viet Nam. And the Communists' effort to give lip service to the idea of good will to men was shown up as phony in several places in the world.

In Viet Nam the Viet Cong raided a village during the hours that Hanoi had suggested there be no shots fired. This wasn't even a fight against soldiers but only against villagers, including children who were burned to death in the attack.

In Berlin the one way gates were opened so that West Germans could visit relatives in the eastern sector. But as usual East Germans were not allowed to go west because they might not come back. And four who tried to smash through in a car were stopped by gunfire. One bled to death almost under a lighted West Berlin Christmas tree. Another was killed and the rest were arrested by Communist border guards.

In Communist doctrine the people must learn that all blessings flow from the state. It must be pretty obvious to those living under Communist rule that major evils are also ladeled out by those in control.

The Substitutes for Bounties

The new Wisconsin legislative act which provides a new system of state grants-in-aid to the counties to replace the program of state cash bounties for the destruction of predatory animals is attracting attention across the country. A current publication of the Wildlife Management Institute distributed from its Washington headquarters calls it a "precedent-breaking action" intended to eliminate the "wasteful bounty procedure."

The Institute's summary may be slightly premature and optimistic. For the fact is that the new program of aids to counties for conservation projects of local importance includes county bounty payments as one of the options available to county boards and it already is evident that some of the local governments will choose that option. Moreover, there is a new movement in upper Wisconsin to persuade the legislature to restore the state's own bounty budget, because of claims of an excessive eruption in the population of coyotes in the northern forests and the depredations of that species upon game birds and animals.

The elimination of the bounty appropriation from the state budget was not easy. There remains a considerable body of public opinion that holds the cash bonuses for the killing of foxes and coyotes and even lynx as a legitimate function of the state conservation program. That the conservation administration is not yet wholly persuaded of public backing for its own scorn of bounties is indicated by its anxious sponsorship of the state aid program as a kind of bait to win allies for its viewpoint.

Briefly put, the state game management division holds that there is a cyclic tendency in the population of wild creatures, predators as well as the more desirable game birds and animals, and that paying out cash rewards for the destruction of a fox is at best a negligible factor in population control, and at worst a wasteful expenditure of limited funds that can be used more fruitfully in many other ways.

The conservation department hopes that the more constructive uses of bounty money can be demonstrated for the rank and file of the sportsmen to observe in their own localities, through county-sponsored environmental improvement projects. As we see it, this is a constructive and hopeful experiment worthy of general support. The bounty system is deeply entrenched in our folk mores, deriving from the earliest days of settlement in America. There will be many old timers in this state who will be difficult to convince. But the overwhelming acquiescence of professional opinion of game managers and biologists and other specialists in the country about the futility of bounties is persuasive as far as we are concerned.

Meanest Man in Two Rivers

Certainly the title of meanest man of the holiday must go to the vandal who cut down the community tree in Two Rivers sometime early on Christmas Day.

This senseless destruction is typical of vandalism. It is a wild striking out against principles that mean a lot to the majority of people. Perhaps it is somehow meant to point up the hypocrisy that does exist. But like all vandalism it doesn't accomplish anything. It only serves to set still further apart the vandal from the rest of society.

Vandalism is an increasingly serious problem in most communities today. Usually youngsters are to blame but it should not be shrugged off as just a childish prank. Anybody who repeatedly commits such acts needs help which he will not get either from the outraged reaction of other people or by condoning the act.

Inspectors and Fees

A recent footnote to the political news in this state that we overlooked at the time demands comment even tardily. The state industrial commission last month informed its considerable corps of regulatory officers that they no longer will be permitted to accept direct payment of their expenses from the firms they inspect for compliance with state laws and administrative regulations.

A commission release described the rule as a "major policy decision."

In the alternative, the agency will charge back to the companies involved the costs of the travel and other incidental expenditures involved in the inspectors' work, explained Chairman Joseph Fagan.

We have only one comment, in the form of a query. How was any system of handling such inspection costs ever permitted to develop? Most persons, we are confident, will share our surprise about the admission that state employes hired as inspection officers were ever permitted to take money directly from the establishments under supervision. The reasons are too obvious to elaborate.

Patriotic Zeal Bit Too Late

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 4, 1866.

We hardly open a Democratic newspaper of late that is not filled with violent denunciations of Sumner. Thaddeus Stevens and other radicals as enemies of the Union. How lamentable that these Democratic editors could not have manifested equal zeal during the war against enemies of the Union.

They did not display any particular animosity toward Gen. Robert E. Lee when he was leading a hostile enemy into the North. They didn't flay Jeff. Davis and associates when they were organizing a government for the express purpose of destroying the unity of the Nation.

One will search their columns in vain to find an expression of animosity towards rebels and traitors in arms, but Sumner cannot so much as wag his tongue in the Senate, or old Thad Stevens exhale a few of his notions of the status of Southern States than we have the whole guild of Democratic editors rolling up the whites of their eyes and invoking maledictions upon the heads of those incendiary radicals as foes of peace and of the Union.

Spend Millions On Eating More, Weighing Less

The old saying has it that all the world loves a fat man, but fewer people seem to be putting any faith in the statement. In North America, the extended waistline is commonly accompanied by the furrowed brow. In the words of the president of a big American food processing firm: "Never before have so many been so concerned about getting too much rather than not enough to eat.

In their eagerness to shed pounds, people often fall prey to sellers of ineffectual reducing aids. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration estimates that Americans spend about $550 million annually on worthless reducing foods. Get-thin books ring up big sales every year.

To the overweight individual, it must appear as if there is a monstrous conspiracy afoot to keep him fat and discontented.—Toronto Telegram

India Has Huge Challenge to Raise Enough Food to Feed All Its People

BY MAX FREEDMAN

Despite their caution, for which there is much justification in the history of India and in the inherent complexities of the problem, American officials have responded with warmth and generosity to the urgent case presented here by India's food mission.

Freedman

On the immediate emergency there is no division of opinion. The United States has agreed to send large shipments of grain to India to ease the suffering caused by the drought. That is a traditional, almost instinctive, American response. The Johnson administration deserves no special credit for extending this help. Any American administration would have done the same thing.

The central problem concerns the future of Indian agriculture. India until now has been unable to grow enough food to meet her needs. The partition into India and Pakistan has deprived India of important food-producing areas. In addition, there has been a sustained and grievous pressure on India's resources from the refugees streaming into India from Pakistan. The world has averted its gaze from this problem and Pakistan has often behaved as if it never existed, but to India it is a constant anxiety.

DESTITUTE ON ARRIVAL. Many of these refugees are utterly destitute on arrival, without economic skills or training, and they become an added weight on an already strained economy.

Absorbing this kind of refugee in the kind of economy which prevails in India is totally different from the problem which faced West Germany as it found new economic strength in absorbing the highly trained refugees from East Germany. This refugee problem will remain a festering anxiety while India-Pakistan relations continue to be inflamed and unreasonable.

The center of India's agricultural economy is the village. It is a stranger to the techniques which have transformed modern agriculture. Even the experts provided by the United States on so generous a scale have been unable to overcome the sad legacies left by uncounted generations of bad methods of production. Progress here must of necessity be slow and difficult, with the bulk of the work over the long years ahead having to be done by India itself rather than by benevolent outsiders. This primary fact is recognized in New Delhi no less than in Washington.

To deal with the thrusting expansion of an already huge population and a still emergent economy, is an overburdened central government. In American eyes there has been too much reliance on direction from above in obedience to plans drawn up in New Delhi. But one must be hypnotized by the dogmas of free enterprise to believe that India, with her own special needs and problems, had any real choice in this matter. Given India's situation, there had to be a great deal of governmental planning or else there would be no planning at all.

What is important for our present purposes is that India is going to combine a more vigorous national plan for agriculture with far more incentives to the farmer and the village in the production and marketing of crops. The incentives will take the form of support prices, greater use of fertilizer, new machinery and the use of the improved methods of production as developed in the government's experimental farms.

Although India's leaders are greatly interested in family planning and are showing a wise and enlightened concern with the problems of an expanding population, no system of restraints can have much effect on the present problem.

BIRTH CONTROL ESSENTIAL

Each year the increase in the population of India is equal to the total population of Australia, just as China's annual increase in equal to Canada's total population. That gives us a rough measure of the dimensions of this problem. Birth control is essential to India's future but for the next few years the primary stress must fall on better methods of food production.

Perhaps as a goad and incentive to a great national effort, the Indian government has set itself the task of becoming self-sufficient in food by the end of 1970. It is good to see India aiming high, no longer regarding a famine as an inevitable curse of nature but deriving strength of purpose from the very magnitude of the problem. Yet self-sufficiency can be a splendid psychological incentive while remaining a doubtful economic philosophy.

India can become self-sufficient in food only at the risk of distorting its industrial growth and at the penalty of losing the advantage of cheap food imports from the United States and other countries. The realistic task before India is the rapid and substantial increase in food production without caring overmuch about the dubious merits of self-sufficiency.

The Indian food mission, headed by Agricultural Minister Chidhambara Subramanian, made an excellent impression in Washington. At every stage of these negotiations Orville Freeman and his advisors in the Department of Agriculture behaved with responsibility and a wise compassion.

State, Local Tax Take Rising More Rapidly Than Federal Levies

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — That the gross yield of a taxation in Wisconsin has risen again, as the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance in a current bulletin reports, don't surprise anybody who has been paying even casual attention to government and politics lately. The real importance of the timely annual public revenue accounting of the Alliance is in the disclosure that the trend for a higher ratio of state and local taxation and a declining ratio of yield from Wisconsin to the national treasury is continuing.

Wyngaard

The federal government's share of the bounteous gross tax burden of the people of Wisconsin remains the largest. It represents about six dollars out of each ten that is yielded in the multifarious total of exactions upon the body politic.

But it may not be as generally appreciated that the share of public taxation—in Wisconsin at least—that is going to Washington is steadily shrinking, that the state and local tax load has risen more rapidly in recent years, and that, barring a large-scale war or other national disaster, that trend is almost sure to continue. At this time of the year when hundreds of thousands of Wisconsin householders are contemplating their year-end tax financing, there may also be a gentle irony in the fact that federal tax rates have been reduced lately, while there appears to be no end in sight for the acceleration of the local and state rates of tax liability.

THE TREND

To put it another way, last year the total of federal tax payments from Wisconsin rose $23 million in spite of federal tax reductions in several directions, reflecting the continuation of corporate and private earnings increases and other factors. But during the same period—and in spite of the popular impression that the colossus in the tax collecting business is Washington—the people of Wisconsin paid state and local taxes of $65 million more than the previous year.

The historical record here is illuminating. A decade ago the ratio of state and local taxes was about a third of the whole. Today it is 40 per cent. Any realistic assessment of trends in public spending within Wisconsin by state and local governments makes it probable that the ratio will rise to 50 per cent before many more years have passed, barring an unexpected expansion of the expenditures of the national government. Increasingly the idea that the national government is principally responsible for the individual's tax burden is being eroded. One day soon it appears that the state-local and federal tax obligations of the Wisconsin community will be nearly equal.

Altering the comparison somewhat is the fact of a big national debt, representing to some degree national government expenditures not financed out of current revenues. Yet that factor is also being mitigated. State and local debt has been rising rapidly also, in fact more rapidly than has the better known national debt. The state debt will soon reach, in comparative terms, a level equal to that of the national debt. Local government debt is already comparatively greater.

USEFUL

The clarity of the Alliance compilations is useful also for the reminders that the celebrated tax revision achievements within the state have actually altered the distribution of the tax burden only slightly. When the first sales tax programs were considered, for example, one of the reasons for their adoption—aside from the pressure of the spending interests—was the belief that they might bring some cut-backs in the chief producers in the family of state and local taxes. They were the property tax and the income tax.

There was some relief, at least in the sense that increases in the elder taxes were decelerated. Yet the Alliance bulletin recalls that they were comparatively modest and that the benefits were of short duration. Each of the last two legislative sessions has increased income taxes. Localities generally are again boosting property taxes. The new state sales taxes achieved with such travail are producing at a rate of one-fourth of the property tax and one-third of the state income tax.

Strictly Personal

Women Fighting War Toys Wasting Time

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My younger son is mad about weapons of all kinds—guns, spears, tanks, anything that will attack and destroy his mythical enemies. He is a one-boy annihilation squad.

Harris

In San Francisco this Christmas, the Women for Peace organized a "toy committee" to combat the manufacture and selling of war toys. The group passed out literature at shopping centers to urge support of those few stores that ban war toys.

Although I sympathize with their motives, I think they are wasting their time and efforts. There is no more reason to believe that war toys encourage a child's pugnacity any more than there is reason to believe that dirty pictures stimulate a child to sexual activity.

These women may not know that in Soviet Russia no war toys are manufactured or sold; they are prohibited by the government. Yet, this has not appreciably diminished Russia's hostility toward the West, nor has it made Russian children less bellicose in their personal relations.

It is simply too easy to blame military toys for aggressive tendencies, and to blame erotic pictures for premature sexual drives. In both cases, we are confusing a symptom with a cause—because it is easier to remove, or mask, a symptom than to get at an underlying cause.

My little boy likes war toys because he is in an aggressive psycho-social stage of life. He needs to run and jump, to kick and hit, to devastate his surroundings. If this need were too greatly repressed at his age, it would come out much more fiercely at a later (and more dangerous) age.

At that later age—in puberty, for instance—what determines how aggressive the boy is has nothing to do with the war toys he was allowed to play with. Rather, it has to do with the ways in which his surplus energies are allowed to drain off.

If he is motivated and interested in his school life and home life, he will not become delinquent. If he is bored with the limited opportunities offered in his environment, he will break windows and slash tires and beat up other boys just as bored and resentful as he is.

The young people in Russia created a revolution in 1917 because nothing else was offered them by a stagnant social system; the German youth followed Hitler in the 1890s because Germany was broke and bitter and violent nationalism was more attractive than emptiness.

The Negro youth today riot in Watts and elsewhere because they are bored and angry and have no constructive outlets for their energy. It is not the toys of war that make young people aggressive; it is the purposelessness of peace.

Newsman Reconstruct Information Flow, Stoppage in Yule Cease-Fire

By JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In the wake of the Christmas truce newsman here are reconstructing the flow of information and lack of it which led for a time Saturday to an erroneous picture of how the cease-fire was going.

For hours there was a blackout on information about truce violations by the Communist forces. The reasons for this blackout, lasting until Sunday, appear to be two-fold:

1. Because the truce had diplomatic overtones, the State Department no doubt wanted to insure strict control over all news released until a clear pattern emerged and U.S. policy could be adjusted to it. There presumably was also an effort to see whether any Communist violations reported were just isolated incidents possibly due to faulty communications.

Orders Given
Orders were given to public information officers in Viet Nam to make no releases to newsmen that were not cleared with the U.S. command here. Sources in a position to know say that reports of alleged truce violations were passed on to Washington which decided when and how they were to be released.

2. Because of a lack of clearance from Washington, the U.S. military information section here continued through Christmas Day to insist there were no truce violations except one mortar attack against the Marines. This officially was written off as a misunderstanding and not a violation. The Marines suffered no casualties in this attack.

In fact there had been 60 violations, according to a count released later by Washington and the military here. It is known that the military reporting system from the field was primed to get all incidents to Saigon and on to Washington as fast as possible.

Word Flashed
Shortly after Saturday midnight the word was flashed from Washington to begin a phased release of information.

Early Sunday information officers began calling newsmen to say there had been several low-level incidents causing some U.S. casualties during the truce period. Spokesmen declined to say whether this meant there would be no extension of the allies' 30-hour truce that ended at midnight.

It is known that the U.S. command by this time was fully aware that one Marine patrol suffered heavy casualties during one Christmas Day firefight and that tanks and supporting infantry were required to bail out a second patrol.

Enlistments Boom for U.N.C.L.E.

TV Viewers Think Agency's Real, Send Inquiries to U.N.

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—American television viewers are flooding the U.N. with inquiries about U.N.C.L.E. They think it's the espionage arm of the United Nations, and they want to enlist.

In recent months, the U.N.'s General Services Division has been deluged with letters and telephone calls from fans of the popular NBC program "The Man From U.N.C.L.E."

"It's the U.N. in the title that gets them," said Maurice Liu, director of the division. "And when they hear that bit of humor that the show would not have been possible without the help of U.N.C.L.E., they are sure we are tied up with it."

Napoleon Solo and Ilya Kuryakin work for the U.N. Command for Law and Enforcement, but the U.N. stands for United Network, not United Nations.

Teenagers Mostly
"Most of the applications come from teen-agers," said Liu, "but there are some adults, too, and they are the hardest to convince that we are not running a spy ring."

The queries come in from all over the country. One youthful applicant from Silver City, N.C., asked if he could join the spy ranks before he was 21. He wanted to know the location of the U.N.C.L.E. branch nearest his hometown.

Courteous Replies
Liu and Miss Smith, working on the assumption that the applicants are sincere, send a courteous reply expressing regret that the United Nations is not acquainted with the activities of U.N.C.L.E. They usually add discreet suggestion that the inquirer pursue the matter with NBC.

Several days ago the General Services Division got a Christmas card from a female admirer in St. Louis, Mo. It was addressed to the staff of U.N.C.L.E. and ended, "With love to Ilya and Napoleon."

At about 8:30 a.m. Sunday the military reported there had been numerous attacks and unofficially indicated the war had been resumed.

Later Release
An hour later a release said the Viet Cong had "resumed hostilities with a vengeance" after midnight and that there had been violations of the truce as early as Friday, Christmas Eve. The 30-hour allied truce went into effect at 6 p.m. Friday. The Viet Cong 12-hour truce began an hour later.

Neither side officially recognized the truce of the other.

There was still no statement on whether the war had been resumed although a spokesman later conceded that such an order had in fact been given U.S. and Vietnamese troops five hours earlier. This spokesman said the back-to-war order had been given prior to a U.S. statement in Washington that the United States would continue the truce if the Viet Cong would.

Detailed Breakdown
A detailed breakdown of alleged Communist violations was given at the regular 5 p.m. military briefing Sunday. There had been no statements since the morning releases but corps level information officers had given out details of some violations, including the chopping up of the Marine patrol just south of Da Nang.

One morning military statement declared Viet Cong violations took place "even on the eve of Christmas when the Viet Cong announced they would cease all hostilities."

A spokesman later said the Viet Cong had pretty well kept the 12-hour cease-fire they had proclaimed and that 20 incidents recorded Christmas Eve were all low-level ones. There were no claimed violations from midnight until 6 a.m. Christmas morning, the spokesman said.

The 5 p.m. briefing was a stormy one. Reporters demanded to know why they had been informed earlier that the more lengthy allied truce had not been observed by the Viet Cong. The issue was sidestepped but some information officers later offered private left-handed apologies. They said in effect that the whole thing had been pulled out of their hands by Washington.

Truce Violations
By this time the U.S. mission had done an about-face and was emphasizing truce violations. In a summary, it listed 24 Viet Cong incidents which happened after the allied truce expired, presumably based on the Washington offer not to renew the war unless the other side did.

Before the truce was to expire Christmas night, rumors were sweeping Saigon that an extension might be in the offing since officially there were no violations at the time.

How and whether the Viet Cong were made aware of American intentions subsequently released in a Washington statement were not known here.

And how seriously Washington was considering a truce extension also is murky since the gravity of the Viet Cong Christmas attacks was well known before the truce expired.

naissance of the Communist north.

North Viet Nam charged Monday that U.S. reconnaissance planes and warships intruded into its air space and territorial waters on Christmas day despite the allied truce.

The last air attack on the north was at 5:45 p.m. Christmas eve, 15 minutes before the American 30-hour cease-fire for Christmas.

State Objects To Ad Appeal

TV Commercial Shows High Speed Use of Snow-Tires

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin has voiced its objection to a television commercial which apparently shows use of snow tires at speeds of 85-90 miles an hour on icy surfaces.

The executive office reported today that at the request of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, Motor Vehicle Commissioner James Karns has lodged a protest with the tire maker.

The complaint stemmed from a letter a Wisconsin woman wrote to the governor. Karns said he received other complaints about the advertisement.

Nothing a new Wisconsin law calling for suspension of a driving license for exceeding the 55 and 65 miles per hour limits, Karns wrote in part:

"It is disturbing and disappointing to see this type of appeal in connection with a product which, properly promoted and used, could have real accident-prevention potential."

Girl Pleading Own Case Beats Speeding Charge

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Virginia Bauer, a 17-year-old high school senior with plans for a legal career, won her first case Monday and successfully defended herself against a speeding charge.

County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. commented, "You argued your case better than some attorneys," in dismissing the charge.

Miss Bauer was accused of driving 44 miles an hour in a 30 mile an hour zone.

In court she produced a small gear from the transmission of her car and a statement from a garage stating that the gear was of the wrong type. The statement added that the improper gear could cause the car's speedometer to read at least ten miles an hour off the actual speed.

Miss Bauer contended that if the car did travel at the alleged speed she was not aware of it because the improper gear was responsible for an incorrect speedometer reading. Said Herbert Sonnenberg, an assistant city attorney, "What can I say? She has said it all."

ly." He did not explain how this would be done.

McDermott said the magazine is sponsoring the mission because "reports that appear in the American press purportedly describing or attributing positions to the National Liberation Front and the DRV conflict with their reports of their position. The purpose of the trip is to clear this up."

Lynd, 36, an assistant professor of history at Yale University, has a long identification with pacifist activities. He is regarded as a leading spokesman for the "new left"—the ad hoc committees, student groups, and the lonely rebels and revolutionaries.

The mission represents the bringing together of a number of critics of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Lynd has demonstrated against the war in Viet Nam, and the magazine Viet Report is a frequent critic of American policy there. The Students for a Democratic Society has been an organizing force in the antiwar demonstrations.

The three men could face a $5,000 fine, five years in prison, or both for visiting North Viet Nam without permission from the State Department.

Organize Poor

Hayden, 26, is an organizer for the New Community Union project in Newark, N.J., which seeks to organize the poor on issues such as housing, unemployment and welfare.

Aptheker, director of the American Institute for Marxist Studies in New York, is a historian and author of two books, "A Documentary History of the Negro People in the U. S." and "American Negro Slave Revolts." In 1953 the State Department ordered his works removed from U. S. overseas libraries.

Mrs. Lynd said her husband had discussed the trip with several persons in the Yale community before leaving, including Louis Pollak, dean of the Yale Law School. The school was not told formally of his leaving.

Fact-Finding Trip

She said her husband had left this statement before departing:

"We are leaving tonight on a fact-finding trip to make contact with representatives of the FLN (Viet Cong) and the government of North Viet Nam. The invitation came to us through Dr. Herbert Aptheker, who during a conference in Helsinki last summer was invited to come to North Viet Nam bringing with him one or two persons with political viewpoints different from his own."

Continue Hunt For Missing Illinois Girl

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—An unidentified caller has told Mrs. Norma Brady that her 11-year-old daughter, Susan, is alive, but authorities have discounted it as the work of a prankster.

Susan vanished Dec. 20 only four blocks from her home.

The caller, who identified himself only as "Wakefield," called collect from Bedford, Ind. He said the girl was alive and promised to call again with more information.

He failed to do so. Bedford police found no sign of Susan and said no Wakefield was known there. Police attempted to trace the call, but were unsuccessful.

Investigators, hampered by snow, shifted their search to abandoned buildings and summer resort homes, and other buildings in a 300-square-mile area.

Corporation Ordered to Sell Holdings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consolidated Foods Corp. of Chicago must sell three grocery store chains, a drug store chain, a dairy company and a baking company under order from the Federal Trade Commission.

A consent order issued Monday by the FTC also requires Consolidated, a food processor and wholesaler, to dispose of stock it owns in four other companies which operate supermarkets.

Consolidated's acquisition of the concerns violated the law by substantially reducing competition, the FTC charged. The corporation's agreement to the order does not constitute an admission that it had been in violation.

The properties which Consolidated must sell are:

Piggly-Wiggly Midwest Co., Inc., Rockford, Ill.; Quality Food Stores Inc., Minneapolis; Eagle Food Centers Inc., Milan, Ill.; May Drug Stores Inc., Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Golden Dairy Co., Austin, Minn.; and Coin Baking Co., Rock Island, Ill.

It must dispose of the stock it owns in Good Giant Inc., Columbus, Ohio; La Porte City Foods Inc., La Porte City, Iowa; Pearson's Food Market Inc., Anamosa, Iowa; and Stockton Foods Inc., Stockton, Ill.

State Road Toll Reaches 1,010

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wisconsin's 1965 highway death toll edged closer to last year's record total today with the death of a Bayfield County man. The fatality count now is 1,010, compared with 1,055 on this day in 1964.

Norman Pederson, 52, of Washburn died Monday in a Duluth, Minn., hospital of injuries received Nov. 16 in a collision on Highway 13 in Bayfield County.

The explosion blew off the flat roof and split the side of the metal building. Windows in the structure also were blown out by the blast, police said.

FBI Called

The FBI was called in on the case which involved communications along the Minneapolis to Milwaukee and Chicago route of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Four houses are located within 200 feet of the repeater station but residents reported they heard no explosion Monday.

The repeater station is the only amplifier for calls between Oshkosh and Neenah-Menasha. The telephone company generally installs such a station every 15 miles along a circuit, depending on the type of amplification needed in an area.

Higher Taxes To Finance War Held Unlikely

Probably Would Hurt Economic Boom and
'66 Is Election Year

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — However President Johnson finally decides to finance the Viet Nam war, he is highly unlikely to call for higher taxes in January's budget.

The reason Higher taxes could bring a disastrous end to the five-year economic expansion. Consequently valued economic advisers are urging Mr. Johnson to hold off just as long as possible before pushing up taxes.

The fiscal problem, produced by escalation in Viet Nam, is real. War costs certainly will be higher than anyone dreamed a few months ago. Indeed, the full annual cost probably will not be disclosed in the budget. At any rate, the deficit for the next fiscal year is expected to be in the overgrown neighborhood of $10 billion.

How then to finance the war? President Johnson's instinctive response has been a crackdown on non-defense spending.

Cuts Not Enough

It is a great deal more than eyewash for Congressional consumption. The anti-poverty program's appropriations are being held to last year's $15 billion despite demands for vastly more. Within recent days, Budget Director Charles Schultz has shocked agency chiefs by warning that their spending requests may be sliced as much as 35 per cent.

Still, nobody knows better than Charley Schultz that a war on the scale of Viet Nam cannot be financed by reducing peacetime spending. There simply is not that much fat in the budget.

The alternatives then are to raise or not to raise taxes. Here the debate is intense, with avid support for higher taxes from two distinct, not entirely compatible, groups: the Treasury and liberal Democrats committed to heavy welfare spending for the poor.

Talk of More Taxes

The Treasury has been the source of most news leaks pushing for a tax boost. As early as last summer, top Treasury men were talking privately about tax increases. This reflexive position is taken by Treasury's career civil servants and passed on to political appointees whenever a large budget deficit looms.

The other source of pro-tax rise sentiment is more sophisticated. It includes liberals who were unhappy when President Kennedy decided to stimulate the economy by cutting taxes instead of boosting Federal spending (such as economist John Kenneth Galbraith, who now calls for tax increases).

Giving this position political bite are Democratic politicians, led by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, who even now are warning the President not to finance the Viet Nam war out of domestic programs for the poor.

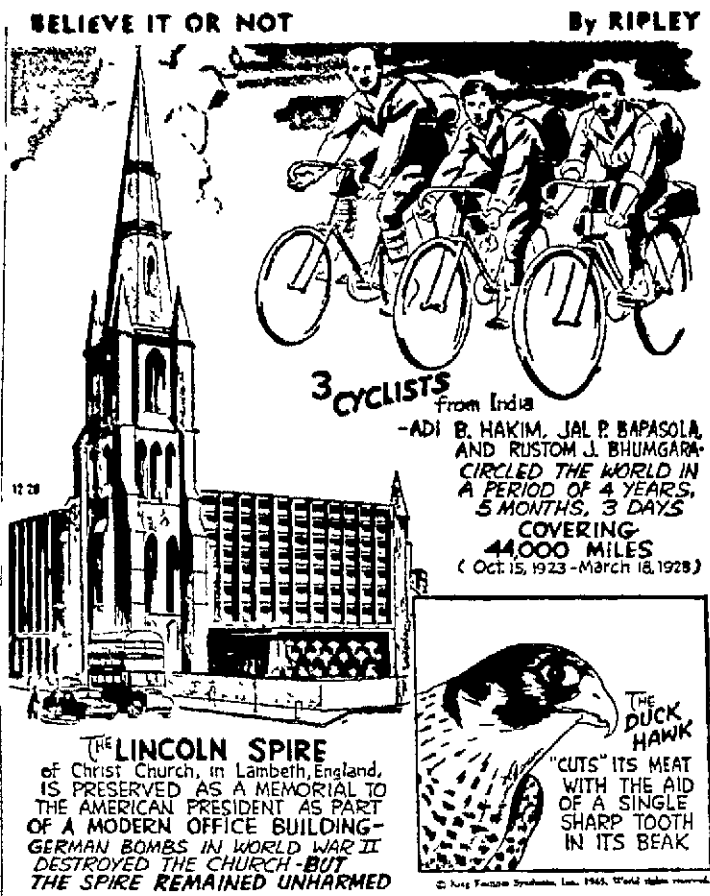

But the Kennedy liberals are far outnumbered in Congress by politicians dead set against election-year tax boosts (including key men on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who are making their views known to the White House).

Would Hurt Business

They are buttressed by Presidential advisers who warn that a tax boost in the January budget could cancel vital business investment and expansion plans, abruptly ending the business boom and perhaps ultimately increasing — not reducing — the budget deficit. An election-year tax hike would not come in personal income rates but in corporate and excise taxes. Therefore, the adverse impact on business would be all the worse.

If the President takes this advice, as now seems likely, he can hope for a cutback in Viet Nam spending next summer (highly improbable) or a continued expansion of the economy that by added tax collections will narrow the budget deficit (more likely). In the meantime, there seems no reason why the Treasury could not borrow to finance a $10 billion deficit without serious inflation.

Most curious about the current debate is the total absence of serious discussion about financing Vietnamese escalation in the White House until recent weeks. Perhaps the President's Council of Economic Advisers'

Youth on Sled Strikes Auto, Cuts Forehead

LITTLE CHUTE — Steven Brice, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Brice, 518 Vanden Broek St., Little Chute, suffered a severe laceration of the forehead and a fractured collar bone about 2 p.m. Monday when the sled he was riding collided with a car on Doyle Park.

According to police, the youth came down a hill in the park, crossed onto the roadway leading out of the park into the path of a car being driven by Daniel J. Jansen, 22, 1009 Hoover St., Little Chute. Jansen managed to avoid hitting another youth on a sled, but did not see the Brice boy due to shrubbery in the area.

The sled went under the front of the car and the boy struck his head against the car frame. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Larry's Ambulance.

Cubans, Who Want to Flee Island, Fired From Jobs

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans who want to leave this island have been fired from their jobs but Cuban officials are reported offering many of them farm work.

Qualified sources said Saturday this course of action is being followed to permit these workers to support their families until they leave the country to join relatives in the United States.

These sources said the new Cuban move followed recent orders to fire as many as possible of those who have applied for authorization to leave on the refugee airlift from Varadero to Miami, Fla.

Government officials apparently recognized the potential explosiveness of the situation

Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Monday.

Goldwater and former Rep William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee last year, agreed, however, that the mon- ey should be used to help Re- publican candidates after they have secured the party's congressional nominations.

Fear Political Collapse From Viet Nam Peace

Military Now Holds Country Together, Observers Believe

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — While the Johnson administration publicly pleads for negotiations to end the Vietnamese war, there is high-level apprehension here and in Saigon that a negotiated settlement today could be disastrous.

The reason: lack of political

organization among non-Communist elements would produce political chaos in whatever new government emerged in Saigon as a result of a settlement. And this chaos would inevitably lead to a Communist takeover by the Hanoi-oriented Viet Cong. Although a small minority of the whole population, the VC is the only disciplined political force in South Viet Nam.

Finally, the U.S. generals think they can win the war militarily and destroy the Viet Cong.

This fear, strongly reflected in private conversations with touring U.S. politicians by our top generals, has a less vocal counterpart in Washington.

More Troops

In the Pentagon, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are planning a major escalation. Both the military and some of the highest officials in the State Department, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk himself, reason that the U.S. cannot now lose the war militarily and that, in time, a South Viet Nam political framework can be constructed, welding together the main anti-Communist elements (including both Buddhists and Catholics). The right time to negotiate an end to the war is after this extraordinarily difficult political reconstruction has been achieved — not before.

One high U.S. officer in Viet Nam has been advising Congressmen that it would be "most embarrassing" if the Viet Cong and President Ho Chi Minh, of North Viet Nam, should suddenly offer to end the war without conditions. As he puts it, if both sides "threw away their guns" and the war ended, the vacuum would be filled by the only political organization in the country: the Viet Cong.

Kissinger for Negotiation

Henry Kissinger, newly returned from Saigon as a political troubleshooter for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, made this point in a recent speech to the Foreign Policy Association of New York.

Kissinger, a Harvard professor of government and cold war expert, personally favors negotiations at the earliest possible time despite this danger. But if there are no negotiations, he believes, a strong political structure can be built in South Viet Nam — even as the war continues — capable of governing after the war ends, if the U.S. makes a supreme political effort.

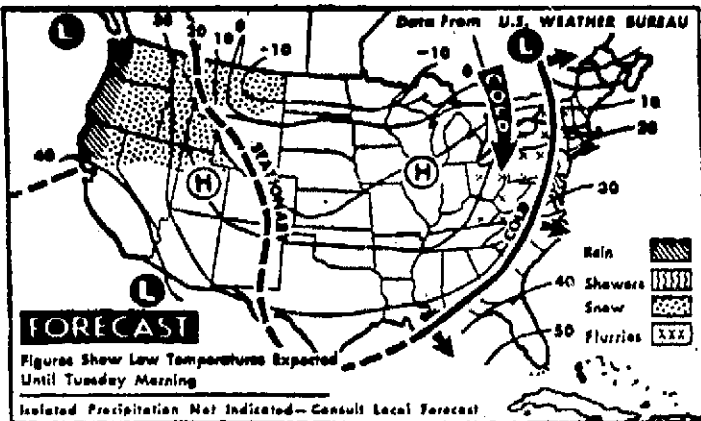

The political effort today is submerged under the military effort. The work of retired Army Gen. Edward Lansdale (a counter-guerrilla expert) has been badly hampered by a lack of political specialists and by military priorities. Kissinger recommends a quantum jump in the political effort in South Viet Nam at least equal to last July's quantum jump in the military effort.

Political Structure Bad

Judging from what they have been telling touring Congressmen, the U.S. generals agree. They know the consequences of a political failure. Gen. William Westmoreland, the Commanding General in Viet Nam, has said privately that if a military settlement were made today the political structure in Saigon would collapse unless the U.S. itself held it together.

The political settlement in neighboring Laos that followed the 1962 Geneva accords and made Laos a "neutralist" country simply isn't in the cards in South Viet Nam today.

Laos had a national leader:

Snow Flurries Are Due tonight in north and central Appalachians, lower Lakes and Ohio valley with snow due in the northwestern part of the nation. Rain is due for the Pacific coast from Washington to central California. It will be colder from the Lakes into the southern Plains and somewhat warmer in the Atlantic states and along the Pacific coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Prince Souvanna Phouma. He took charge of a coalition government. Starting out with a suspected pro-Communist bias, he was outraged by three years of systematic Communist violations of the Geneva agreement and is now pro-Western.

If Saigon had a Souvanna Phouma, a political settlement might hold together. But lacking not only a national figure of his prominence, but also an established political organization that could hold power, a settlement today would leave South Viet Nam ripe for political plunder by the Viet Cong.

This is the reason the military in Viet Nam and influential hard-liners here are not crying over the collapse of the latest "peace probe" from Hanoi.

They doubt it was genuine. But further, they don't feel South Viet Nam's political structure is ready for "peace."

Dairy Group Says Fat May be Hot Issue in 1966

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Dairy Association says the role of diet—and particularly animal fats, including milk fat—could become what it terms a "hot issue" in 1966. In a report on public relations for dairymen, the association said milk-producers have very much at stake in such a controversy. "Dairymen cannot afford," it said, "not to ask themselves the frightening question: 'What happens if the public begins to reject milk fat because the public begins to believe the advice of the American Heart Association?'" The Heart Association last June issued advice suggesting that the general public should "eat less animal (saturated) fat" because of its possible adverse effect on the heart and its blood system. The dairy group's report said "the fact is the tide is running against animal fats at the present time."

Volcano Watch Kept on Hawaii

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Scientists are keeping a 24-hour watch for earthquakes and another possible eruption of the Aloi crater of Kilauea volcano. The crater erupted unexpectedly Christmas Eve, but the bright orange and red lava fountains died down six hours later. There had been some minor earthquakes before the eruption but scientists said they had noticed none of the underground vibrations which usually precede volcanic activity. The crater is on Hawaii Island, in an unpopulated area about 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

What a stomach specialist says about grouchy stomach

A little white penny tablet fights grouchy stomach faster than even prescription-type antacids costing five times as much. This startling fact has been confirmed by scientific tests at a famous medical center. The tablet?

Today's TUMS®. You may think of TUMS as a mere candy mint. But stomach specialists know differently. TUMS beat all leading brands tested, even prescription-type brands. It's the medicine for grouchy stomach. TUMS.

Most Europeans Feel U.S. on Own In War in Viet Nam

Medical, Technical Aid, Moral Support Americans Can Expect

BY JAMES F. KING
LONDON (AP) — As far as most Europeans are concerned, Americans are largely on their own in Viet Nam.

A survey by Associated Press correspondents in West European capitals makes clear that the most the U.S. effort can expect is some medical and technical aid, official moral support — and advice.

American GIs who fight and die in Viet Nam have roused sympathy among Europeans. But nearly everyone from government leaders down seems convinced the end of the conflict can come only at the conference table and not on the battlefield.

President Johnson's repeated offers to enter into unconditional discussions with the communists strike a note in tune with European thinking. The bombing of North Viet Nam brings doubts of United States policy and some bitter criticism.

Washington's warnings of a Red China threat to Southeast Asia and world peace have not stirred noticeable apprehension among Europeans.

Viet Nam, gauged by the talk heard in European streets, pubs, coffee houses and even in newspapers, seems a long way off.

Dr. E.A. Bieri, a leading Swiss political commentator and mayor-elect of Zurich, put it this way:

Significant Distance
"It is quite understandable that we take the Viet Nam war less seriously and tragically than, for example, a Communist attack on West Berlin. Distances play a significant role. But I regard American intervention as extremely important if communism is to be halted before it spreads throughout India, Japan and Australia."

Constant Patijn, chairman of the Dutch Socialist Labor party — second largest in the Netherlands — takes a view that is heard more often privately than publicly:

"When America gets into a war, sentiments are going to play a role and the Americans are apt to see everything in black and white between Communists and anti-Communists. It becomes kind of a blind crusade. It is unrealistic to try to make South Viet Nam into an anti-Communist bastion."

British Backing
The British government is an outspoken champion of United States policy in Viet Nam among members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Other NATO allies tend to go along — except for France — but in a more tacit manner.

The NATO ministers made only a casual mention of Viet Nam in the communique closing their meeting in Paris this month. They heard Secretary of State Dean Rusk ask for any aid NATO countries could give and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara warn of a new peril from Communist China. Then the communique said:

"Turning to problems outside the Atlantic area, ministers noted that tension had diminished in some parts of the world but in Southeast Asia conflicts con-

Liquor Valued at $120
Taken in Bar Burglary

Twenty-seven bottles of liquor, valued at nearly $120, were taken during a burglary at The Ivanhoe, 1216 E. Wisconsin Ave., early Sunday.

The loss was reported to Appleton police Monday afternoon.

Entry was gained through a basement boiler room, according to police. The liquor was taken from behind the bar and from a cloak room.

Only Know,
Closed Bank Isn't

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Larry Hanson walked into a suburban Jacksonville bank intending to cash a check Monday — and found himself alone. It was closed and supposedly locked.

He tiptoed out, being careful not to set off any alarms, and called police.

Patrolman D. J. Crews, who investigated, reported that apparently the front door had been unlocked since Friday but that nothing seemed to be disturbed.

Crews said a bank official told him that the employee who usually locks the door left early Friday.

Five Children Die
In Illinois Fire

SPARTA, Ill. (AP) — Five children died in a fire that destroyed their farm home two miles east of here in rural Eden Monday.

The fire was discovered about five minutes after their mother, Melvina Bardo, had gone next door to see a neighbor. Flames and smoke drove Mrs. Bardo and neighbors back when they tried to rescue the children. Their father, Norman, was at work.

Dead are Ross Bardo, 5 months; Norman, 1 1/2 years; twin girls, Armenta and Arlene, 3, and Clayieressa, 4.

Bad Method Can Work Sometimes

Good bridge players love to save an ace until it is ripe. Bad players lead out their aces as quickly as possible. Since this column is devoted to the truth, I must report that occasionally the bad player's method works better.

South won the first trick with the jack of spades and decided to try for some diamond tricks.

Since South was a famous expert, with all of the expert's nasty habits, he began by leading a low diamond from his hand.

East won with the singleton queen of diamonds, and returned a low spade. In East's case it was quite correct to save the ace of spades for the right time.

South won with the king of spades and led his ace of diamonds. The suit didn't break, and South had to try for a club trick instead. West got in with a club and cashed his two diamonds. Then he led his last spade, and East took enough spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Start Properly

South should start the diamonds by leading the ace. When the queen drops, South can lead a low diamond toward dummy's nine. West gets two diamonds, and East gets three spades, but South makes his contract with an overtrick instead of going down one.

Leading the ace out first would work equally well if West had a singleton instead of East. South would continue with a low diamond from his hand, but would get to dummy with the king of clubs to lead the next diamond from dummy.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points); and the next player passes. You hold: S 10 9 8, H K J 4, D K J 8 7, C Q 10 9. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 NT. Since you have 10 points, you know that the combined count is 26 to 28 points; which should be enough for game.

Quick, Easy and Relatively inexpensive, this excellent pate is made from cranberry juice and liverwurst. The result resembles in taste the French delicacy, pate de fois gras or goose liver spread.

Party Fare Both Hearty, Delicious

When a "little meal" is desired, Cranberry Liver Pate fills the bill and does it elegantly.

In flavor, texture and color, Cranberry Liver Pate is reminiscent of the French delicacy, pate de fois gras. The surprise ingredient in this easy-to-snack is cranberry juice. The versatile berry adds a nice touch of color besides its tantalizing flavor to another versatile product — liverwurst.

Cranberry Liver Pate is the perfect item to serve in mid-afternoon, as a prelude to dinner, or as a late evening snack. Best of all, it's one of the few really special party concoctions which do not stretch the budget all out of proportion.

Prepare several days in advance, so that flavors are well blended. Store in a pretty crock to simplify serving. For added French flair, serve with crackers, Swiss cheese fingers, and thinly-sliced French bread. Hot Buttered Crangrog is an ideal beverage to round out a simple, but satisfying menu.

CRANBERRY LIVER PATE
1 1/2 pounds good quality liverwurst
1/2 cup soft butter
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail

1 teaspoon curry powder
Salt, marjoram, and thyme
Mash liverwurst and beat in butter and cream cheese. When well blended, gradually beat in cranberry juice. Season to taste with curry powder, salt, marjoram and thyme. Pack mixture into crock; cover tightly and store in refrigerator two days to allow flavors to blend. Serve with crackers, thin slices of French bread and fingers of Swiss cheese. Serve with Hot Buttered Crangrog.

HOT BUTTERED CRANGROG

4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 cups hot strong tea
1/2 cup dark rum
1/4 cup butter
Orange slices studded with whole cloves
Cinnamon sticks
Combine cranberry juice and tea; heat just to boiling point. Remove from heat and stir in rum and butter. Stir until butter melts. Pour grog into a heat-proof bowl and top with orange slices. Serve grog in cups with a cinnamon stick stirrer. Recipe makes six servings.

Miss Carol Kolosso Betrothal of Miss Kolosso Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kolosso, 727 W. Fourth St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Mae, to George T. Sandertoot. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sandertoot, 208 Fourth St., Neenah.

Miss Kolosso is employed at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah. Her fiance attended the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, Menasha, and is in the Army, stationed at Fort Devens, Mass.

Your Problems

Mother Points Up Tragedy Of Leaving Children in Tub

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column hits everybody sooner or later. I got mine in the letter from the grandma whose daughter left her three-year-old playing — unattended — in the bathtub.

Here is my story:

I left my three little girls in the tub while I went to give the infant his bottle. The two older girls climbed out and turned the faucet on. A few minutes later the older one came to tell me that her little sister was "asleep with her face down in the water" and wouldn't wake up.

We lived two blocks from the police station. Within minutes the police were on the scene. They rushed the child to the hospital, but it was too late.

I can still hear the voices at the funeral. "She should have known better." "What a foolish person to have left those children alone."

Ann, if you will print my letter and save just one mother the agony I went through it will be worth the heartache I am still suffering as I put these words down on paper. Thank you. — Mrs. E.

DEAR Mrs. E.: Here it is and I can add nothing except my devout wish that all mothers who read your letter will remember what they have read.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The cleaning woman who has worked for me for six years is an alcoholic. Please don't send me your booklet. I am not interested in curing her. When Ruby is stoned she cleans the house better than my other cleaning woman did when she was sober. As far as I am concerned, she can drink all she wants to. What I want to know is how I can get Ruby to quit drinking a half fifth of expensive Scotch every time she cleans the house.

I am sure she is not used to such fine liquor and when she buys the stuff herself she gets a very cheap brand. Would it be wrong for me to buy Ruby some cheap booze and tell her to leave the good stuff alone?

Don't suggest that I lock up the liquor cabinet. I did this once and she asked for the key so she could clean it thoroughly. So you see she is a smart old lush. Thanks. — Stymied

DEAR STY: Obviously, she's a lot smarter than the lady she works for.

Hasn't it occurred to you to keep the liquor cabinet locked and clean it yourself?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I told my husband that the very next before they sit down and march them right over to a restaurant. He threw three extras at me last night and I was embarrassed to death.

I am a very good cook, Ann, but I am no magician. I can't stretch a four-pound roast and a pound and a half of green beans to feed 10 people.

My husband says the salesmen he brings home are so hungry for home cooking that they'd rather have a fried egg in our house than a steak in a restaurant.

Please, oh please, tell me what to do about this. — Sick Of Surprises

DEAR SICK: Your husband

gave you the answer. Fry 'em an egg and don't make any apologies.

If your husband objects to cackle-berries for dinner tell him to bring along extra T-bones when he brings those salesmen who are so hungry for home cooking.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Spinsters, Dates at Holiday 'Spree'

High school students of the Fox Cities observed the holidays at their own semi-formal party Thursday evening. The event was the annual Spinsters Spree, sponsored by the Little Women's Circle of The King's Daughters. Held at Knights of Pythias Hall, the 'Mistletoe Magic' party provided the young people the opportunity for a gala evening with their friends.

For some, the event began at cocktail parties. Among hostesses at such pre-dance get-togethers, were Miss Vicki Kwitek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kwitek, and Miss Linda Kolosso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kolosso.

The parents of senior members of the sponsoring Circle were invited to serve as chaperones for the dance, at which the Nomads of Oshkosh provided music.

Proceeds from the party will go toward the Circle's program of charity.

Many of the Girls Presented their escorts with oversize boutonnières at the 'girl ask boy' party. Above, Jane Jenkel fastens Tom Kurtyka's flower in place. Below, Mark Catlin ladles punch for Debbie Otteson.

Crepe Paper streamers gave a festive air to KP Hall for the Spinsters Spree Thursday evening. 'Mistletoe Magic' was the theme of the annual charity dance, given by and for the teens of the area. At left, arriving at the party, foreground, are Lynn Schumacher and Peter Schultz, and, in back, Dick Miller and Sheryl Sommers. At right, in front of the tinsel trimmed tree that added a decorative Christmas touch, are Jan Gibson and Jon Van Dyke.

Fords, Friends Toast Couple's Future

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Watch the Fords go by as the game played in the Delmonico Hotel lobby Monday night as more than 400 well-heeled and well-known persons made their way to 24-year-old Anne Ford's prewedding party.

There also was vivacious, blonde Christina, whom he married in February. Along too was the bridegroom, Giancarlo Uzicelli.

The couple will be married in a civil ceremony this afternoon at Mrs. McDonnell Ford's Fifth Avenue apartment.

The family shied away from photographers and raced for the elevators. Twelve security men were assigned to protect the privacy of the party — one of the most heavily guarded parties in the hotel's history.

Another early arrival was hair stylist Marc Sinclair, who combed out daughter Anne's hair into a coiffure pulled back and long around the shoulders. The mother's hairdo was similar.

Daughter Anne had chosen a floor-length, white chalk beaded gown for the occasion while her mother wore a rose-beige costume, also twinkling with crystals and beads.

Reviewing Line

The engaged couple and parents of Anne formed a receiving line at the bottom of a stairway leading into the grand ballroom. All in all, 14 other members of the Ford family and 12 McDonnells passed through the receiving line.

surprise ceremony in Mexico City. Then he toasted his younger daughter and her stockbroker husband-to-be.

Two Bands

The Wild Ones, long-haired rock 'n' rollers, once led by Christopher, Jordan, Sybil Burton's new husband, alternated with Meyer Davis' more sedate band.

The late night supper celebration was preceded by a number of small dinner parties given by friends.

Among the guests were the Duke of Marlborough's daughter, Lady Sarah Russell; industrial designer Raymond Loewy and wife, Kitty; Mrs. Alfred Lasker; the Winston Guests; the Gilbert Millers; Mrs. Rene Bouchet; Ambassador and Mrs. John Lodge; Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan II; Mrs. Moss Hart; Gen. and Mrs. Lauris Norstad; and the former Princess Lilly Fallah of Iran, now Mrs. Francis Lawrence; and Sharmen Douglas.

Among the Fords present besides Henry II, were Mr. and Mrs. Benson Ford; William C. Ford; Walter Buhl Ford II and Walter Buhl Ford III; Miss Eleanor Clay Ford; Miss Josephine Ford; Mrs. Marnie Ford; Alfred Ford; Edson Ford, Henry's son, and Edson, Henry's brother. Most of them came here in the company plane.

Anne's grandmother, Mrs. Edsel Ford, traveling by train, missed the party but was expected to be in attendance at the small wedding.

Say Vows in Ceremony

Miss Carole Langenman's duties. Groomsmen were berg and Robert L. Tuckis, James L. Langenberg and repeated nuptial vows in a James Rosenow. Guests were candlelight wedding at 7:30 p.m. seated by J. Peter Ryerson and Monday at First English Lutheran Church. The Rev. Leonard A. Ziemer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Langenberg, 1124 N. Owaissa St., and where both attend the University of Wisconsin. The bride is a senior in the School of Nursing, 940 E. Eldorado St.

Miss Nancy Helms attended and a member of Alpha Tau the bride as maid of honor. Delta, Mr. Tuckis, a graduate of Serving as bridesmaids were the University and a member of Miss Sue Tuckis and Miss Ruth Sigma Delta Chi, is working for Schuetz, his master's degree in journalism.

David Dobratz performed best man.

A black and white striped tent effect, mirrors, huge polka dots and gold painted palms formed a glittering pop-up motif for the party. Although it was estimated to have cost $50,000 it was hardly as elaborate as the $280,000 coming-out party Anne's father gave for her in Detroit a few years ago.

Ford toasted his elder daughter, Charlotte, who only last week married shipping magnate Stavros Spyros Niarchos in a

Vows Said By Couple

Miss Christine Ann Verkuilen, of Mrs. John Verkuilen, 1118 W. S. Outagamie St., were married in a double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. Monday. The Rev. George Henseler officiated at the nuptial high mass at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Miss Kay McGinnis was maid of honor for her cousin. Miss Veronica Touhey and Miss Mary Rettler attended as bridesmaids.

Mrs. Thomas Rettler

The bridegroom's cousin, Norbert Stingle, Fort. Carson, Colo., served as best man. Groomsmen's duties were handled by Leroy Verkuilen and Kenneth Radtke. Ushers were Nicholas Rettler and Gary Romanesko.

Guests were greeted at Retz's Supper Club.

The newlyweds are on a wedding trip to Chicago and will make their home at 1118 W. Franklin St.

Mrs. Rettler, who attended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, is a teacher at St. Joseph Grade School. Her husband, an employee of Acme Press, Inc., studied printing at Green Bay Vocational School.

Miss Judith Collar

Miss Collar, Mr. Gregory Plan to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Dean A. Collar, 230 S. Lee St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Gordon W. Gregory, 2020 Marathon Ave., Neenah. He is the son of George Gregory.

Miss Collar is employed at the First National Bank, Appleton. Her fiancé works at American Can Co., Neenah.

The couple will be married in August.

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

New Year's Touches

This is a busy week for all, and there's little time for sewing. But New Year's Eve is just a couple of days away, so check your outfit for THE night. Is it complete? Does your dress need a pick-up, your hair a gay touch? Will you look as beautiful when you walk in the door as you will after you take off your coat?

Here are a few ideas for accessories that you can make in an hour or less.

FRINGED BROCADE SILK SASH: (Figure 1): The finished sash is 2 inches wide and as long as your waistline measurement plus 22 inches. Use a strip of brocade 4 1/2 inches wide; fold in half lengthwise, right sides together. Stitch half-inch seam on open side, starting 1 1/2 inches from one end and ending the same distance from the other. Also leave a 2-inch opening in the center for turning. Turn to right side; press and slip stitch opening closed. Fringe ends by pulling threads up to the seam. Place around your waist and loop over once. To keep from sliding, either catch all layers from the underside with a pin, or pin on a jeweled brooch.

ribbon, 1 1/2 inches wide and 6 inches long. Lay them on a table criss-cross style so they look like a flower. Take silk buttonhole twist in a matching color, slide under floral arrangement and tie thread ends together. Your ribbon will give a petal effect. Place a jeweled pin at the center, or scatter a few sequins or rhinestones on the petals. Now slide a long bobby pin through the thread tie and clip to hair.

RUFFLE-TRIMMED GLOVE: (Figure 3): I only recommend doing this for black gloves. Use wide black satin ribbon (about 4 inches wide) and short, short wrist-length gloves. Cut ribbon 2 to 2 1/2 times longer than your wrist measurement. Make a row of basting stitches (by hand or machine) lengthwise down center of ribbon. Pull thread to form ruffle until ruffle fits around wrist edge of glove plus 1/2 inch seam allowance. Stitch to glove edge. Now cut a narrow strip of elastic a little

Scare Movies Won't Replace Responsibilities of Parents

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I read a statement in the newspaper that said there's an alarming increase in venereal disease among juveniles, starting at the junior high level.

Don't you think our schools should show films about the terrible effects of venereal disease? I can still remember those movies from when I was in the Army during World War II, and I bet if kids today saw them, they'd be scared to fool around. Apparently, a smart-aleck kid today thinks VD is no worse than a head cold. L. O.

VD infection rates in the military services are controlled mainly not by showing scare movies, but by careful policing of the areas around military installations by health officers and by enforcement of the policy of punishing any infected person who hadn't reported for pro-smaller than your wrist. Pin to underside of glove edge, stretching as you pin so that it goes around completely. Stitch to glove and ribbon, stretching it taut as you stitch. Lap ribbon ends and slip stitch together.

SILK-FACED SATIN FRINGED SCARF OR STOLE: (Figure 4): these are made in exactly the same manner as the brocade sash. As an ascot to wear with your coat, make it 45 inches long and 12 inches finished width. As a stole to wear over bare shoulders, make it 96 inches long and 25 inches finished width.

Tardy Exhibit Arrives: Show Opens Wednesday

NEENAH—Variety is the keynote of a display of drawings by noted American artists, provided by New York's Midtown Galleries and currently on view in the main gallery of the Bergstrom Art Center, 165 N. Park Ave.

Among the craftsmen represented in the show which opens Wednesday, are Edward Betts, Emlen Etting, Paul Cadmus, Fred Nagler, Hans Moller, William Palmer, Waldo Pierce, Doris Rosenthal, Siegfried Reinhardt and Robert Vickrey.

Born in 1920, Edward Betts is presently a professor of art at the University of Illinois. He has had one-man shows in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, and has received many awards, among them the $2,000 first Altman landscape prize, the $1,500 first Altman landscape prize, the Henry Ward Ranger purchase award and the Bronze Medal of Honor, Allied Artists.

Has Written Articles

An author as well as artist, Emlen Etting has written articles for Fortune, Town and Country, This Week, Art News and Atlantic Monthly. Since 1944, when Midtown Galleries presented a collection of his drawings, "The Road to Paris," his work has appeared frequently at the gallery, and in various national exhibits. For many years he has taught at the Philadelphia College of Art.

Recognized as an accomplished draftsman, Paul Cadmus first achieved recognition in 1933 through his controversial "Fleet's In." After that his "Coney Island," "Sailors and Floosies" and the series of "Seven Deadly Sins" continued to attract attention. Sketches for his "Bar Italia," on which the artist worked for two years, will be part of the Bergstrom show.

Born at Springfield, Mass.,

in 1891, Fred Nagler first studied wood carving, then came to New York to study at the Art Students League. His paintings of religious subjects have for the past 30 years attracted attention for their sincerity, their truly felt emotional quality. Nagler's paintings have won four of the art world's major awards given by artist juries: the First Altman Figure Prize at a National Academy Annual, and the $1,000 Grant of the Academy of Arts and Letters. The artist lives at Riverdale, N.Y.

Hans Moller, for many years a part of the New York exhibition scene, was born in Germany in 1905, and emigrated to the United States in 1936. Now a U.S. citizen, he divides his time between his studio at New York and his home on the island of Monhegan in Maine.

William Palmer, who was born at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1906, is responsible for murals in the new post office, Washington, D.C.; Queens General Hospital; the National City Bank in the Socony Mobil Building, New York, and the Ulica Homestead Savings and Loan Association. A widely-known lecturer, he has been director of Munson-Williams-Proctor's School of Art in Utica, N.Y., for the past 25 years.

Waldo Pierce, who observed his 80th birthday in 1964, was born at Bangor, Maine. After years at Paris, he served in World War I and traveled throughout Europe, returning to the United States in 1930. He has exhibited at virtually all important exhibitions, and won the first purchase prize of $2,500 in the first Portrait of America exhibition at the Metropolitan museum.

Don't Take Chances on Plumbing

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I sent for plans for remodeling my bathroom and adding another. But nowhere could I find advice on the type of plumbing I should get. Are such plans available?

A: I know of no specific books or plans specifying which types of equipment work best under various circumstances. But you can't do better than go to the showrooms of plumbing manufacturers or plumbing contractors and see what's being made these days. It's quite remarkable. Usually there are both literature and advice available too. Suggestion: Get the very best quality you can afford. It will look better, last longer and be easier to maintain. Besides, the actual price difference won't be noticeable if you're swinging this on the installment plan.

Q: How can I be sure a crawl space will always be dry? We are considering a house near the shore, and I have heard that such areas are often so damp that mildew results.

A: Assure constant cross ventilation by having adequate louvers in each side of the crawl space wall (at least 1 square foot of louver for each 300 square feet of ground area; no more than 1/2 inch covering the area with concrete or overlapping layers of plastic sheeting will check rising ground dampness.

Q: How can I save partially used cans of paint so there won't be a scum forming on the top of the paint?

A: Many favorite methods. Most foolproof is to pour out paint into smaller container so that paint completely fills it. Another is to cut a circular sheet of aluminum foil, slightly larger than the diameter of the paint can and carefully fit it down on the paint's surface. Another popular method is to make the paint surface rise to the top of the can by dropping in clean, flat stones. Still another is to store the can upside down, making sure the top is tight.

sympathetic and individual portrayal of the Mexican Indians. Life magazine devoted a five-page color story to her work, and she has also been featured in Newsweek and the New Yorker.

Siegfried Reinhardt, who teaches at Washington University, St. Louis, is self-taught in art, having studied the old masters in museum collections. He has designed and executed stained glass windows and painted a number of murals, and currently is painting a large mosaic mural for the Museum of Westward Expansion under the Gateway Arch, on the St. Louis waterfront.

Many Prizes Robert Vickrey, who studied at Wesleyan University, Yale University and the Art Students League, has received many awards, among them top prize in the Edwin Austin Abbey Mural Competition, top prize in the Florida International Art Exhibition, the International Hallmark Competition's second prize, and the S.J. Wallace Truman prize at the National Academy.

Like his fellow exhibitors in the Bergstrom show, his works are included in many public and private collections. J.M.A.

Tooth Decay Sufferers Have Lots of Company

Did you know that nearly 22 million Americans — one in every eight have lost all their teeth? It's a fact!

Over 50 per cent of us have at least one cavity at the ripe old age of two, and the average 21-year-old has five teeth missing. Tooth decay is still the nation's number one disease!

These facts appear even more amazing when you realize that your teeth are one of the most nearly indestructible parts of your body: 300,000-year-old Java man was discovered with a tooth still in his head.

The condition of Mr. Java's molar indicated that nobody had told him about visiting his dentist twice a year — but it wasn't long after man emerged from the caves that he discovered the importance of dental hygiene. Such modern wrinkles as the toothbrush — not to mention the interdental stimulator — were still a long way off.

The ancient Romans used toothpicks made of the pleasant-tasting wood of the mastix tree to clean their teeth. And gold toothpicks thought to be almost 3,500 years old have been found in China.

In the Middle Ages, every well-dressed gentleman always carried a toothpick — sometimes on a chair around his neck, but more often as part of an elaborate set that also included tweezers, knife, fork care which the toothbrush is not constructed to provide. Poor gums are the leading cause of tooth loss in people over 30, prompting many dentists to recommend interdental stimulators to their patients as an essential part of a regular oral hygiene program. Used regularly, interdental stimulators gently clean between-teeth crevices the toothbrush can't reach, keep gums free of decaying food particles that lead to gum disorders and, often, tooth loss.

Perhaps trying to avoid the fate of toothlessness, primitive man literally worshipped his teeth. Later on, tooth-brushing was a part of religious rituals. Mohammed enjoined his followers to use the miswak, a fiber pencil made from the arak twig, as part of the Sabbath cleansing rites. And Sushra, an Indian physician of the 6th century B.C., wrote that cleaning the teeth every morning not only removed odors from the mouth and gave men relish for their food, but also encouraged cheerfulness of mind and inclined people towards religion.

In the Middle Ages, the shape of a man's teeth was considered to be a sure-fire indication of his character. The Germans believed that long, sharp teeth bespoke a jealous, treacherous nature. The English applauded broad front teeth as signs of generosity. The French admired straight teeth as symbols of an orderly mind. And all medieval citizens looked askance at teeth with spaces between them — proof of a lecherous nature.

Although we don't judge our friends by the shape of their teeth today, most of us are self-consciously aware of bad or missing teeth. And this is something for which you shouldn't blame Grandma. Heredity does play a role in tooth development, but proper dental care is just as important. When bad teeth "run in a family," so, usually, do bad habits of oral hygiene.

It's the truth — by gum!

Muscle Control Keeps Figure Trim

Most women are interested in developing and maintaining shapely silhouettes. It's important to realize that improper use of muscles causes the figure to sag, slump or bulge.

Physical fitness experts, engaged in an analysis of the human anatomy, point out that improved muscle control is necessary to look better, function better and feel better.

To test your control, as well as balance, stand before a three-way mirror. Assume natural stance, then lift your left knee until the foot is approximately 10 inches off the floor. Alternate legs. Check the results. You should maintain the position at least eight seconds without losing your equilibrium.

Still game? Try another routine.

Stand tall, gripping an exercise strap or rope overhead. Gently pull up with the long back muscles, drawing in the abdomen and elevating the chest. Now bend toward the left, using a rocking motion which lifts the right foot from the floor. Reverse direction and sway to the right, raising the left foot. Movement should be continuous with the body neither wobbling to the side nor pitching forward.

Here's the third test. Stand facing a door or wall, with hands braced on a flat surface. Swing your left leg behind you, then release your grasp of support. Note the time you can hold the pose.

If your time is low, try this balance aid. Keep feet parallel, toes pointed straight ahead, and weight evenly distributed on the ball of each foot. Maintain proper alignment and repeat the exercise. Notice how the correct stance steadies your body, allowing muscles to perform more efficiently.

In the Proper Stance for an exercise routine, TV star Linda Evans stretches her exercise rope tightly before beginning a continuous, rocking routine.

Dress Tips Keep Men Looking Well

Do not depend on the original adjusting of suspenders or belt to keep your trousers hanging properly. They sometimes stretch, and require re-adjusting to look right.

Knit sport shirts are justifiably at the peak of their popularity, but they still look less-than-smart on a pudgy heavyweight who bulges out of 'em. A cut-and-sewn shirt is better for him.

Luggage Hazards

On a family trip, advises an oil company, the inside of your car should be kept free of luggage. Sharp-cornered suitcases can cause injury if the car stops suddenly or hits a bump. If you can't fit everything into the trunk, add a luggage rack or use a trailer. Small trailers can be rented quite inexpensively. Be sure, though, if you use one, that you practice-drive with it thoroughly before you leave.

"Operation Look Homeward," in which college students home on vacation were invited to learn of job opportunities in the paper industry got underway this morning with a general session at the Institute of Paper Chemistry. Program participants, from left, included Arnold Grummer, Institute of Paper Chemistry; Russell Piltz, Kimberly-Clark Corp. personnel procurement; D. W. Bergstrom, executive vice president of Bergstrom Paper Co. and chairman of the sponsoring Wisconsin Paper Information Service; David Wiggins, Wisconsin Department of Resource Development, and Robert Mott, Kimberly-Clark Corp., meeting chairman. 'No Perfect Place in U. S.' Area College Students Told

Standing-Room Only Audience At 'Operation Look Homeward'

"There isn't any perfect place to live in the United States," a standing-room only crowd of 300 college students and Fox Valley paper executives was told today.

David Wiggins of the State Department of Resource Development told persons attending "Operation Look Homeward" at the Institute of Paper Chemistry that where one lives is "a matter of taste, luck and fortune."

Others speaking at the morning session were D. W. Bergstrom, executive vice president of Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah, and general chairman of the Wisconsin Paper Industry

Information Service, and Dr. Arnold Miller and Arnold Grummer of the Institute staff.

Offers Both

Wiggins said that almost any place in the world offers both opportunities and disadvantages. He predicted Wisconsin "is going to be a decent place to live for a long time to come" because of the concern among state officials and residents that everyone have a decent life.

"To be perfectly honest," Wiggins said, "I don't know if the state has an economic future. I can't say positively the state will prosper." He said persons can only base their predictions on history and various facts of economic development.

Wiggins said, "We live on know-how, not resources." He said people, rather than machines, are the heart of the economy, particularly their attitudes toward work.

Royalton Boy's Death Ruled Accidental

Daniel Mehlberg Died of Mishap While at Play

NEW LONDON — The death of 11-year-old Daniel W. Mehlberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Mehlberg, route 3, about 11:30 a.m. Monday was accidental strangulation due to hanging while playing, by Waupaca County authorities who investigated, ruled Monday afternoon.

Dr. Sam Salan, Waupaca County Coroner and Undersecretary, William Mork, conducted the investigation.

Mork said the youth had been playing in the hardware store portion of the Royalton building. Two younger sisters, Jeanette, 7, and Debra, 9, had gone to the post office about one block from the home and when they returned they discovered the accident.

"Decent Place"

Concern for the poor in the state, for protecting air and water from pollution, for the health of the residents and opportunity for expansion were cited by Wiggins as reasons why Wisconsin is a "decent place to live."

Bergstrom told his audience paper industry sales have grown from $5 billion in 1947 to $17 billion in 1964. He noted that in the last five years the amount of paper and paperboard used by each individual in the U.S. has increased from 400 to 475 pounds.

He predicted that if per capita use continues to climb at its present rate, consumption will be up to 600 pounds per person a year by 1975.

Ironing Nearby

The girls called their two older sisters, Kathleen, 15, and Sandra, 17, who were ironing in an adjacent room at the time.

The two older girls called a neighbor, Howard James, who had the girls call the New London Fire Department for emergency respiration equipment, while he applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Tonnage Greater

Pulp and Paper is one of the 10 largest manufacturing industries in the U.S. according to Bergstrom, and tonnage produced each year by 5,271 manufacturers is greater than the tonnage of automobiles produced in this country.

Bergstrom noted the multiple use of forest lands owned by

Alone for 10 Minutes

Mork said the youth was alone for about 10 minutes while the younger girls went to the Royalton Post Office.

He apparently tied the rope to an eye-hook and fashioned a noose which he placed over his head after climbing up on a small child's chair, Mork said. Then the chair either accidentally tipped or the youth leaped from it, he said.

Aldermen to Study Policy Moves at Appleton Meeting

Merger of Park and Recreation Units Recommended by Study

Appleton aldermen will be asked within a few weeks to make two major policy decisions — one involving municipal employees and the other the park and recreation departments.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said today he would ask the city council when it holds its first regular meeting of 1966 Jan. 5 to select a date for a committee of the whole session to discuss:

—A recent recommendation of a special study committee that the park and recreation departments be merged into one.

—Whether or not local residency should be a requirement for municipal employment in Appleton.

"I think we should be able to take up both matters at one meeting," Mitchell said.

Advocates Consolidation

Aldermen have received a report, including recommendations, of the study committee which advocated consolidation of park and recreation departments.

Mitchell asked last spring that the study be made and said he favors the proposed merger. The recreation commission and park board have indicated in communications to the council that they favor the proposal.

In past years the merger question came before previous councils but was voted down.

Proponents of combining the two departments say the move will make for better operation and elimination of duplication.

He said the 35 miles of the Fox River between Lake Winnebago and Green Bay has the highest concentration of paper mills in the world.

Introductory Remarks

Introductory remarks were by Grummer, who showed several paper products and their use, and the durability of paper found after being in water for 200 years.

Miller, of the admissions office, briefly described the various programs the Institute offers in its graduate school.

After the morning talks, students met with representatives from various Fox Valley paper firms. They are to tour area paper mills this afternoon and several days this week.

Statewide Project

The program is part of a statewide project to acquaint college students with papermaking career possibilities in their home communities.

The program is sponsored by the industry's information service. The local projects sponsored by the Institute and seven paper manufacturing firms.

Companies participating are Marathon Paper Products Group of American Can Co.; Appleton Coated Paper Co.; Bergstrom Paper Co.; Fox River Paper Co.; Kimberly-Clark Corp.; Riverside Paper Corp., and Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.

Helped When She Fell

Since Nov. 14 Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, 422 W. Seventh St., has become used to living with frustration. That was the date she fell down a full flight of stairs and broke both wrists.

Her arms are in casts up to her shoulders, and she has learned she can't do much for herself.

One thing she wants to do doesn't depend on two good arms. At the moment it's also impossible. She wants to say "thank you" but she can't find the ones she wishes to thank.

Late Sunday Morning

It was late on a Sunday morning that she fell. Mrs.

The personnel committee conducted a survey of other cities to determine what policies were in effect concerning mandatory residency. No recommendation is expected from the committee which requested all aldermen discuss the matter.

Under existing policy, people who work for the City of Appleton are not required to reside in the city.

However, the fire and police commission has a rule making residency mandatory which at times it has relaxed due to lack of applicants for positions.

Appleton, Union Resume Mediation

City and union negotiators resumed 1966 contract talks at the city hall today with a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) mediator sitting in.

Teamsters Local 563, which represents employees in the department of public works, has been negotiating a contract with the city council's personnel committee.

The WERB was called in when both sides arrived at an impasse on wages — the key to settling the dispute.

The union reportedly revised its demands downward and is now seeking a 15-cent per hour increase, part covering 1965 when the public works employees received no wage increase.

Mediator Arthur Kirby came from Madison this morning and got the parties together shortly after 10 a.m. Talks were expected to continue through the afternoon.

The mediation session is the second since both parties asked the WERB to assist them in arriving at an agreement.

Education Fund Will be Provided for Children Of Clothing Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — A fund to provide college or technical training for the children of clothing workers has been announced.

The prepaid education plan for children of clothing workers with 13 years union membership is the first of its kind, said Murray Finley, manager of the Chicago Joint Board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. The union will provide $600 a year and tuition or living expenses for four years for each child.

Malfunction Cause Of Power Blackout

Jumpers, Cracked Insulators Blamed in Kaukauna Outage

KAUKAUNA — Loose jumpers and cracked insulators at Dodge and Island streets are believed to have been the primary cause of a power outage which plunged much of Kaukauna's south side, rural areas and Combined Locks into darkness for about four hours Monday night, according to Norbert Rhinerson, manager of Kaukauna electric utility.

The south side circuit, which serves eastern portions of the Town of Buchanan, Combined Locks and Kaukauna south of 10th Street, southwest of Crooks Avenue, and a small area north of 10th Street near Kenneth Avenue, went out at 5:12 p.m.

Service Substations

Substations at County Trunk Z and ZZ, 10th Street and Kenneth Avenue and Ryan Road in Combined Locks are service stations for this area.

Several attempts to energize the area from the Badger plant proved fruitless, and at 5:30 p.m. the loose jumpers at Dodge and Island were noted.

Crews then attempted to isolate the area served by the substation at Z and ZZ but the sectionalizing created a short circuit which tripped out the entire system including Little Chute, the north side of Kaukauna and customers north of Kaukauna.

The power failure lasted from 5:40 to 5:50 p.m. Utility crews worked from 5:50 to 8:25 replacing a span of wire, cutouts, insulators and jumpers at and near Dodge and Island streets.

Ball of Flame

Crews thought everything was back to normal, cleared their work and an attempt was made to energize the circuit at 8:25 p.m. This was greeted by another ball of flame near the Badger plant as the first short circuit had flipped two wires together near the plant, causing another shortage.

This was repaired in about one minute and at that time everything was back in service except the areas served by the 10th Street substation.

Anticipating a strong power demand in this area, switches at the 10th Street substation were pulled to reduce the load and permit energizing various areas individually.

After a short wait the switches were flipped at the 10th Street station but the demand was too heavy and the overload tripped out necessitating readjustment of the relay system to pick up the heavier load demand.

Full Operation

The entire system was back in full operation and all power restored about 9:45 p.m.

Police, firemen and wives of utility workers reported receiving hundreds of calls during the outage. Temperatures hovered near the zero mark and many home owners were forced to bundle up as temperatures in homes dropped due to the lack of power to operate furnace blowers.

Many people purchased candles; some used camping lanterns and hundreds reported either eating a cold or a very late supper.

Two areas not affected at any time by the power failure were Kaukauna Community Hospital and the Beaulieu Hill area. The hospital reported it has standby generating power and would not have been in trouble in event of a failure.

Gilberts First Appointees

Lawrence Pair 'Retires' To Hawaii Loa College

Two Lawrence University faculty members will end their teaching careers here this spring and "retire" to posts with Hawaii Loa College.

Dr. W. Paul Gilbert and his wife, Dr. Margaret Shea Gilbert, are the first faculty members appointed to the new school near Honolulu, the school's president, Dr. Chandler W. Rowe, has announced.

The Gilberts had planned to retire at the end of the current academic year.

Dr. W. Paul Gilbert holds the Philetus E. Sawyer professorship in physics, while his wife, a biologist, holds the Alice J. Hulst professorship in life sciences.

Dr. Rowe was dean at Lawrence until last summer, when he accepted the presidency of Hawaii Loa, a newly founded college on the windward side of Oahu.

Although Hawaii Loa will not open until the fall of 1967, the Gilberts will join the staff in September, to assist Dr. Rowe and Dr. Malcolm Oliphant, dean of academic affairs, in planning the school's curriculum.

The Gilberts, who both received their bachelor degrees at Oberlin and their doctorates at Cornell University, shared in 1964 the Uhrig award for excellent teaching at Lawrence. Dr. W. Paul Gilbert has been on the Lawrence staff since 1937. Mrs. Gilbert began to teach in 1946, after the couple's three daughters were in school.

Study at Harvard

Gilbert received a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship to study at Harvard in 1952-53, and an NSF Senior Faculty Fellowship to Stanford in 1962-63.

Mrs. Gilbert has held an NSF fellowship for summer study of desert biology. Both Gilberts are listed in American Men of Science, and are members of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi and Sigma Xi. Dr. W. Paul Gilbert is listed in Who's Who in America.

Mrs. Gilbert is the author of a prize-winning book "Biography of the Unborn," which first appeared in 1938, was condensed into many foreign languages, of academic affairs, in planning the school's curriculum.

70-Year-Old Appleton Woman Wants to Thank 'Good Samaritans'

Since Nov. 14 Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, 422 W. Seventh St., has become used to living with frustration. That was the date she fell down a full flight of stairs and broke both wrists.

Her arms are in casts up to her shoulders, and she has learned she can't do much for herself.

One thing she wants to do doesn't depend on two good arms. At the moment it's also impossible. She wants to say "thank you" but she can't find the ones she wishes to thank.

Late Sunday Morning

It was late on a Sunday morning that she fell. Mrs.

Baldwin, getting ready for church, was rushing. At the top of her indoor stairway she stumbled and fell all the way down.

In great pain, the 70-year-old managed to open the outer door and cry for help.

People walked along the sidewalk but no one heeded or heard. Then, finally, a man, his wife and their teen-age daughter stopped, listened, and hurried to the house.

There was no question of "not wanting to become involved." They saw at a glance that Mrs. Baldwin had fallen, asked whom they should call, and stayed with her until she was safely on her way to the hospital.

Shock of Fall

The shock of the fall has made recollection of the day hazy, and Mrs. Baldwin cannot remember the name of those who helped her. She has checked the name she recalls with St. Mary Roman Catholic Church but the register has no such name on its rolls.

Mrs. Baldwin is recovering nicely, with the casts scheduled for removal in January. Before then, she'd like to be able to thank the family who helped her that Sunday morning. She can't unless they come to her.

Rink Work Delayed

Youngsters Anxious to Skate

Appleton youngsters who received new ice skates for Christmas will have to wait until later in the week before they can try them out.

That was the word today from E. W. Grover, city recreation department director, as park department crews continued preparations for building 20 skating rinks in the community.

"With a break in the weather, we hope to have the city's two main rinks open by New Year's (Saturday)," Grover said.

He was referring to rinks now under construction at Jones Park and the Mead Pool where there are warming shanties and floodlights for night skating.

Grover said he did not know when the smaller neighborhood rinks would be open to the public.

New Treasurer To be Named By Outagamie

Board Hopes to Fill Vacant Position at Its Jan. 11 Meeting

Outagamie County probably will have a new treasurer soon after the Jan. 11 county board meeting.

But applications are needed first, and to date there have been none.

The treasurer post has been vacant since the death of Raymond A. Bentz Dec. 16. Bentz was named treasurer by the county board in 1957 to succeed Ray Feuerstein, who resigned to take a similar post with the City of Appleton.

Majority Vote

The new treasurer will be elected by a simple majority vote of county board members and could take over the job right after being sworn in.

County Board Chairman Alvin E. Fulcer said it is hoped a new treasurer can be appointed at next month's board meeting.

Fulcer said he has received "a minimum amount" of inquiries about the treasurer job since the death of Bentz.

The board chairman added that anyone interested in the job can submit written information to County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer, stating personal information and qualifications.

There has been no deadline set for the submitting of applications, but Fulcer said they should be received at the clerk's office at least six or seven days before the January board meeting so a list of persons interested and their qualifications can be sent to board members.

Persons interested in the job should be able to appear at the board meeting, Fulcer said.

Suzanne Janssen, deputy county treasurer, temporarily has assumed the duties of treasurer.

The county treasurer post pays about $7,100 a year and is filled by election during the fall of every even-numbered year.

Two Injured In Separate Auto Mishaps

Accidents late Monday morning and Monday night resulted in minor injuries to two Appleton residents.

Gustave G. Bodway, 53, 2637 Southwood Drive, received minor injuries when his car was struck from behind by a car driven by LaFayette S. Zeh, 60, 715 W. Verbrick St. Police did not indicate the nature of Bodway's injury.

Both vehicles were stopped at the traffic signal on Memorial Drive near Prospect Avenue, and the Zeh car started ahead before the Bodway vehicle, police said. The accident occurred at 9:15 p.m.

Richard E. Funk, 35, 1607 N. Erb St., received minor cuts and bruises shortly before noon Monday when his car and one driven by Thelma M. Junion, 823 N. State St., collided at Lawe and North Streets.

The Junion car was eastbound on North Street and the Funk vehicle was traveling south on Lawe when the accident occurred.

'Wasn't' No Partridge in Pear Tree But It Was Monkey in Apple Tree

NEENASHA — And a partridge in a pear tree? No, a monkey in an apple tree.

Mrs. Felix Makowski, route 2, Menasha, couldn't believe her eyes Monday afternoon. Outside of her kitchen window, screeching and shivering in the 12-degree temperature, was a small, black monkey.

Her dog, Silvia, caught the scent and came yelping. The capuchin monkey clung to a top branch and continued squealing. Makowski tried to persuade the animal to come down by offering it a banana. It grabbed the banana but wouldn't budge.

A woman's touch was needed. Mrs. Makowski calmly coaxed the monkey into an awaiting bird cage, brought it into the house and called the Animal Welfare Shelter.

About 500 feet away, Mrs. Fred DeGroot was looking frantically in the wooded area behind her home for the unusual pet she purchased in Appleton seven years ago. "Elvin" had been roaming through the neighborhood since escaping from the house at 11 a.m. Monday.

Screech, Shiver

Five hours later, Mrs. DeGroot heard Elvin had been seen near her neighbor's home. She and her husband rushed over to the Makowski home only to find that Gib Alfertig had already provided a warm home for the monkey at the Animal Welfare Shelter in Neenah.

Minutes later, Elvin was still screeching and shivering in the arms of DeGroot. "It's a wonder the monkey didn't freeze to death," DeGroot said. "It usually acts like it's frozen when the house temperature drops down to 60 degrees."

When he handed the monkey to his wife, Elvin became calm and snuggled its furry head in her arms. The male imp needed a woman's touch.

K-C Opening New Division For Pulp Sales

NEENAH — A new division responsible for handling direct sales of wood pulp to pulp consumers has been announced by Kimberly-Clark Corp.

Peter Traas, manager of pulp distribution for Kimberly-Clark, has been appointed sales manager of the new division, Sharp announced.

R. N. Platt, a senior buyer in the Kimberly-Clark purchasing department, has been named pulp sales representative, and Robert Green, manager, pulp specifications and process control, will provide technical sales service to the new division.

"We intend to establish Kimberly-Clark as a long term source of market wood pulp with sales outlets and technological services available to customers throughout the country," A. G. Sharp, senior vice president, said.

"For years, Kimberly-Clark has sold small quantities of pulp on a spot basis directly and through brokers and agents," Sharp said. "It is now our intention to provide complete customer service and to enter into long term contracts with pulp users. This move will bring to the market a group of high grade pulps and technical know-how in the pulping field, and will maximize the utilization of properties."

Basic pulp grades available from Kimberly-Clark are bleached and unbleached northeastern sulfite and northeastern western bleached sulfate. These pulps are being produced at Kimberly-Clark's mills located at Terrace Bay, Ontario; Coosa Pines, Ala., and Ander-

City Treasurer Mails Tax Bills At Kaukauna

Collection to Total $1,710,873; Rules Stated

KAUKAUNA — Tax bills were mailed today and first day of collection will be Friday for those persons desiring to pay taxes this year to permit deduction for 1965 income tax purposes, according to Miss Ruth Wolf, treasurer. Total taxes to be collected is $1,710,873 compared with $1,535,634 last year.

The treasurer's office is open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Regular tax collection will begin Jan. 3. Persons desiring to pay on the 50-50 plan must pay the first half of their tax bill by Jan. 31 and the second half must be paid to the county treasurer by July 31.

The first installment shall not be less than $20 if the total tax exceeds $20, or less than the total amount of the tax if the taxes do not exceed $20. The provision applies to each parcel subject to taxation and not to the taxpayer's total tax liability. Persons desiring to pay taxes in full have until Feb. 28 to pay at the treasurer's office.

Special assessments are to be paid in full under either plan. Personal property taxes are to be paid before Feb. 28 to avoid interest and penalty charge. Dog license fees are also to be paid when paying taxes.

Persons paying by mail are to enclose a check and the complete tax notice. The portion of the notice which serves as a receipt will be mailed back to the property owner.

DePere Man Charged In Oneida Bar Brawl

James DuPrey Only Person Arrested; Enters Innocent Plea to Two Counts

James R. DuPrey, 25, 618 Helena St., West DePere, arrested in Green Bay Thursday night after a tavern brawl at Oneida, pleaded innocent Monday afternoon to charges of disorderly conduct and battery.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for April 20 and ordered bonds of $100 on the disorderly conduct count and $200 on the battery charge.

DuPrey is the only person charged in connection with a fight about 7 p.m. Dec. 23 at Danforth's Bar which resulted in injuries to several patrons.

Although investigation is continuing, authorities indicated that there probably will not be any more warrants issued.

Used Clubs

About 15 persons, both men and women, had taken part in the fight, which began after five white men walked into the tavern and got into an argument with several Indians. A piece of angle iron, cue sticks, bottles and glasses were used in the fray.

Fredmond Hill, 26, route 1, Oneida, reportedly received multiple lacerations to the face, and hands when he was struck with the jagged edge of a broken beer glass. He has been released from St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, where he was taken by ambulance Thursday night.

John H. Davis, 22, route 1, West DePere, taken to St. Vincent with a back injury and head lacerations also has been released, hospital officials said.

Several other persons, including women, were injured but did not require hospitalization. The five white men allegedly involved in the brawl were picked up later Thursday in Green Bay by city and Brown County police. Outagamie County police investigated the incident.

Twin Cities' Red Cross Units Merging

NEENAH — Merger of the Menasha and Neenah Chapters of the American Red Cross into one Twin City Chapter was announced today by the boards of directors.

Charles J. Greiner, Menasha Chapter chairman, and Charles A. Littlefield, Neenah Chapter chairman, in announcing the merger on behalf of their boards, said purpose of the merger is to provide better, more efficient, and in time, expanded, Red Cross services for the Twin City area.

The chairmen said the two chapters believe these goals can best be met through a single combined unit.

NOTICE

RESIDENTS OF APPLETON VOLUNTARY TEST BAN ON OUTSIDE BURNING

The City of Appleton requests you to voluntarily:

1. Stop all outside burning.
2. Collect and store all material which you usually burn outside and place on the curb for pick-up by city crews on your regular rubbish collection day every other week.

This ban is placed on a voluntary basis to avoid causing undue hardship or inconvenience; however, your cooperation and patience will be appreciated. If for reasons of fire safety, excessive accumulation or health hazard, it is not possible to save part or all of your burnable waste material, then it is permissible to burn outside providing burning is done according to the Fire Code Regulations explained below.

EXISTING BURNING REGULATION SUMMARY

HOURS — Daily between 2:00 P.M. and 7:00 P.M.

TYPE OF BURNER: All burners shall have their sides wholly or securely closed and covered with wire screening which shall not be smaller than No. 8 (1/8 inch in diameter) wire. The wire mesh shall not be more than one inch across.

LOCATION OF BURNER: No closer than 5 feet from a public sidewalk. No closer than 10 feet from trees, shrubs, bushes or fences. No closer than 15 feet from any building.

DEFECTIVE BURNER: An approved type burner which becomes defective shall be replaced before burning can be resumed.

MATERIALS WHICH SHALL NOT BE BURNED: Garbage, organic (including animal waste), asphaltic, rubber or plastic material or other materials producing an offensive odor shall not be burned in residential districts.

OPEN FIRES: No open fires may be started without a permit from the Fire Department. No permit shall be granted for open burning in a public street, alley or other public thoroughfare.

COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL BURNING: To avoid violations, business and industrial establishments should check with the Fire Department for existing ordinances on burning.

ENFORCEMENT OF EXISTING BURNING REGULATIONS

The Fire and Police Departments shall enforce the Fire Prevention Code as follows:

1. City-wide inspections will be made regularly as the burning situation demands and all complaints will be investigated. Every effort shall be made to inform the residents of Appleton of the need for and the desirability of cooperating with the voluntary test ban as well as the regulations governing outside burning.
2. Any resident of the City found to be violating the burning ordinance will be issued a written warning for the first offense. He will be given seven days in which to correct this violation.
3. After this seven day period has expired a reinspection will be made to determine if the resident has complied with the regulation covering his offense. No further action will be taken if he has complied. If a violation still exists and the resident has continued to burn despite the warning, then a second ticket shall be issued and appropriate action taken to prosecute the violator.
4. A second complaint against a resident who has previously been issued a written warning shall result in his being issued a second ticket if a violation is again found to exist. This second ticket shall also result in appropriate action being taken to prosecute the offender.

Oneidas Endorse New Constitution

Tribal Officials Say Law Will Mean Efficient Government

ONEIDA, Wis. (AP) — Tribal officials of the Oneida Indians said Monday that their new constitution would "go a long way in making government of the tribe more efficient."

The first new constitution the tribe has proposed in 30 years was endorsed Monday by an overwhelming majority of the tribe.

The proposed constitution, which must be ratified by the Secretary of the Interior before it takes effect, would extend voting rights to all Wisconsin Oneida Indians over 21.

Previously, only those living on tribal lands, about 2,200 acres, were eligible to vote. Tribal officials said the majority of the Indians do not live on the lands.

Of an estimated 3,000 eligible voters, only 225 cast ballots, of which 207 voted yes, 16 no, and two ballots were declared void.

If approved by the Secretary of Interior a new nine-member tribal executive council will be called within 60 days after the document is approved and include 30 days for filing nomination papers.

Finance Powers

The streamlined government, as proposed in the constitution, gives the committee power to finance, set ordinances and other acts of self-government previously delegated to a general tribal meeting which required a 50-person quorum.

A forerunner of the future council is the four-member executive committee which was empowered earlier this year to handle the tribe's programs under the Economic Opportunities Act and the pending suit against New York State.

Majority Vote

A majority vote will be sufficient to pass on matters in the new council as has been the practice in the past.

Control of the tribal council will be kept in the Oneida area since membership on it is limited to residents of Outagamie or Brown counties.

Terms of the top nine vote getters in the council election would be staggered. Some would be elected annually, others for two and three year terms.

Charge Reduced, Kimberly Driver Forfeits $230

KIMBERLY — Joseph Minton, 29, 240 S. Matthew St., Kimberly, signed a waiver stipulating guilt to a charge of reckless driving and forfeited bond of $230 at the police station Friday.

Minton had appeared in Municipal Justice Court earlier Friday and pleaded innocent of driving while under the influence of an intoxicant. He was arrested after an accident Thursday night and refused the drunkometer test. The charge was reduced at the recommendation of the chief of police.

U. S. Officer's Hearing in Dope Arrest Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. commissioner has postponed until Jan. 6 a preliminary hearing for a Ft. Benning warrant officer arrested when a huge cache of imported heroin was seized at his trailer home.

Arraignment of CWO Herman Conder, 35, had been set for this afternoon, but U.S. Commissioner H. Okay Parker postponed the hearing at the request of an assistant federal attorney.

Parker said it was indicated that seven other hearings will be heard in connection with the dope seizure on Jan. 6.

Conder is alleged to be the courier of 209 pounds of uncut heroin found in a freezer behind his trailer in Columbus Dec. 20. The 15-year Army veteran was one of eight arrested in connection with the narcotics haul.

Federal agents claim the heroin arrived here in Conder's household effects when he was transferred from France to Ft. Benning.

Hire Waupaca Radio Man

Adrian Tomlin to Start Saturday at Sheriff's Department

WAUPACA — Adrian Tomlin, 41, Scandinavia, has been named the new radio operator by the Waupaca County Sheriff's Department.

Tomlin will start Jan. 1 and will operate on a work schedule of six days on and two days off. He is the fourth full-time radio operator employed by the department.

He will replace a number of part-time men who have worked as replacements for the radio operators on their days off.

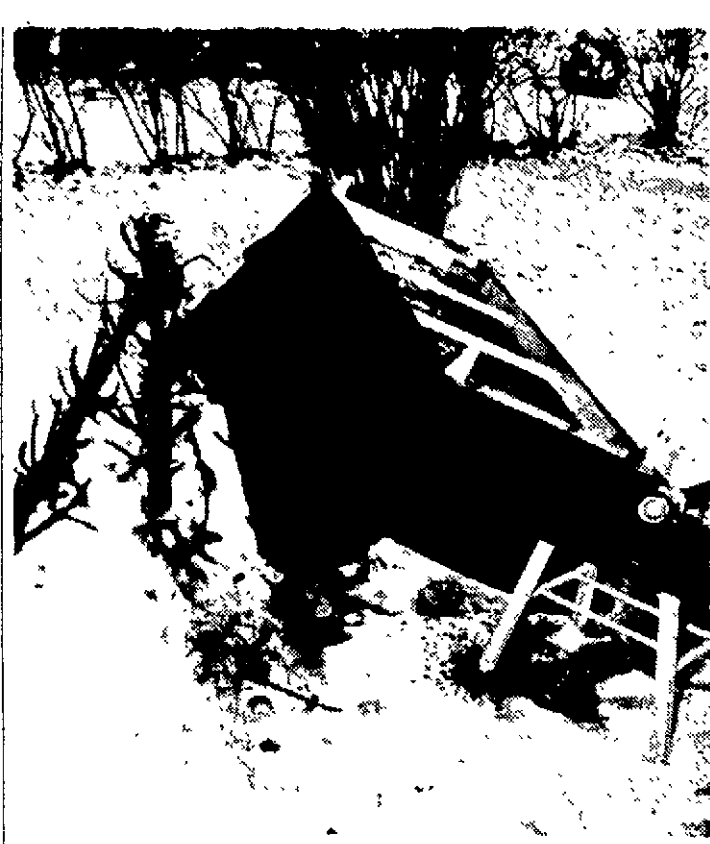

The county board authorized the additional radio operator at its November meeting. Starting salary for the operator was set at $315 per month.

Other radio operators are Sgt. Harold Holly, Donald Grogan and Larry Jensen.

New Law Eliminates Flashing Red Lights on Garage Tow Trucks

The Motor Vehicle Department today reminded those garages and service stations operating wreckers that they must comply with a new law by Jan. 1, which requires a change of lighting equipment on their vehicles. Enrollment Poll Set For Little Chute High

Telephone Survey Preliminary To Hiring Faculty for School

LITTLE CHUTE — A telephone survey to determine probable enrollment in the new high school was authorized by the board of education Monday night.

Superintendent of Schools Leo Bronkalla told board members the poll is necessary before faculty members can be hired.

The survey will be made of persons who have indicated they intend to send students to the new four-year public high school. An e registration will follow the survey.

authorize the installation of red lights on tow trucks for use only when moving disabled vehicles. This permission will no longer be granted.

The new law also restricts the type of lighting equipment, the mounting location, and when it can be operated.

A special district meeting was set for Jan. 11 to seek approval of electors in disposing of a home located on property where the new institution is to be built.

Rental Property

The board originally had planned to use the structure as rental property, but since it appears to be interfering with preliminary construction, members want to sell the house.

Voters will be asked to give the board permission to act in the matter as it sees fit. Approval will also be asked for reservation of a 30-foot strip of land on the east limits of the school property for a future road.

Miss Helen Koehn was named delegate to the January school board convention in Milwaukee. Bronkalla was authorized to work out details on package insurance bids for the district.

Air Issues

Drop Sharply

Morning's Heavy Pace Slackens in Afternoon Trading

NEW YORK — Airlines and aerospace issues took sharp losses today but the over-all stock market cut its worst losses early this afternoon. Trading slackened after a heavy pace in the morning.

Aerospace defense issues came under selling pressure as the result of the newest cease-fire proposal in Viet Nam.

Airlines took steep losses on publication of a newspaper article which predicted the Civil Aeronautics Board will prod airlines to cut fares in 1966.

Other major stock groups retreated on a broad front but losses reached their worst by the first hour. Thereafter many groups sold above their lows although airlines were still down very sharply.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.2 at 354.3 with industrials off 1.9, rails off .9 and utilities off 1.

Dow Jones Average

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.28 at 958.51 after showing a loss of as much as 4.78 at the end of the first hour.

Northwest Airlines, one of the higher-priced issues in its group, was down about 7½ points. United Air Lines fell about 4. Eastern and Pan American around 2 each.

Losses exceeding a point were shown by Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and General Dynamics but the defense stocks were coming back better than the airlines.

Gains began to appear here and there. A published statement that Radio Corp.'s sales will surpass $2 billion for the first time in history accompanied a rise of nearly a point in RCA. Zenith gained nearly 2, Xerox 1.

Big Three motors showed only fractional losses.

Prices declined in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds continued to rise.

Bulging Mail Sacks Contain 1½ Million State Tax Forms

Legislature Okayed Simpler Rules For 1965, Similar to Federal

MADISON — Bulging sacks of mail from the State Tax Department's offices this week contain more than 1,500,000 sets of personal income tax forms which Wisconsin taxpayers are required to fill out and return before the April 15 deadline for the satisfaction of their state income tax liability.

For several hundreds of thousands of them the task will be easier than ever before, as a result of the income tax simplification rules enacted by the legislature.

They are those persons who are subject to state income tax withholding on virtually all of their taxable incomes, and who are entitled to copy on their simplified state forms the essential material reported on the federal tax forms filed with the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The State Tax Department will then process the return, and send a bill if there is an amount owing.

For thousands of other persons the law requires a recapitulation of their tax liability and the payment of an additional tax on income that has not been subject to the wage and salary withholding provisions of the law during the 1965 taxable year.

For others, there will be refunds, representing excess withholding payments during the year because of deductions not anticipated. The total yield of the personal income tax will be about $308,000,000, after the refunding of about $23,000,000 to persons who have already paid excessive amounts in wage withholding, according to tax department estimates.

James R. Morgan, state tax commissioner, reminded taxpayers who expect refunds that the payments will reach them in a schedule determined by the date they file their final returns. Late filing means a delayed refund check, he said.

Use of some of the federal tax deduction rules will mean some liberalization of liability for the state taxpaying community as a whole, but according to the individual income bracket of the taxpayer involved. Some taxpayers will gain. Some will lose. For the state treasury the adoption of the U.S. government rules meant a loss of about $6,000,000 a year in receipts.

For most Wisconsin taxpayers, the rates of liability in the state tax forms are slightly higher than in past years, reflecting the higher yields required by the rising state budget. But for most of them also the recent reductions in the federal tax liability are greater than the higher levies of the state government.

Student Salute

... honoring outstanding high school seniors of the Appleton area.

Mike Washechek

Michael Washechek, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Washechek, 606 S. Telulah Street, Appleton, has distinguished himself at Xavier High as a supporter of the conservative branch of the Republican Party. An ardent and vociferous advocate of Barry Goldwater during the last presidential election, he also campaigned for John Byrnes, and made arrangements (this year) for the appearance at assembly of Mr. William Rusher, editor of the conservative National Observer.

Political interest led Mike into student government bodies, where he served as Student Council representative during his junior and senior year. He is presently a member of the Senior Senate.

Mike, as a senior, is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, and Press Club, and has proven himself an outstanding student.

To further his education, he hopes to attend John Carroll college or the University of Wisconsin, where he plans to major in political science. After college, Mike wants to enter the field of law, teaching, or politics.

Appleton Stores

People Fill Counter, Exchange Gifts, Get Cards in Post Christmas Sale

It really looked a lot like Christmas in Appleton stores with people lining the counters, trying on dresses and coats and selecting boxes of cards, wrapping paper, ribbons and tree lights.

It looked a lot like Christmas but it was really the Monday after and the heavy traffic consisted of shoppers looking for bargains and exchanging presents that were the wrong color, size or style.

Although there were the usual number of returns keeping the credit departments busy throughout the day, it seemed that the majority of the people had come to take advantage of the sales and clearances.

Toys Popular

Especially popular were the toy and trim-the-tree shops, with the coat, dress and shoe departments running a close second.

"It is quite common for people to stock up on such items as Christmas tree decorations, cards and wrapping paper for next year at considerable savings. Toys, too, can be stored until next year or given on birthdays during the year," said one store official.

Carley Urges Speeded Participation in Medical Care Program

STEVENS POINT (AP) — David Carley, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, urged Monday that a special session of the state Legislature be called to speed Wisconsin participation in the new federal medical care program.

Carley said that the new medical care law permits states to provide comprehensive medical services to all needy persons.

"I am sure that we could be ready with a plan before the end of January 1966, and a one-day session of the Legislature would be sure to pass the legislation at the governor's request," said Carley.

Communists Try to Stop Plan To Ease Indian Food Shortage

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Indian Communists are trying to sabotage a government plan to ease critical food shortages in eastern sections of the nation. The Reds apparently fear government success would destroy two themes they have used for years to stir agitation — food shortages and farmer grievances.

The government plan calls for direct government purchase of rice from farmers and distribution through government-controlled ration shops.

'Food Snatch' The plan is aimed at distributing India's food shortages more evenly throughout its 480 million population, preventing isolated pockets of famine from developing next to comparatively well-fed areas.

A Red-inspired whisper campaign has been started in eastern India. The theme: the government is trying to snatch food away from the farmers to feed the city dwellers who dominate India.

"Do not starve to feed the townsfolk," is one Red slogan.

Farmers have been asked to refuse to sell their rice to government buyers. Some farmers, unlettered in such political fighting, are withholding stocks.

Rice prices have been rising daily. In the neighborhood of Calcutta, it is being sold at 50 cents per kilogram in the open market. In ration shops a kilocosts about 15 cents. A kilogram is 2.2 pounds.

Even at high prices rice is not always available, and cases of acute hunger are reported from many areas.

Government officials in West Bengal State, of which Calcutta is the capital, are touring the state's 37,000 villages to explain to the farmers the benefits of selling foodgrains to the government.

Methods for Detecting External Cancer Told

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Which method of detecting cancer of the face or neck is most reliable — X-ray or smear tests? For how long can an external cancer exist before becoming painful? — T. O.

External cancers — skin cancers — are the easiest to detect of all cancers, and have the highest cure rate because of that. You can see them and have them removed before they can grow or spread beyond the point at which they can be cured.

When you say "face and neck," you cover a lot of territory. Do you mean on the surface of the neck, or inside the neck? It makes a difference.

For a surface cancer, neither X-ray nor a smear test is used. Rather, a suspicious lesion (a lump, or a "sore" that does not heal but is not painful) can easily be removed. The tissue is taken to a laboratory for microscopic examination. If cancer cells are present, then additional treatment is started. Or if cancer cells are not present, that's the end of the matter.

Inside the body, you cannot see such a lesion developing; therefore X-ray is used to detect it when it becomes big enough to be a lump.

The "smear test" is used to test moist secretions for cancer cells; that is, a "smear" taken from a nipple, cervix, prostate fluid, or other sources.

Finally there are situations in which the lesion is not exactly on the "surface" of the body, but still can be reached with special instruments, such as the bronchoscope (in the bronchial area), proctoscope (for the lower bowel) or gastroscope (in the stomach). Then a small sample, or perhaps several small samples, of tissue will be taken. If microscopic examination shows no cancer cells, that's fine. If cancer cells ARE present, then it is apparent that surgery is necessary to remove the cancerous tissue.

How long does it take for a surface cancer to become painful? This varies depending on the type of cancer, location and stage of the patient. Cancer is not painful to begin with. That's why cancer is such an insidious disease. It begins as a microscopically small growth. As it keeps on growing, the lump (when it becomes big enough to be a lump) can exert pressure on sensitive tissues. Only then does it become painful.

Unfortunately, in some instances cancer cells can escape through the blood stream or lymph system, or by spreading directly from one area to the next, before pain occurs. This spreading or "metastasis" is the most dangerous situation of all, because if there has been a spread in one direction, there probably has been the beginning of spread in some other direction.

Never wait for cancer to become painful. Watch for the other signs which come first: Unexplained bleeding, lumps, "sores" that do not heal, hoarseness, persistent cough, change in bowel habits, an unusual discharge, any change (in color or size or shape) of a wart or mole. Pay close attention to those and you'll detect most cancers in time. Wait for pain, and you are gambling with your life.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a person has possibly worn the wrong eye glasses for over a year, does this change or cause damage to the eyes? — J.A.S.

If the glasses were wearable, as evidently they were, I doubt

Social Security Office Offers Four Medicare Suggestions

Four suggestions have been made by the Appleton Social Security Office regarding the new Medicare program.

Frank M. Donnack, district manager, announced the suggestions, which have been made to help the person who has limited knowledge about the costs for the applicant and the taxpayer.

The suggestions include: —Persons should not drop any hospital or medical insurance now being held. Medicare does not take effect until July 1, 1966. By that time the insurance agent should be able to advise a person concerning his policy.

—Persons should not pay money to anyone claiming to be a Social Security agent. No one from any Social Security office will ask payment for helping to enroll in the Medicare program or any other payments provided by the program. —Persons should call at the nearest Social Security office

The Post-Crescent
Tuesday, December 28, 1965
now if they are 65 or older and apply for the hospitalization payments even though they are still working or never worked. —Persons should consider signing for physician's services. This is not automatic. This part of the Social Security law is voluntary. There is a time limit for signing. Persons desiring information should call at the nearest office.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A K E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Brain Twisters

Each answer here begins with the name of some animal. For example, if we give the clue, "Plait of hair," your answer would be "PIGTAIL," and if we say, "Behavior," your answer would be "BEARING." What are our "beastly answers" to the following?

1. Irregular tribunal.
2. Illegal boxing blow.
3. The largest portion.
4. Western movie.
5. Handyman's twister.

Treaty of Paris Put on Display in Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Treaty of Paris, which formally ended the Revolutionary War, has gone on public display in the Maryland statehouse only a few feet from the chamber where it was ratified Jan. 14, 1784.

The Continental Congress was then in session, using the Maryland and Senate chamber for its de-

Make a Snow House Using Mortar Made From Soft Slush

BY GARRY DICK

A house of snow is fun to build with snow blocks all the same size, fitted together with slush as mortar. You can make a window of ice. Try this project any day when there is plenty of snow and the temperature is below freezing. The house will stand until the temperature rises above freezing.

To make the snow blocks you will need a mold. A wood box will serve nicely. Pack snow into it until it is solid. Then, turning the box upside down, shake the block out. Make another block the same way and lay it end-to-end with the first. Continue until you have a foundation outlined for the four walls.

Make some slush, "mortar" from soft snow and a little water and when you are ready to lay the second row of blocks apply a little of this mortar which will freeze and hold the blocks together. As masons do when laying bricks, place each block of the second row so the center covers the ends of the two blocks on which it rests.

President's Record for Budget Control Ruined

BY SYLVIA PORTER

To his own dismay — and ours too — President Johnson is now dramatically blackening one of his most cherished records. This is his record for reducing annual government spending well below original budget estimates and closing the fiscal year with deficits much smaller than initially projected — virtuoso performances which have helped give the nation and the world strong confidence in the White House's fiscal responsibility.

This budget record has now been shattered — still another casualty of the Viet Nam war. Here's the tale.

Spending Down

The first budget over which Johnson had partial control was for fiscal '64 — running from mid-'63 to mid-'64. The original spending estimate for that year was $98.8 billion, the initial deficit projection was $11.9 billion.

The actual figures turned out to be: spending down to $97.9 billion, the deficit down to $8.2 billion.

The next budget was for fiscal '65 — running from mid-'64 to mid-'65 and "pure Johnson." The original spending estimate was $97.9 billion, the initial deficit projection was $4.9 billion.

The actual figures turned out to be: spending down to $96.5 billion, the deficit down to $3.5 billion.

Romantic, Realist, Gambler

Favorite Historic Era Can Reveal Character

By HAE BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you could live in any period of the world's history, which would you choose — past, present or future?

Your answer shows whether you are a romanticist, a realist, or a gambler.

The romanticist aches for the imagined glamor of bygone times he never knew.

If he is a henpecked husband, he may yearn for the caveman days, when each fellow was master of his niche in the cliff — and women received equal rights by being belted over the head with a club.

Or he may pine for the chivalrous glories of knighthood. He overlooks the fact that riding off to battle in a suit of clanking armor must have been largely just a noisy adventure in claustrophobia.

The gambler, contrary to the romanticist, thrives on great expectations. The future is his dish.

He wants to zoom through space, build a desert villa on the moon, and explore Mars in search of red-eyed, little green people-like creatures with antennas on their nogginns. He doesn't have any real idea what life will be like in the 21st or 22nd centuries. But he is sure it would be wild, and wiered and wonderful.

So much for the backward lookers and the forward seekers. That leaves us with the realists. They are the ones who aren't hungry for a fabled past or thirsty for a fabulous future.

They walk the tightrope of the present — between a dream and a dream. They prefer to banquet on the bread and wine of now, satisfied with the menu as it changes in the course of their lifetime.

Right Now

What is the best time to live? When you get right down to it, what's the matter with right now?

A man who has achieved the full maturity of middle age in this most murderous of centuries is a privileged adventurer indeed.

He has survived two world wars and one of the worst depressions our country ever knew.

He has seen the horse and buggy give way to the auto, the street car replaced by the bus, the railroad succeeded by the jet plane, artillery outmoded by the atomic bomb.

He used to worry about getting enough to keep him alive. Now he worries that if he eats too much he'll die sooner than he has to.

Free From Care
Air-conditioning and new heating methods have relieved him of the ordeals of the weather. Radio and television have extended his hearing and vision by thousands of miles — and also billion. This was a truly extraordinary achievement.

The current budget is for fiscal '66, to end in mid-'66. The original spending estimate was $99.7 billion, the initial deficit projection was $5.3 billion.

Over $100 Billion

Administration officials already have publicly boosted the spending total to the $105-$107 billion range and the deficit to the $7-$8 billion level. The symbolic $100 billion budget mark has been forever pierced. The color of ink in which the budget is written has been changed from moderate to deep red.

Now the budget for fiscal '67 — to run from mid-'66 to mid-'67 — is being prepared for release next month.

While guessing at precise figures is worse than useless because many of the "leaks" out of Washington are misleading and are designed to test public reaction, it's a certainty that spending will be billions higher. The reversal has been glaring indeed.

What does it mean? It means that the whole fiscal outlook for our country has been violently altered just in the past few months — with the basic reason the Viet Nam war and soaring military spending.

Tax Cuts Dead

It means that "restraint" has replaced "expansion" as a key word in government fiscal and monetary policy. Viet Nam is putting a squeeze on Great Society programs and its a certainty that spending for some programs — for instance, aid to Appalachia and other depressed regions — will be stretched out. Tax cuts are dead, of course, and tax hikes are being very seriously discussed. Interest rates have risen sharply, the supply of credit for loans is being curtailed — and if there is an intensification of inflationary price trends and inflation psychology, credit will be tightened further.

It means that the dollar cost of carrying the national debt is and will be ballooning. As recently as this past October, I made a guess in this column that the cost of carrying the national debt in fiscal '66 would come to $12 billion against the original estimate of $11.4 billion. Because of the extent to which interest rates have climbed since, my guess is now conservative. In the next fiscal year, well over $12 billion of our tax money will go just to pay interest on the national debt — a reflection of increasing Treasury borrowing to finance the deficit as well as the higher borrowing rates.

It means that it is becoming painfully unrealistic to continue claiming this is an era of even "so-called peace."

About the one "bright" budget note I can submit is that with our economy in an all-out boom, we can afford to slow down on some Great Society programs for now. Considering that Viet Nam is responsible for this, I've put that word "bright" in quotes.

Defective Stockings Cause Stir in Moscow Ministries

MOSCOW (AP) — Pity the Russian working girl who spends a day's wages to buy a pair of stockings, wears them one day and finds a hole in a heel, all the toes out and lots of runs.

"Where is the working conscience of those factory workers who produced this defective stuff?" angrily demanded Miss Krylova.

She was mad about a pair of stockings from the Krtisanis factory in Soviet Georgia that had cost 2.40 rubles — $2.64 — the average daily earning of a woman clerk here. So she wrote to Pravda, the Communist party organ.

5 Ministries

The paper got together with a Moscow department store and summoned a meeting to put people on the spot.

To discuss stockings in the Communist system, it took people from five different government ministries, plus the factories, plus Moscow shops. They seemed to Pravda to have agreed that the stocking business has problems.

Inadequate and poor quality yarn is supplied to factories. Machinery is old.

The Krtisanis factory in Georgia was the main scapegoat.

Pravda said it sent 16,000 pairs of stockings to Moscow's central department store this year and all of them were defective. They are sitting in a warehouse while the factory refuses to accept responsibility.

Pravda concluded on the usual cheery note of such public admissions that problems have existed in the Soviet Union. In 1966 better yarn will be supplied, some factories will be re-equipped and production will increase 11 per cent.

But Robert Bolt, a playwright who also scripted "Lawrence of Arabia," threaded the diverse figures into a sensible pattern, relying sometimes on coincidental meetings. He also invested the long-ago events with immediacy; the elements of revolution, anarchy and suppression are ever with us.

Reaction to Society

Basically, "Doctor Zhivago" concerns an artist's adjustment to society. A doctor-poet, Zhivago recognizes the decadence and cruelty of the czarist regime, later witnesses the insanity of war. Revolution only brings another tyranny: rule of the mob and the elevation of petty terrorists.

The choice of Omar Sharif for the leading role was critical. Since his face is not overly familiar to the movie public, there is no intrusion of his own personality. He becomes Zhivago. His compassionate eyes tell all that needs to be known as he witnesses the slaughter of revolutionaries on a Moscow street; later, the carnage of a village destroyed by a rampaging Soviet general.

Several English Actors

Aside from Egyptian Sharif and American Rod Steiger, the leading cast members are English: Julie Christie, Alec Guinness, Tom Courtenay, Ralph Richardson, Rita Tushingham. All are uniformly excellent. Geraldine Chaplin makes a splendid debut as Zhivago's long-suffering wife, but her role

Lean accepted a challenge with the new film. "Doctor Zhivago" was one of the most talked-about and unread novels of recent times. The obscurity of the period and the multiplicity of characters seemed to mitigate against its chances as film entertainment.

But Robert Bolt, a playwright who also scripted "Lawrence of Arabia," threaded the diverse figures into a sensible pattern, relying sometimes on coincidental meetings. He also invested the long-ago events with immediacy; the elements of revolution, anarchy and suppression are ever with us.

Reaction to Society

Basically, "Doctor Zhivago" concerns an artist's adjustment to society. A doctor-poet, Zhivago recognizes the decadence and cruelty of the czarist regime, later witnesses the insanity of war. Revolution only brings another tyranny: rule of the mob and the elevation of petty terrorists.

The brilliance of Lean's technique is in the fact that Zhivago's feelings are not expressed in speeches. The events happen and Zhivago reacts, mostly with his expressive face.

The choice of Omar Sharif for

the leading role was critical. Since his face is not overly familiar to the movie public, there is no intrusion of his own personality. He becomes Zhivago. His compassionate eyes tell all that needs to be known as he witnesses the slaughter of revolutionaries on a Moscow street; later, the carnage of a village destroyed by a rampaging Soviet general.

State Chills To First Dip Below Zero

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures nosedived today toward zero and below today in Wisconsin's first severe cold wave of the winter, but weathermen foresaw warmer readings for Wednesday.

Temperatures early today ranged down to six below in Superior. It was one above in Wausau and Eau Claire, 5 above in Madison, 6 in Green Bay, 8 in Milwaukee and 10 in La Crosse.

Weathermen said the plunging temperatures resulted from a rapidly moving Arctic cold front which whisked through Wisconsin Monday.

By today the cold front had moved east to around Lake Erie and the Weather Bureau called for thermometer readings Wednesday ranging in the 20s, in contrast to today's daytime marks hovering around the teens.

The Weather Bureau added this simple note to its official forecast for today's temperatures: "Brrrrrrrrrr."

Packer-Brown Game Sellout, Vince Reports

GREEN BAY — Sunday's Packer-Brown championship game is a sellout, Coach-General Manager Vince Lombardi announced today.

The capacity is 50,852, and tickets are priced at $10 and $12. The game has been oversubscribed already, meaning that the orders have exceeded the number of seats.

Last Sunday's division playoff missed being a sellout by 348. The attendance was 50,484.

The attendance at the 1961 championship game here was 30,029 which was about 2,000 under the capacity of the stadium.

Lombardi Had Cailed for Field Goal Unit on Third Down, Changed Mind

GREEN BAY — "I had visions of not sugar plums, but of somebody fumbling," Vince Lombardi was re-living some of those final hectic sudden-death moments of Sunday's Packer-Colt smash hit at a press conference Monday and he continued in response to questions from 20 writers:

"We had established our goal line at around the 20-yard line which means that we would kick (Don Chandler field goal) as soon as we got down there."

"Pitts had just made four yards to the 22 and I yelled for the field goal team on third down. They had their capes off but I held them off."

"We had decided to stop passing once we got down there. But when Taylor went on third down I had those visions of a fumble. They (the Colts) were hitting hard."

Would Have Kicked

Somebody wanted to know "what do you do when you want the field goal team?" and Vince yelled at the top of his voice "field goal!" The New York contingent recalled the sudden death championship game between the Colts and Giants in 1958 and noted that the Colts took a big gamble by going for the TD (by Alan Ameche) rather than kick a field goal.

"If Taylor, for instance," Vince said, "had reached the 10-yard line on his last run we still would have kicked the field goal right away."

Vince ticked off the members of the field goal team — "Thurston, Starr, Chandler, Davis, Aldridge, Skoronski, Gregg, Robinson, Caffey, Grimm and the rookie, Curry" and he noted that Bill Curry has "a good snap, on punts, too, and he covers well and has good speed."

Former Stars Return Wednesday

FVL Varsity to Duel Alumni

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Old acquaintances will be renewed Wednesday night when the Fox Valley Lutheran High School varsity of 1965-6 will meet the varsity stars of '63-'64 and '64-'65 in the ninth annual alumni game.

The game is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m. with a preliminary tilt between the graduates of 1960-63 and any grads from before '60, slated to begin at 7 p.m.

Included on the alumni roster will be Don Arps, Wayne Koenig, Barry Wierschke, Larry Kahler, Dennis Olson and Chuck Krahn, of the class of '64; and Lee Kiepe, John Mueller, Ron Vandertie and Ron Sager of the class of '65.

Holds Record

These alumni represent two of the best teams the school has ever had—in '63-'64 with a 16-7 record including the Badger Lutheran Conference championship and last year with a 15-7 record and the Wisconsin Lutheran Invitational Basketball Tournament championship.

Koenig and Kiepe were two of the most potent cagers in FVL history. Koenig holds the record for the most points in a single season, with 355 and Kiepe holds the records for most points in two seasons, with 656, most points in three seasons with 747, and most assists in one season with 110.

The preliminary game will feature such FVL greats as Verlyn Dobberstein, Ken Neubert, Jack Plamann and Royal Uhlenbrauck of '63 and Dennis Dobberstein, Darrell Mindel and Ron Olm of '61.

Also making an appearance for the '60-'63 team will be Roger Bartman, Roger Luebke and Darwin Hinz.

The grads before '60 will be represented by Mel Selle, Ken Look, Jack Kositske, Steve Boese, Harold Bruss, and Duane Bellin.

Boese also was one of the top scorers in FVL history. He holds the record for the most points in four years with 996, and up to last year held the record for most points in three years. He also holds the school's single game scoring record with 36 points.

Ken Look holds the record for the most free throws in one season with 95 and Darrell Mindel grabbed more rebounds (331) in a single season than any other FVL cager.

The alumni will be attempting to snap a 5-game losing streak as they have won only one of the eight previous matches.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Scheffing, former manager of the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers, was named director of player development by the New York Mets Monday.

Scheffing, 50, replaces Eddie Stanky, signed earlier this month as manager of the Chicago White Sox.

This past season Scheffing was a special assignment scout for the Tigers, who dismissed him as manager on June 18, 1963. He managed the Cubs for three years starting in 1957.

Scheffing was a catcher for Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis of the National League before retiring as a player in 1951.

Browns Stage Light Workout For Title Game

Some Players Feel Packers Tougher Foe Than Colts

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, after a two-day holiday weekend, began Monday preparing for the showdown Sunday against the Green Bay Packers for the National Football League title.

The defending champion Browns, who clinched the Eastern Conference title well before the season ended, watched films of Green Bay games Monday before going through a light workout.

Browns Coach Blanton Collier put his team through three days of drills last week with emphasis on fundamentals, including some things that hadn't been discussed since last summer's training camp, and saw the Packers personally while team members watched the game on television.

Some of the Browns felt the Packers would be tougher to face than the Colts would have been, but Coach Collier indicated it didn't make much difference to him whom he played.

"In a situation like this, regardless of which team you play," Collier said, "you usually wish you had the other team before it is over with."

Satisfying Ending To Big Challenge, Don Chandler Says

Bart Starr Listed as Doubtful Starter, X-Rays Prove Negative

By JACK HAND

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Among the wires that poured into Don Chandler's home after his field goal heroics in Sunday's sudden death football game was a message from Wel Mara, his old boss at New York. "It was real nice of Wel," said the Green Bay place kicker. "I appreciated it."

Nobody paid much attention to Chandler in the year-end polls for comeback of the year, but the veteran deserved a high rank. His tying and winning kicks for a 13-10 victory against Baltimore Sunday made it 19 out of 29 field goal attempts and a total of 96 points.

Last year he made nine out of 20 for the Giants. Ironically, the Giants had troubles with field goals and made only 4 of 25 this season.

Most Satisfying

"I guess the Giants did me a favor when they traded me to Green Bay," said Chandler. "It was a tremendous challenge to me and a most satisfying ending."

"Last summer I practiced kicking back home in Tulsa for about six weeks before I went to camp. I kicked 15 or 16 a day at the high school field. It helped me get ready for camp because I felt I had to make the ball club. Ordinarily it takes me 10 days to get ready but this time I figured I should be ready to go from the start."

Chandler tied Sunday's play-off game for the National Football League's Western Conference crown with less than two minutes to go when he made

Vikings Face Northland In Opener

BY JIM HARP

Defending champion St. Norbert College of De Pere will be rated the favorite when the second annual Lawrence University Holiday Basketball Tournament opens Wednesday night, but the Green Knights may find that repeating their win of a year ago may be no easy task.

The Lawrence tournament gets underway at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Alexander Gymnasium, with Lawrence meeting Northland College, of Ashland, in the first game and St. Norbert is matched against Milton College, of Milton, in the nightcap.

More overall balance is seen between the four teams this year and a hot shooting spree could result in victory for any of the four quintets.

Milton brings the only winning record into the tournament. Milton has a 2-1 record while the next best mark is the 2-5 listed by St. Norbert. Lawrence is 1-3 after four Midwest Conference games and Northland carries a 1-4 record.

In last year's tournament, Lawrence opened with a 75-70 victory over Milton, and St. Norbert rolled to a 102-71 victory over Northland. In the championship game, St. Norbert scored a 84-62 triumph over Lawrence. In the consolation contest, Northland got by Milton, 73-67.

In four games this season Lawrence has averaged 73.8 points while opponents have averaged 85. St. Norbert has the best scoring average, 87.4 per game, while opponents of the Green Knights have been averaging 94.4.

Northland's lone victory of the season was scored over Michigan Tech. Coach Ray Nelson's Northland squad is paced by senior veteran Bob Hammen, of Milwaukee, who has already passed the 1,000-point mark for his collegiate career. Hammen currently is averaging better than 20 points per game.

Knowles' Bet Accepted by Ohio's Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes accepted today an invitation from Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles to attend the National Football League championship game and got in on the betting action with a case of Ohio tomato juice—Ohio's official state beverage.

Knowles invited Rhodes to the game Monday and promised to present Rhodes with some Wisconsin cheese if the Cleveland Browns defeat the Green Bay Packers Sunday at Green Bay, Wis.

In answering Knowles' invitation, the Ohio governor also asked that Knowles use his influence with pro football friends to help Cincinnati land an NFL franchise.

Rhodes' reply made no comment on the news that Knowles has issued a proclamation designating Green Bay "football capital of the world." Columbus, where Ohio State football teams have averaged crowds of over 80,000 for years, also goes by that nickname.

Chisox' Short To be Guest at Foxes' Banquet

General Manager Joins Swelling List Of Baseball Notables

Chicago White Sox General Manager Ed Short will be among the guests at the Fox Cities mid-winter sports award dinner Jan. 18. The banquet which will headline Paul "Dizzy" Trout as guest speaker and Charlie Grimm as master of ceremonies, is now close to being a complete sell-out.

Short, who became general manager in 1961, is considered one of the best, young executives in baseball. He joined the Sox organization in 1950 and served closely with such baseball personalities as Frank Lane, Paul Richards, Chuck Comiskey, John Rigney, Bill Veck, Hank Greenberg, and Al Lopez.

Short was born and raised in Chicago, is married, and has one son. After attending junior college for two years he began working with the public relations department of the Chicago Stadium. During World War II, he served 3½ years in the

Proud Defense, Breaks Kept Bays Alive

By KEN HARTNETT
GREEN, Bay, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers have ridden a magic carpet to the National Football League's Western Conference title, a feat that must rank as Coach Vince Lombardi's miracle of miracles. Green Bay's resident wonder worker used no mirrors. Instead, he relied on a fiercely proud defense and a dazzling succession of breaks that kept the Packers in contention despite the deepest offensive slump any Lombardi-coached team has ever been in.

"Incredibly lucky," asserted one Packer critic after a typical Packer win featuring a key Green Bay weapon — the punt, the fumble and the field goal.

Cost 1964 Crown
But if luck is the residue of design, the master plan was well laid down by Lombardi beginning with the acquisition of Don Chandler, the veteran place kicker who had outlived his usefulness as a member of the New York Giants.

The lack of a reliable field goal kicker cost the Packers the crown in 1964. The presence of Chandler assured one in 1965. Lombardi booting 16 in 23 attempts in 13 games for the Packers. He also provided the high booming punts that kept opposition runners from ruining the Packers with breakaway sprints.

Lombardi also had a veteran and cohesive defensive cast led by end Willie Davis, anchored by the tackle team of Henry Jordan and Ron Kostelnik, and guarded at the borders by two of the league's finest secondary backs, Willie Wood and Herb Adderley.

Lombardi, who took the Packers from the edge of ruin and turned them into the prestige team of the NFL almost overnight, thought he also had an offensive unit up to the high standards of past Packer squads.

But an ankle injury slowed up fullback Jim Taylor. Halfback Paul Hornung appeared to be listlessly playing out the string, and new hands inserted into the offensive line were finding themselves overwhelmed Sunday after Sunday.

Vince Thought About Kicking On Third Down

chore is Cleveland in the world title game at Lambeau Field Sunday, expressed great pride in the 1965 Western Division champions, pointing out:

Most Important
"This may not be the best I've ever had, but it has a great deal of character," which I think is most important.

"This season has been extra special for me (referring to the tight race and games) and there is more satisfaction than when you win big.

"Our game Sunday was football as it should be played. It was as fine a hitting game I've ever seen. I don't remember one like it."

Looking to the next assignment, Lombardi said, "The only fear we have now is that we might be drained emotionally. I don't believe you get stale physically — in fact you can't overwork any young man whose in good condition physically, but we could be hurt emotionally."

This, he explained, is the reason the Packers were given two days off. "It might help them to relax their emotions. I'm sure the practice (that was called off for Tuesday) wouldn't be of particular help. Days off are more important. Our big job is getting ready mentally — not physically."

Chandler Gets Many Wires

good on a 22-yard boot. Informed that Lou Michaels, Baltimore kicker and defensive end had claimed the kick was not good, Chandler commented: "All I have to say is that there were two officials there, one on each side of the posts, and one official behind me. Maybe they (Colts) should have paid more attention to rushing."

Confirm Story
The winning field goal at 13:39 of the sudden death overtime almost came a play earlier. Both Coach Vince Lombardi and Chandler confirmed the story Monday.

"I almost sent him in on third down," said Lombardi. "I yelled, 'field goal,' and the field goal team all got up and started taking off their robes. But I changed my mind. Imagine, if we had fumbled, I would be kicking myself all over Green Bay."

"That's got to be the big one for me," said Chandler. "We have had a lot of tough things to overcome this year. Now we've got to play another tough game against Cleveland. It has been real blood and guts football all season."

2-Day Holiday
Chandler and the rest of the Packers were given a two-day holiday by the coach before they resume practice Wednesday.

Bart Starr, the No. 1 quarterback, is a doubtful starter for Sunday's NFL championship game with Cleveland at Green Bay. Starr has a painfully bruised right side and has trouble raising his right arm. However, X-rays proved negative.

Lombardi said he would not know about Starr until Friday. In the meantime, the veteran Zeke Bratkowski, who led the Packers to victory after Starr was hurt on the first play, will run the ball club.

Lombardi said he thought Paul Hornung (bruised leg), Ron Kostelnik (sore foot) and Boyd Dowler (unwired ankle) would be ready to face the Browns.

6-Game Stretch

The Packers in one six game stretch were able to score more than one touchdown on one Sunday only. Incredibly, they managed to split the six games.

A typical win was the 13-3 victory over Dallas Oct. 24 when the Packers were held to minus 10 yards passing. Yet, they managed a touchdown and two field goals after recovering three Cowboy fumbles and intercepting two passes.

"The Packers have a great team and should go on to win the championship with a couple of assists from us," said George Halas after his Chicago Bears lost to the Packers 23-14 Oct. 3.

The following week, the Bears went on a tear that made them the terrors of the league for the balance of the season.

Kept His Word
Halas kept his word. The Bears downed the frontrunning Baltimore Colts 13-0 and sidelined Johnny Unitas for the rest of the season. He was not at the helm on the following Sunday when the Packers played the Colts and beat them 42-27.

On the same Sunday, the Packers were beating the Minnesota Vikings 24-19. Two last minute Viking touchdown passes were nullified by referees' rulings on judgment plays.

Perhaps Unitas would have made no difference against Green Bay. The Packers found themselves on that foggy afternoon.

Lombardi himself may have settled the issue with a shopworn psychological ploy. Lombardi benched Hornung the Sunday before the Colt game and leaked out word that the one time Golden Boy would henceforth be a second string fullback.

Customary Post
But when the Packers took the field against the Colts, Hornung was at his customary halfback post. He scored five touchdowns as he played with the abandon that made him celebrated.

Lombardi knows how to handle professional athletes and has stocked his team with players who respond to the game in the same electric way he does.

"Whether you hoister or scream, it's not going to mean one darn thing unless you win, unless you get the job done," Hornung wrote in his book.

Lombardi would say amen to that.

Tough Both Ways

How do the Green Bay Packers look to Cleveland Browns' Coach Blanton Collier?

"Their defense is something like that of the Dallas Cowboys," he said. "I'd say the offense resembles that of St. Louis, the one the Cardinals had before injuries hit the team."

That means Collier thinks the Packers are tough both ways. Dallas had the stingiest defense (280 points) in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

St. Louis, before the injuries, beat the Browns 49-13, the worst defeat the defending NFL champions suffered in an 11-3 record.

Collier, who takes the Browns to Green Bay, Wis., Sunday for the NFL championship game, made some other observations about the Packers Monday in an interview.

Certainly Impressed

Packers Like Cowboys Defensively, Cards on Offense, Says Collier

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — How do the Green Bay Packers look to Cleveland Browns' Coach Blanton Collier?

Collier, who takes the Browns to Green Bay, Wis., Sunday for the NFL championship game, made some other observations about the Packers Monday in an interview.

Certainly Impressed
Q. Were you impressed with the Green Bay linebackers against the Baltimore Colts?

A. I certainly was. I guess Ray Nitschke must be the top middle linebacker in the league. Their three regulars all have an unusual combination of height, weight and speed.

Q. How about the defensive line?
A. This is a different type of defensive line from overpowering ones like those of Detroit and Los Angeles. Fellows like Henry Jordan and Willie Davis use that quickness and mobility to get the job done. Lionel Alldridge and Ron Kostelnik are more the conventional, big, strong types."

Q. How did Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor look (against Baltimore last Sunday)?
A. Too good. Hornung seemed to be running as well as ever. Taylor is the type of player who scratches and squirms for every yard. He works well in close quarters. If there's any running room he usually finds it."

"Do Same Things"
Q. Will Cleveland game plans be changed if it's Zeke Bratkowski at quarterback rather than Bart Starr?

A. We'll do just about the same things against either of them. I have a high regard for Starr. He has talent plus ability to follow a game plan. I believe he's been bothered by sore ribs much of this year. It may have hampered his throwing. As a result Bratkowski has played quite a bit.

The Browns, who played their last game Dec. 19, has held light workouts and were joined Monday by flanker Gary Collins and halfback Ernie Green. Both missed practice last week because of injuries.

"When you let bowlers like Joe Spilski and Ed Flood nominate you for king of the bowling tournament, didn't they tell you that you'd have to wear that... ah... royal costume?"

Will Practice in Green Bay

Browns Slated to Arrive in Appleton Area Friday Night

Post-Crescent News Service
In a departure from custom, the Cleveland Browns will not headquarter in Green Bay in advance of Sunday's National Football League championship game against the Packers.

The Browns, who are scheduled to arrive at Austin Straubel Field at 8 p.m. Friday, will proceed immediately by bus to the Appleton Holiday Inn, according to the itinerary received by Manager Robert Shulman of Green Bay's Greyhound bus station from Browns' business manager Harold Sauerbrei Monday.

The reason, Shulman was informed, "is that they would just as soon not be in Green Bay on New Year's Eve."

According to the itinerary, the Browns will leave Appleton by bus at 10:30 Saturday morning for a workout at the Packers' South Oneida Street practice field, then return to their Appleton Motel, where they will remain sequestered until 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when they are scheduled to leave for Lambeau Field and the title showdown.

They will fly out of Green Bay immediately after the game.

Offer Made by Bays to Tech's Don Anderson

Attorney Disputes Lombardi's Quote On Negotiations

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Green Bay General Manager Vince Lombardi has been quoted as saying the Packers have not yet made an offer to Texas Tech's Donny Anderson, but Anderson's attorney told the Houston Post Monday night an offer has been made.

The All-America halfback has been drafted by both the National Football League Packers and the American Football League Houston Oilers.

"Mr. Lombardi has not made a proposition, no," Lubbock, Tex., Attorney H. J. (Doc) Blanchard said in a telephone interview from Jacksonville, Fla. "But it was my understanding that a representative of Green Bay had made an offer."

"At least they came to see me as representatives of Green Bay. Later we may find out it wasn't an offer Green Bay made. If not, then Donny may not sign this year (by midnight after the Gator Bowl game in Jacksonville, Fla.)."

Took Proposal As Offer
"But we took Green Bay's proposal as an offer, just as we took Mr. (Oiler owner Bud) Adams'."

And this was not the extent of the bidding, Blanchard said.

"There has been some counterbidding, yes," he said. "One will make an offer, then the other will match it."

Adams said Saturday his bid already had topped the losing one he said he made to Texas' Tommy Nobis, $650,000.

If Anderson doesn't sign before midnight after Texas Tech's game with Georgia Tech Friday, it will cost him a wad of money.

Blanchard said Anderson will be in the 60 per cent income tax bracket if he signs before midnight and in the 70 per cent bracket if he waits until next year.

Aussies Clinch Win Over Spain

Take 3-0 Lead in Cup Play With Doubles Triumph

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The sun blazed down on center court at 114 degrees, and John Newcombe and Tony Roche blazed over it with the same intensity today as Australia retained the Davis Cup with an easy doubles triumph over the flamboyant Spanish team of Manuel Santana and Luis Arilla.

The Aussies' 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph over the gallant Spaniards gave the boys from Down Under an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-5 series and kept the big silver cup, emblematic of world amateur tennis supremacy, in Australia for the 13th time in the last 20 years.

Despite an imported group of 400 Spanish spectators gaily bedecked in red and gold scarves and an appreciative Australian crowd of 8,000 in White City Stadium, the Spaniards seemed to wilt after breaking through in the second set.

Santana tired noticeably during the third set, apparently feeling the effects of the 60-game singles match he lost to Fred Stolle Monday, 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5 Spain fell behind 2-0 when Roy Emerson whipped Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Minnesota Edges Cornell in Tourney

Seventh-Ranked Michigan Loses To Arizona State Quint, 98-87

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Minnesota's basketball team has run out of friends in the City of Brotherly Love.

The Gophers, led by team captain Archie Clark, edged stubborn Cornell 84-82 Monday night in their first start in Philadelphia's Quaker City Classic, but they were the only out-of-towners to survive the tournament's opening round.

Matt Goukas sparked defending tourney champion St. Joseph's to a 95-72 romp over Niagara while unbeaten Temple rocked St. Bonaventure 84-72 and LaSalle upended previously unbeaten Brigham Young 71-69 in their first-round action.

Temple, 9-0, meets LaSalle, 3-4, in one of Wednesday night's semifinals — assuring Philadelphia of a finalist in a tourney won by local teams in each of its four years — and eighth-ranked St. Joseph's plays the No. 9 Gophers in the other.

Scores 25 Points
Clark paced Minnesota to its sixth victory in seven games with 25 points and nine assists. He hit four key free throws in the last 1 1/2 minutes, wrapping it up against the surprising Ivy Leaguers.

Goukas also came up with nine assists and hit for 20 points as the Hawks rebounded from two straight road losses for a 7-2 season mark. St. Joseph's raced to a 14-point halftime lead and breezed home despite losing rebounder Cliff Anderson on fouls early in the second half.

LaSalle snapped sixth-ranked BYU's seven-game winning string — which included a victory over St. Joseph's — with a second half rally, taking the lead for good 58-57 on Hubie Grant's jumper with 12:02 to play. Ken Morgan, with 29 points, Jim Williams, with 18, and Clarence Brookings, with 15, shot Temple past the Bonnies.

Tenth-ranked Providence nipped New York University 79-76 in the first round of the ECAC Holiday Festival at New York, but No. 7 Michigan was knocked off by Arizona State 98-87 in a Far West Classic opener at Portland, Ore., as 10 major tournaments tipped off across the country and as far west as Hawaii.

is senior and team captain Tom Steinmetz, of Menasha, who has 76 points in the four games the Vikings have played. This gives Steinmetz an average of 19.

Sophomore Steve Simon, Milwaukee, is runnerup to Steinmetz in scoring for the Vikes with 71 points for an average of 17.8. Junior Dick Schultz has 56 points for Lawrence and an average of 14 per game.

Ron Brauli, Two Rivers sharpshooter, is the leading scorer for St. Norbert and he currently is averaging 22 points per game. Brauli is hitting field goals at 43 per cent this season and has scored 154 points in seven games.

Freshman Tom Rankin, former Appleton Xavier High School star, is second in scoring for the Knights and he is the leading rebounder on the squad. Rankin's brother Dick, who had the tournament's high individual point total of 21 in last year's championship game, was selected as the most valuable player in the 1964 meet.

St. Norbert has another Fox Cities native on its squad. Al Hietpas, former Kimberly High School standout, has scored 40 points so far this season.

The top output for the Knights this season was against Eau Claire when St. Norbert posted a 127-106 victory.

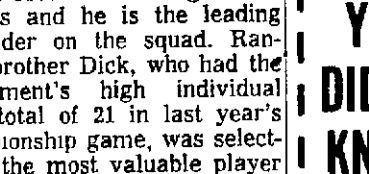

Two Spectators Die Of Heart Attacks at Packer-Baltimore Tilt

GREEN BAY (AP) — Two spectators collapsed and died, apparently of heart attacks, at Lambeau Field Sunday as the Green Bay Packers and Baltimore Colts were playing their National Football League divisional playoff game.

Dead were Theodore Hummerding, 54, of Antigo and George Arnold, 62, of Fond du Lac.

Two fans also collapsed and died at the Vikings-Packers game Dec. 5.

SPORT FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Ever wonder who "invented" football bowl games? A Pasadena, Calif., businessman, James Wagner, is credited with the original idea. To promote Pasadena's Tournament of Roses affair in 1902, he got the idea of staging a post-season football game... All of today's bowl games stem from Wagner's idea some sixty years ago.

Did you know that two boys who later became movie stars once played football in the Rose Bowl? Remember old-time star Johnny Mack Brown? He played in the Rose Bowl in 1926 with Alabama and then went on to a successful movie career... And, Ward Bond, who appeared in hundreds of movies, played in the 1930 Rose Bowl game as a member of Southern Cal's team.

Here's an oddity we bet you didn't know about the greatest shortstop of all-time... Although Honus Wagner is acknowledged to be the best shortstop who ever lived, did you know he made more errors than any other player in the history of major league baseball? Honus made a total of 720 errors in his career... It proves again that a man can make many mistakes in life and still succeed.

It has been three years since the New York Knickerbockers last won a National Basketball Association game at Cincinnati Gardens. The way the Royals played Monday night, it could be three more years before the Knicks break the string.

Cincinnati opened up a 12-point first period lead and steadily added to it, whacking New York 138-116. In the only other NBA game played, Los Angeles downed St. Louis 108-100 at Memphis, Tenn.

Oscar Robertson was the Royals' big gun, scoring 36 points and lacking on 17 assists. Adrian Smith, Oscar's running mate in the Royals' backcourt, added 26 and Jerry Lucas had 25.

Cincinnati shot a sizzling 59 per cent on 58 for 102 from the floor with Robertson connecting on 15 of 25. Dick Barnett led New York with 29.

The Royals have beaten New York 16 straight times at home, last losing in Cincinnati in December, 1962.

Bob Boozer and Jerry West paced Los Angeles' comeback as the Lakers wiped out a 13-point halftime deficit and overtook St. Louis.

Boozer spun off a nine-point string in the third period and West duplicated it in the final 90 seconds as the Western Division leaders outscored the Hawks 34-15 in the final 12 minutes.

West led the Lakers with 24 and Boozer finished with 23. Player-coach Richie Guerin led St. Louis with 25.

Once-Beaten Duke Retains Cage Poll Lead

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Four undefeated teams have taken stronger positions in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll while once-beaten Duke held onto a sizable first-place lead.

The four are Vanderbilt, Bradley, Iowa and Kentucky, ranking behind the Blue Devils in that order.

Duke, 7-1 including last week's 100-93 overtime victory over Michigan, collected 35 first-place votes and 405 points in the latest balloting by a special panel of 43 regional experts.

Vanderbilt advanced two places to second with seven first-place votes and 331 points. The Commodores whipped Northwestern and the University of California at Santa Barbara, pushing their record to 8-0.

Climber 2 Places
Bradley also climbed two places to third after beating Montana and North Dakota for a 10-0 mark. The Peoria, Ill. Braves had 299 points.

Iowa, 7-0, soared from ninth to fourth while Kentucky, which received the only other vote for the top position, moved up from 10th to fifth. Both teams are 7-0. The Wildcats trounced Texas Tech 89-73 last week while Iowa

Chandler's Tying Field Goal No Good, Sav Miller, Michaels

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Baltimore Colts said Monday they believed that the field goal right by Don Chandler of Green Bay which tied their playoff game missed by "three feet."

The kick sent the National Football League Western Conference title game into a sudden death overtime Sunday before another Chandler field goal gave the Packers a 13-10 victory.

Lou Michaels of the Colts protested the boot by Chandler that tied the score 10-10 in the regulation game was wide.

Michaels, who plays defensive end and does the place kicking, told a Baltimore reporter, "It missed by three feet and you can print that."

Michaels said he was in a good position to see the kick after being stopped in an effort to block the ball. He said he turned to watch the flight and it

$18 Million Paid for Ships Sunk by Betsy

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A settlement of $18,037,141 has been paid by a group of American and English underwriters for two ships sunk during Hurricane Betsy last Sept. 9.

The ships, under construction for Lykes Steamship Co., Inc., of New Orleans, sank in the Mississippi River when they were ripped from their moorings. The settlement was announced by Winkler & Co., insurance brokers for Avondale Shipyards, Inc., builder of the vessels.

Wisconsin Cagers Face Pennsylvania

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin basketball team put in two drills Monday and planned more of the same today in preparation for meeting Pennsylvania in the Badger fieldhouse Wednesday night.

Wisconsin is 2-6 while Pennsylvania shows a 6-1 mark.

Badger Coach John Erickson has made no attempt to hide his disappointment with the poor rebounding his players have exhibited so far.

"You've got to have a consistent effort on the backboard and we're just not getting up there," he said.

He noted that in losing to Cincinnati last week three Wisconsin centers accounted for only two rebounds.

The Johnson-Erhard Talks

The joint communique issued by President Johnson and West Germany's Chancellor Ludwig Erhard certainly did not spell out any new plans for changes in the nuclear arrangements for the defense of Europe. In general the statement was one of platitudes that "the Federal Republic of Germany and other interested partners in the alliance should have an appropriate part in nuclear defense." As far as the United States and England go, they already have such an appropriate part.

However, the statement did say that the present arrangements are not satisfactory for the Bonn government. But how — or if — changes are to be made was completely avoided.

In general European members of NATO have opposed the multinational force outlined by the United States although originally suggested abroad. Erhard has supported the plan, however, as it would extend Germany's responsibility somewhat although use of nuclear weapons could be vetoed by the United States. France has remained aloof from the entire idea of any extension of NATO power and has indicated it will gradually withdraw what has always been its half-hearted participation in the NATO forces.

There are two main reasons why more control over nuclear weapons has not been handed over to other NATO members. First, is the effort to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons and the quite sincere desire on the part of the smaller NATO members not to have anything to do with nuclear weapons on the theory that this would merely increase their vulnerability. Second, is the fear of a resurgent, militarily strong and ambitious Germany. Obviously this stems from the German role in two World Wars. It is also based upon the belief that the Bonn government might risk another world wide conflict in order to unite all of Germany. And despite the lip service paid to the idea of eventual reunification of Germany, there is some thinking in some European quarters — especially in England — that Germany divided is a lot better for peace of the world than Germany reunited.

Knowing these attitudes, the German leaders have wisely insisted that they do not seek "to acquire national control over nuclear weapons." But Karl von Hase, the German spokesman, also said that "to defend oneself in the nuclear field, one has to have weapons." If Germany is not to have the ability to defend itself, the responsibility still rests with NATO, most especially the United States Strategic Air Force.

European members who do want more of a say in possible nuclear use fear that the United States would allow Europe to be overrun rather than resort to nuclear weapons in our fear of retaliation against the United States. American reluctance to extend authority is in the belief that Europeans might use nuclear weapons when conventional ones would be sufficient to halt attack. Both points of view have validity. What must always be kept in mind is the major purpose of the defensive measures in Europe and the United States which is to prevent, rather than to wage, war. The threat of retaliation must be great enough to deter any real Soviet aggression through Europe. And for this purpose, the Russians must believe that there would be united action in NATO.

Farmers Post Their Lands Out of Resentment, Also Self-Defense

Editor, Post-Crescent:

So the P.C. brought Pitt home. Now isn't that just great!

How about Fido, and Rover and all the others who aren't coming home, or who were filled with lead without even leaving their yards?

Are we to believe that the hunters do not know the difference between deer and dogs? Or is it true that wardens are telling hunters to shoot all cats (and I suppose dogs) that they see?

The farm wife who wrote before season said she felt the farmers posted for resentment. I agree that resentment does run high but the reckless shooting, the trail of dead dogs, property damage and now after season the farmers are finding dogs that were shot and left. Resentment is not the answer. It is self-protection!

The farmer values friendship. But the invitation to hunt does not include the buddies. The reckless buddy who takes squatters rights of the whole area is asked to leave and the friendship ends. After all the farmer is responsible to himself and his neighbors. When he is told, "Someone from your group was on my land and put his tag on the deer I shot," the farmer has a right to know who the person was and needless to say someone is soon looking for other hunting ground. This is usually on the road between two posted fields!

When the farmer goes out to hunt he has a right to know who and how many are in the woods. Surely he should not have to fear for himself or others, the children especially evidence of our Representatives fidelity to the "interests of all the people."

The people may rest assured that Congressman Sawyer will support all wise and just measures of President Johnson, and never will be found wanting in a consistent discharge of high and responsible duties thrust on him, regardless of the question of future representation.

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Dec. 23, 1940.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shepard Menasha, were co-chairmen and Mr. and Mrs. John Witterding, Menasha, vice chairmen of the New Year's Eve party at North Shore Golf Club.

Soloists for the Christmas music series that week in Menasha included Mrs. R. H. Clough, Mrs. H. J. Rosenow and Mrs. John Handyside. The music department of the Economics Club presented the program under the leadership and direction of Mrs. G. A. Loescher.

The committee planning the Charter Day dinner marking the 9th anniversary of the founding of Lawrence College included Miss Adela Klumb, chairman, Miss Olga Smith, Chriss Larsen and L. R. Watson.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Dec. 26, 1955.

who he may take with him. Surely when these children are forced to lay on the ground while bullets fly over their heads then something is indeed wrong. The Viet Nam peace marches are a joke when these conditions are allowed to exist in Wisconsin.

In the Dec. 5th P.C. Jim Harp suggests rabbit hunting and has it dattelled "Lee-man." If the shooting we heard in "a woods near Lee-man" is an indication of his idea of rabbit hunting all signs now up will remain so and others will be put up and enforced!

At the Kiwanis Farm-City Day which we attended on Oct. 27 as representatives of Farm Bureau and sponsored by The Post-Crescent we heard it well put by Mr. Babbcock of Farm Journal. He said in effect, "We are ruled today by Suburbia. They do not know the story of American Agriculture. They do not realize that their very existence is dependent on the farmer. That there are people all over the world who depend on the American Farmer. That when the Farmer does not get his share of the economy suburbia too will suffer."

The underlying theme of all the Farm Bureau meetings, the co-op meetings, and the farm papers is this. "There are two regions in the world who have food to export. (U.S.—Canada and Australia—New Zealand). If these countries do not make food available to the underfed they will come and get it. The bombs will also fall on Suburbia. The farmer controls the safety of the nation. Suburbia better remember this.

But while the farmer works it is not he who produces the food and fiber that is needed. It is God who gives our Daily Bread. When it is condemned and misused, by suburbia, and when the amount spent on recreation is considered so important and so necessary for the economy of the country, can a farmer help feel resentment? When sports are necessary but they can get along with substitute foods. When the farmer gets the same price for his product he did 10 and more years ago but is expected to pay many times higher prices for the things he buys, and then is still told to invite all Suburbia in so they are able to have free run of his land, destroy his property, shoot his dogs, tear down fences and abuse the neighbors for the sake of being nice to them so they can have the "necessary recreation." Posting for Resentment? Yes! But more important—self-defense!

Republicans Seeking Role for Wilbur Renk On Their 1966 Slate

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The persistence of the discussion in the Wisconsin Republican party about the future of Wilbur Renk is one of the mildly surprising aspects of current state politics.

Normally a man who had made a determined bid for a gubernatorial nomination, and lost decisively, and in a succeeding election had devoted all of his strength to a losing bid for a U.S. Senate seat after having won the nomination of his party would find the future bleak.

Wyngaard

As it turns out, moreover, Renk has no immediate opportunity in practical terms to run again for governor or senator. His friend Warren Knowles, the governor, will get another nomination by acclamation, according to all the indications. There won't be another U.S. Senate seat opening up until 1968, and Renk after losing to Sen. Proxmire can hardly dare to suppose that he would fare any better against Sen. Nelson.

LESSER PLACE

But Renk, and more particularly a considerable circle of Renk admirers, are not yet prepared to accept his permanent retirement from ballot competition. There are lesser offices up for grabs next year, such as the lieutenant governorship which has been a fairly logical preparatory place for gubernatorial aspirants.

There is also an incipient draft movement that wants Renk to take the Republican nomination for congressman in the 2nd Congressional District, where Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, perhaps the most outspokenly liberal member of the Wisconsin congressional delegation, has had three terms.

But these alternatives are not especially attractive. There is no reason to believe that Kastenmeier will be easily dislodged, although Renk may make a stronger campaign because of his liberal — in a Republican context — positions on public issues than another GOP nominee. The real difficulty is that Renk is interested in the statehouse and there is nothing in the Wisconsin experience to show that congressmen have any special advantage in running for statewide office. Indeed, memory does not recall a Wisconsin congressman in modern times who has run for, or won, the governorship.

Doubtless the nomination for lieutenant governor would be attractive to Renk, but he has already been told that it is extremely doubtful that he could win it. The party endorsement is virtually pledged to Jack Olson, the former lieutenant governor, on the basis of a 1965 convention resolution. Renk could run in defiance of the party slate, but he knows from experience how difficult and lonely and expensive that can be.

THE FUTURE

Yet there are other possibilities, and one of them that has turned up lately in the discussions about Renk's role in the party may bring a response. The party has not had especially vigorous candidates in the lesser ranks for some time. Why not run for state treasurer, Renk is being asked.

There is involved the problem of Mrs. Dana Smith, the incumbent treasurer. Presumably the party would be reluctant to see a contest, or the suggestion that there is a desire to get rid of her. But the veteran Mrs. Smith's retirement is nearing, in any event, and she might be persuaded to return to her old job of deputy state treasurer with the opportunity to nominate such a hard campaigner as Renk, according to the reasoning in some quarters.

With a state office platform, however modest, Renk could prepare the campaign for his ultimate goal in state politics — which is the state executive office. It is obvious that Jack Olson has the same target, but his renomination and re-election to the lieutenant governorship next year would not carry with it, even by implication, any assurance of the gubernatorial endorsement after Knowles. That post-Knowles nomination could then be resolved in a spirited and healthful fight between two good campaigners, which could be an exhilarating thing for the party as a whole.

Strictly Personal

In France, Cat Goes Ron-ron, Not Meeow

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the peculiarities of language is that different cultures even hear the same sounds in different ways. I learned this in France, when I tried to imitate a cat to a little French girl: I mewed and purred, but she couldn't make out what I was trying to imitate.

Harris

To the French, a cat does not go "meeow," but "ron-ron," or sometimes "miaoulay." And a dog in France does not go "bow-wow" but "oua-oua." A turkey in France, I also found, does not "gobble-gobble," but "glou-glou."

The "buzz" of a bee sounds like "sooren" in the Dano-Norsk language; like "hronzen" in Dutch; "boordonnay" in French; "zoomen" in German; "sussurare" in Latin; "zoozoarar" in Portuguese; "zombar" in Spanish; and "zoo-zarye" in Russian.

English hears an explosion as "bang." But the Dano-Norsk hear it as "banke," the French as "pan" or "pang," the German as "boun," the Italian as "poom," and the Russians (hard to believe) as "hlopnyootye."

Getting back to the pussy cat: it goes "myaulen" and "snooren" in Dano-Norsk and Dutch; "shrooren" in German; "mruchech" in Polish; "myaukatye" in Russian; and "ronronear" in Spanish. One of the most distinctive sounds throughout the world is the rooster crowing at dawn. To English ears, this sounds like "cock-a-doodle-doo." The French hear the same cry as

"coquericot"; the Chinese hear "kiao kiao"; the Italians hear "cicerici"; the Swedes, "kukelik"; and what the Russians hear, I don't even want to know.

Another universal sound is the "splash" of water. But the French hear it as "plouf" or "flac"; the Dano-Norsk hear it as "plasken"; the Dutch as "plassen"; the Germans as "plachten"; and the Russians (if you insist) as "plysskatye."

Speaking of "splash," it is only in English that the "ash" sound at the end of a word indicates some kind of violent action, as in "bash," "clash," "crash," "dash," "flash," "smash," and "thrash." Nobody knows how or why this developed; other languages have far different sounds for crashes and smashes.

If different cultures don't even hear the identical sounds of nature in the same way, how can we expect them to respond equally to such abstract words as "liberty" and "peace" and "justice"? These words do have a common and universal meaning, but only in a philosophical sense; one must be able to go beyond one's particular time and culture to grasp them; one must be able to hear not only with the ears of a Frenchman or a Swede, but with the "third ear" of humanity. And, how few are ready for this.

Capitalistic Music Survives in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Not all capitalist music has disappeared from Cuban halls. A recent program at the Palace of Fine Arts featured what was described as American jazz. A lively trio played such tunes as Irving Berlin's "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm," Richard Rodgers' "Where or When," Jerome Kern's "All the Things You Are" and Cole Porter's "Easy To Love."

Cities and Federal Aids

Experience has shown that the first to flatly object to cities considering acceptance of state and federal grants for large-scale municipal projects are sometimes the last to understand what it is all about.

It would appear as we approach a new year that some of the previous positions taken on urban renewal and other federally-sanctioned programs have become obsolete and require updating. Just some municipalities do themselves considerable harm by failing to open the door when opportunity knocks.

With the urbanization boom still underway in most parts of the country, and particularly here in the Fox Cities region, cities are finding it extremely difficult to keep up with the demand for municipal services brought about by community expansion and increased populations. There are not enough local funds to even dent the list of projects growing cities of today must undertake.

Certainly there are older areas in the Fox Cities requiring renewal, rehabilitation or conservation but local governments and property owners cannot afford to pay the bill directly out of their own pocketbooks.

Federal aids, tagged "government handouts" over the years, are usually budgeted a couple of years in advance for urban renewal and other programs dealing

Inequities of the Draft

There has been considerable controversy over the decision of a Selective Service official in Michigan to put in 1-A status those college students who have taken part in demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam. Obviously this is an effort to stifle dissent and it also makes military service a punitive affair.

But the draft continues to be an extremely unequal method of providing enough men for the armed services. The exemption of New York Jet football player Joe Namath is only one more example of the inequalities of our Selective Service system. Statements to the effect that college students with C or lower averages may also be subject to draft call soon also emphasizes the unreasonable way in which the system works.

It makes no more sense to make ineligible all but the top in physical fitness and those who are illiterate than it does to put beyond the reach the students who can drag out their education until they pass the age of twenty-six. Although the draft as it presently is applied does provide enough men for the military, which strictly voluntary enlistments would not, the serious drawbacks should be considered.

The best solution would be to require a year's active training and duty of every young man who is not seriously handicapped mentally or physically upon his eighteenth birthday or when he finishes high school. This would be likely to encourage more men to enter the military service as a career. It would give more adequate training for whatever faces the nation than the present six months arrangements. It would force the military services to place men in positions for which they are somewhat qualified. Thus Joe Namath and his bad knee might not go to Viet Nam but he certainly could do office work on domestic duty. Of even greater importance, the responsibility of every young man to be prepared to defend his country would be emphasized. The military service would not be regarded so much as a penalty for low grades, controversial opinions or the catch-all of men unable to do much of anything else, but instead as a duty which accompanies citizenship. The only thing which might be considered as an exemption could be Peace Corps service or some other training in service for the nation.

If there were a practical way of including young women in this category, it should also be taken under consideration. Most of all, in our efforts to build up the armed forces to defend the United States and our way of life, we should not lose sight of what that way is, including the equality of citizens and their responsibilities.

Looking Backward

Fault-Finding Starts Early

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Jan. 4, 1865.

The Crescent has thus early commenced its fault-finding and snarling against Representative (Philetus) Sawyer, but does not name many instances where he has been recreant to the interests of the "working people of his district."

His political affinities don't suit the Crescent. It has not been so long since the campaign, that the "working people of this District," have forgotten who supported and who opposed the election of the "common lumberman."

It threatens in substance, that "unless he turns from the errors of his ways," he will not represent this District another term.

The Crescent made a very good watchdog for its party (Democratic), and is always sure to bark at the least sound; but unfortunately for it and its party, it is chained to its kennel, and is incapable of inflicting harm. By all means, though, let it continue to strain its chain and exhibit its abbreviated caudal and auricular appendages. It is the best holidays for Christmas.

No Post-Crescent was issued that day because of the legal holiday for Christmas.

All TV Stations in State to Show Film At 6:30 p.m. Tuesday

Premiere of 'We Like It Here' Unique Event; Movie Made by Appleton Men

An event, unique in the fields of television and state industrial development, will take place Tuesday when all 16 operating television stations in Wisconsin will broadcast simultaneously during prime time an hour-long color film produced for use by the Wisconsin Development Authority.

The film "We Like It Here," made by Rudy and Robert Swanson of Swanson Productions of Appleton and Milwaukee, will be telecast from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

TV First
The showing represents a first in American television and adds to Wisconsin's list of "firsts." Never before has a non-news program been broadcast by every station in the state.

Network affiliates, independents, education, VHF and UHF stations, all are cooperating to present this film.

"We Like It Here" was written and directed by Robert Swanson. Production supervision was by Ken Boyer, Ray Scott, "voice" of the Green Bay Packers, is the narrator and the original music is by Dave Kennedy.

The crew which shot the film traveled 13,000 miles around the state, exposing 80,000 feet of color film. They shot from the ground, from helicopters and planes, canoes and tugboats.

Citizen Actors
There are no professional actors in this film. The people of Wisconsin are the stars.

While the film possibly can be used by groups trying to bring business to the state, the primary aim of the production and telecast, for which all stations have donated air time, is to present to the people of Wisconsin a picture of their state's abundance of assets.

These assets are in natural resources, industry, labor, education and recreation. The hope is to make every resident an effective and informed good will ambassador.

Cost Shared
Half the $50,000 budget came from state funds, with the remainder contributed by private sources. This television premiere represents one facet of a state-wide development campaign which has seen the formation of a half-dozen action committees embracing tax reform, government reorganization, research and development liaison and new business development.

Non-political in nature, these committees have brought together business, educational, industrial and financial leaders for the common purpose of improving Wisconsin's economic climate and industrial image.

On Dec. 9, a preview of the film was held at a dinner to which leaders of Wisconsin business, labor, education and government were invited. Gov. Warren Knowles attended the affair in Milwaukee. The picture was received enthusiastically by the audience and this favorable reception was reflected in reviews and editorials in the Wisconsin press.

Win $192,000 Apiece In Italy's Soccer Pool

ROME (AP)—Two players in Italy's state Totoalcio soccer pool guessed all 13 games Sunday night and won $192,000 each on tickets that cost 24 cents.

One winner, believed to be a resident of Turin, has not been identified. The other was Rocco Minniti, 37, who works in the circulation department of the Milan newspaper Il Giornale.

Charles Farrell, 64, and Janet Gaynor, his co-star in "Seventh Heaven" more than 30 years ago, talk over old times at the Palm Springs Racquet Club. Farrell now is the managing director of the club he and actor Ralph Bellamy founded in 1934, built into a favorite playground for movie stars, then sold for a reported million dollars six years ago. Ben Offers His Life To a Friend

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channels 4-5-7 — Run For Your Life is as old-fashioned as those cartoons of natives tossing missionaries into pots of boiling water. Yet there are some interesting and suspenseful moments as Ben Gazzara and newcomer James Forrest (ex-boxer and newspaperman from Australia) end up on the wrong end of the spears of a tribe of New Guinea bushmen. The natives want to kill Forrest, who has slain one of their youngsters. But since Ben has only two years to live, why doesn't he trade places with the guy, who supposedly has a wife and three tots? It's a duel of justice between the two, which leads to a screaming, potboiler finale. (Color)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — There are a few minutes in "Target 802" on 12 O'Clock High which crackle with excitement. Paul Burke's payload of bombs inadvertently falls into a cozy French town instead of the English Channel. Not only that but the bombs blast into an Allied underground hideout, and the Germans are soon wise to everybody's game.

7-7:30 — Channels 4-5 — "Miss Foster's Military Academy" on The John Forsythe Show is a tedious exercise on what happens when boys and girls get together. If you believe this nonsense, you'll believe they frug the night away with transistor radios plugged into their ears. (Color)

7:30-8 — Channels 11-6-9 — The Legend of Jesse James wanders into the silly business of "burying" its hero. Opening moments concern the "funeral" of Jesse (who has been "shot" in the back) and a long, maudlin speech by Frank. And then guess what? Jesse, much larger than life, shows up at his mama's doorstep.

7:30-8 — Channels 2-7-12 — The Lucy Show combines the talents of singer Wayne Newton and his heroine Lucille Ball for some devastating results. She discovers the lad at the point in his career when his warbling only inspires barnyard animals. (Color)

8-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — A Man Called Shenandoah's "The Young Outlaw" concerns bounty hunters, thieves, murders, other do-badders, and a lad who wants to join them.

8-9 — Channels 4-5 — The Andy Williams Show with guests Polly Bergen and Woody Allen offers a bouncy, lively satire on gangsters and their molls. It's a roaring 20s kind of production with Andy playing a gambler named Duke; Polly his girlfriend, Dolly, and Woody his kookie boxer named Puzzy Katz. (Color)

9-10 — Channels 2-12 — Hollywood Talent Scouts, with host Art Linkletter, presents its usual assortment of young personalities. Most interesting, as novelties, are The Glamorous Ladies Chamber Music Group introduced by Zsa Zsa Gabor. Perhaps the most talented is Meredith MacRae, the daughter of Gordon and Sheila MacRae. Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

WHAT DOES IT COST TO RAISE A CHILD TODAY? $10,000? $20,000?

The average American family invests more than $20,000 in each child it raises to the age of 18. On top of this is another $10,000 to put him or her through college, as millions of families expect to do. In the old agricultural economy, a man was blessed with many sons who could till many acres and increase family income. In an industrial society, children are an economic liability to whom most of a family's resources are poured over the years. This is a big reason why so many mothers work.

Were grumpy people born that way? Yes—No—
No, say almost all authorities. They became that way, usually as a result of the ways they were treated. Sometimes their

Flaming Airliner Makes Safe Landing In San Francisco

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A Tokyo-bound jet airliner with 41 persons aboard and an engine in flames made a safe landing Christmas Day just after taking off from San Francisco International Airport.

Debris fell into a populated area without causing injury or property damage.

The 31 passengers and 10 crew members escaped down an emergency chute after three of ten tires blew out from heat of friction as the Japan Air Lines DC8 screamed to a stop across San Francisco Bay at Oakland International Airport.

The fuel-laden jet had taken off for Tokyo four minutes earlier.
